The A.P. DOUBLE SUPPORT

THE A.P.-UPLIFT

One Starves
And Stays Fat

One Eats
And Keeps Thin

YOU see that everywhere. Most fat people are careful of their diet. Many are active. Yet they see plenty who are slender while eating what they wish.

Some years ago, science found the reason in an under-active gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Since then physicians the world over have fed this gland substance in treating obesity.

Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory, contain that factor at its best. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. All can see in every circle how conditions have changed in that time. Only a small percentage now stay over-fat.

Marmola is not secret. Each box contains the formula and the reasons for results. Users know why this is the right way. No starvation is required, though moderation helps.

Perhaps you have found that self-denial fails to make you slender. If so, try Marmola, which has done so much for so many for so long. Watch the results. They will quickly tell you if this is what you need. Then go on until you reach the normal weight desired. For your own sake, start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

HEAT SETS NEW MARKS

Crops Burn and Pests Appear

Plains States' Temperatures Run as High as 113 Deg.; East Also Swelters

Ebbing of Mississippi River Hampers Transportation; Milk Supply Failing

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The new Middle West beset by recurring drought and heat continues to suffer. Over the Sabbath new heat records were established, further augmenting the spread drought and dooming crops other than corn. The Mississippi River fell to 2.2 feet below the low-water mark today. And added to other resultant ills—disease and a failing milk supply—came another pest in the form of Asiatic beetles, flies and other insects to attack garden truck and young gardens.

The drought, which in varying parts of the Central States is now more serious than that of 1894, is causing the greatest anxiety. In Ohio and Indiana, where the dearth of water is worst and where all wood and pastures have failed, live stock is being fed to preserve life.

RIVER TRAFFIC IN PERIL

The fall of the Mississippi River is not only hampering river transportation, but actually threatening it. A Quincy-St. Louis packet was stranded on a sand bar today below Hannibal, and this is what is bound to happen everywhere along the river, river men say, unless rains come and it will take a lot of rainfall to affect the stage of the river to any great degree. Below St. Louis new boats and barges have been ordered and warnings have been sent out from St. Louis advising against loading too heavily. Tributaries of the Mississippi River that have never gone dry are now drying up.

Several all-time heat records were established in sun-baked Kansas. Emporia reported a maximum of 113 degrees, an all-time record. A previous record of 112 deg. was set July 12, 1901. Topeka reported 110 deg., Concordia 4 deg. more than ever before. Salinas, Salinas and Wichita reported 110 deg.

OKLAHOMA SUFFERS

Similar records were broken in Oklahoma when the mercury soared to 111 deg. at Mangum and 106 at Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Mo., reported an official 103 deg., with unofficial thermometers registering as high as 113.

In Sioux City, Iowa, today the mercury soared to 104.6 deg., breaking a local record of twenty-nine years. It was the hottest August day in 1901, and the third straight day of plus 100 deg. In the heart of the corn belt, Cedar Rapids, Ia., the mercury soared to 108 deg., six points higher than Saturday's maximum, and the highest any community has experienced as temperature records have been set. The Cedar River was at its lowest ebb in history, lawns were turning brown and corn was firing in the fields for 100 miles around.

Other Iowa readings were exceptionally high. Sac City reported 110, Knoxville 108, and Ames and Des Moines each 106. Similar records also were broken in

Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 3. [To the Editor of The Times:] Say, that little jacking-up I give Mr. Hoover about the weather did some good. You know these Republicans just get careless that way. They are so used to running everything for so long they just think it will go without them.

China is having a new war and we are having trouble getting into it.

We always have gunboats there so if there is any shooting, why one of our boats will get shot at, and that gives the usual alibi. But this time it seems we only had one gunboat. And it had to maneuver around for days before it could get in the line of fire.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

NEW MEXICO CITY SWEPT BY FLOOD

Gallup Hit by Cloudburst; Damage Heavy and Many Driven from Homes

GALLUP (N. M.) Aug. 3. (AP)—More than half of Gallup was flooded with mud and water tonight, and thousands of dollars' damage wrought by a cloudburst of forty-five minutes' duration which struck the region late today, accompanied by severe electrical disturbances.

Scores of residents in the lowlands of the city were driven from their homes and being cared for by families in the small area not reached by the flood. Volunteers aided city firemen in rescuing those in the path of the waters and no lives were lost.

Basements throughout the business district were flooded, with resultant damage to stocks of merchandise.

One entire block of paving exploded from great water pressure underneath the street. Foundations of houses and buildings were inundated and, in many cases, washed out.

Gallup, a town of 6000 people, has been victimized by three large floods in the last forty-five years with today's reported as the most disastrous. Mud and debris were piled in the streets as the water began to recede.

The dead are Leo Ness, 23 years of age, Seattle, oil company salesman, and George Ames, 25, Bremerton.

E. H. Schreib, 28, navy yard worker, was injured.

WAR CLAIMS TIDE RISES

Pension Bureau Flooded

Old Pleas Totaling 600,000 Made Active by Recent Legislation

Countless Thousands of New Requests Being Made all Over Country

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—More than 600,000 pension claims formerly disallowed by the government and filed away as "inactive" have suddenly and simultaneously been made "active" and subject to fresh consideration by enactment of the World War veterans' legislation at the last session of Congress, it was learned in official quarters today.

Besides these approximately 120,000 new applications have been filed in the last few weeks by veterans of the Spanish-American War as the result of legislation increasing their pensions which was passed by Congress over President Hoover's veto.

Also unknown thousands of new claims for World War pensions have been filed throughout the country since the enactment of the new law allowing compensation for disabilities not connected with active service.

GEN. HINES IN HIDING

As the result of this great mass of new work the veterans' administration is faced with an enormous task. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the co-ordinated veterans' relief agencies of the government, has found the pressure so great, it became known today that he has forsaken his office at the Veterans' Bureau for the time being and is virtually hiding out at the Interior Department in order that he may be free to deal with the administrative problems before him. Working with him is James O'Connor Roberts, his special assistant in the reorganization work.

Their problem would be a little easier but for the fact the government even before the passage of the new pension legislation was considerably behind in handling veterans' matters. For example, pension bureau employees are six months behind on their Revolutionary War work alone. It was explained that this was not due so much to claims as to digging through the musty records to satisfy the efforts of descendants to establish their lineal connection with veterans of the colonial days so they may join such patriotic organizations as the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution. Applicants for records of their forebears are supposed to pay the cost of obtaining the information and do in most cases, but demand has been so heavy the limited number of clerks assigned to this work have not been able to keep to date.

CLAIMS TOTAL 600,000

The Revolutionary War phase is only a minor one, it is stated, and requires only minor consideration. The gigantic task, aside from consolidating all veterans' activities under one administrative head comes in the handling of the general pension plan made applicable to all World War veterans who are as much as 25 per cent disabled, whether or not the disability is connected with the military service they performed during the World War. The pension is also applicable to those who become 25 per cent disabled in the future, no matter what the cause.

The 600,000 inactive claims which have become active automatically are those filed by veterans who attempted to show that their disabilities were "service connected," but did not succeed under the old law. Under the new legislation, their disabilities do not have to be connected with active service. They will receive from $12 to $40 a month if they are as much as 25 per cent disabled.

In addition there are many veterans who are filing claims for the first time. Some of the claims are result of accidents in civil life and others are based on diseases incurred since the war. To prevent an avalanche of these claims overwhelming the veterans' organization

Shaw Scored for Reference to Dead Sire

FOLKSTONE (Eng.) Aug. 3. (AP)—J. C. Carlile, former president of the Baptist Union and prominent English preacher, in a sermon today took Bernard Shaw to task for the writer's references to his father's drunkenness made in a preface to a new edition of his works.

"No doubt all Mr. Shaw says about the old man's manners and drunken habits is true," the preacher said, "but it is not chivalrous to bring back from the dead and exhibit his nastiness as an excuse for his son's rudeness."

Mr. Carlile added it would be easy to forgive Shaw's manner if he said anything worth talking about, but he is preferable without the family skeleton.

In the preface the writer said 'In the early days of his youth his family suffered social ostracism because of his father's weakness for drink.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Sawyer H. Gillstrom, 20 years of age, of Oakland, was fatally injured at Warm Springs glider port near Oakland today, when the elevator control of a home-made glider with which he was giving an exhibition flight snapped and threw the glider into a nose dive 100 feet above ground.

Gillstrom was taken from the wreckage unconscious but still breathing. He died a few minutes later in a physician's office at Milpitas. Examination of the wrecked glider revealed the broken elevator control.

TWO DIE IN WRECK ON RAILROAD

Eleven Others Injured as Train Leaves Tracks at Underpass in Texas

VERNON (Tex.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Two men were killed and eleven other persons injured when an eastbound Fort Worth and Denver passenger train was derailed at an underpass at Oklaunion, eight miles east of here, early today.

The dead are F. P. Robinson, 65 years of age, engineer, Wichita Falls, and A. A. Vanee, 40, fireman, Amarillo.

The railroad tracks had been knocked out of line by the boiler of an oil truck driven by Arthur Cummings, when it failed to clear as it went through the underpass. Hearing the train approaching, Cummings ran up the embankment and flagged it, but it was traveling too fast to stop before the break was reached.

The locomotive, two baggage cars and two day coaches left the rails, rolling down a ten-foot embankment. Two sleepers remained on the track, more than 300 feet of which was torn up.

THREE KILLED IN ROCK ISLAND MISHAP

BELLEVILLE (Kan.) Aug. 3. (AP) Three persons were killed and two were injured when a Rock Island freight train was wrecked near Agenda, Kan., late today. Spreading of the rails because of the heat is believed to have caused the wreck.

The dead were not identified tonight due to the mangled conditions of their bodies. They had been members of the Sells Floto Circus, which played at Smith Center, Kan., Saturday.

THREE BELIEVED DEAD IN RAILROAD CRASH

HOMER (Neb.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Three unidentified men, supposedly vagrants, are believed to have been killed in a wreck one mile south of here today, that derailed twenty-three cars of a special Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight train.

Fettered Farmers Pushed in Front of Rushing Hordes in Changsha Battle

Fighting Rages at Yenchow as Chiang Orders Drive on Shantung Front

SHANGHAI, Aug. 4. (Monday) (AP) — American naval authorities of the United States Asiatic fleet today moved to increase the American Kangtze River patrol.

Admiral Charles McVay, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, who is at Tsing-tao, ordered the destroyers Bulmer and Simpson from Chefoo to Yangtze ports, where they will assist American gunboats and destroyers already upriver in the difficult task of protecting Americans and their property.

HANKOW, Aug. 3. (AP)—A wounded colonel of Hunan provincial troops, who arrived here today for hospitalization, said hordes of Red soldiery advanced into battle at Changsha, driving herds of fettered peasants before them.

The officers said the farmers' arms were bound behind their backs.

The troops ceased their fire when they realized they were slaughtering helpless farmers in large numbers, the colonel added, and were dispersed by the Communists who advanced into Changsha inflicting heavy losses on the provincial soldiery.

The situation at Changsha is obscure tonight. Indications are that the Communists having looted and burned the silk manufacturing city are beginning to withdraw to a point ten miles northeast, where the major body of Reds are entrenching and mounting machine guns, apparently anticipating a government attack.

HEAVY FIGHTING STARTS IN YENCHOW

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3. (Exclusive) As a result of the orders of Chiang Kai-shek for a general offensive on the Shantung front heavy fighting broke out in the city of Yenchow today with the advantage apparently with the government since Gen. Yen Hsi-shan has sent a strong reinforcement down the Tien-tsin-Pukow Railway from Tsinan.

Two regiments of Cantonese troops landed at Tsing-tao today for service against the Shansi troops on the Shantung railway, replacing the troops of Gen. Han Fu-chu, which apparently have gone over to the northern side.

A report by the official Kuomintang news agency today states that Chiang Kai-shek's troops on the Lunghai Railway sector repulsed an attempt by Feng Yu-hsiang to drive through the government lines. The report also stated that Gen. Chiang will shortly order a general drive on Kai Feng, capital of Honan Province, now held by Feng Yu-hsiang.

FOREIGNERS FLEE FROM SUMMER RESORT

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3. (AP) — Dispatches from Kuling, Kiangsi, today said evacuation of foreigners from that mountain summer resort is proceeding rapidly as a result of the virtual demand by both Chinese and foreign officials at Kiukiang that they depart.

The officials declared the resort is in imminent danger of falling into the hands of the Communists.

The greater portion of foreigners already have departed, the majority to Kiukiang, where they sought steamer accommodations either to Hankow or Shanghai.

Despite official urgings, a few foreigners, principally missionaries, still remain, considering the situation not yet sufficiently serious to leave.

Meanwhile, reports from various other points in Northern Kiangsi indicate Communist activities are growing. Advices from Nanchang said the city still is in the hands

CRASH ENDS GLOBE HOP

Smash at Harbor Grace Laid to Before-Dawn Start as Ship Jumps Runway

Plane Wrecked but Flyers Unhurt and Dog Mascot Scoots into Woods

HARBOR GRACE (N. F.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The speedy monoplane City of New York, in which John Henry Mears left Roosevelt Field yesterday to try to set a new around-the-world speed record, was broken to pieces just before dawn today in an attempt to take off from the runway here for a 2000-mile trans-Atlantic flight to Dublin, Irish Free State. Neither Mears nor his pilot, Henry J. Brown, was injured but their Sealyham terrier mascot, Tail Wind II, has not been found.

Eager to make an early start on this flight, the second leg of their 18,000-mile circumnavigating journey which they hoped to complete in fifteen days, the veteran globe girdler and his 31-year-old pilot, a former air-mail flyer, refused to heed the advice of the Harbor Grace committee to wait for daylight before taking off. The wreck of their plane when it swerved off the smooth runway into scrub brush and boulders after taxiing 1500 feet by the uncertain illumination of automobile headlights and flickering gasoline flares was the result.

MOTOR UNDAMAGED

Although the City of New York, a Lockheed-Vega monoplane, capable of 186 miles an hour, has her undercarriage torn off, six feet broken from one wing and three feet from the other, her propeller blades smashed, one tire burst and body, one wheel and struts broken, Mears said today that neither the engine—a 425-horsepower Pratt & Whitney Wasp motor—nor the radio and navigation equipment was damaged. Intent on renewing his bid for the round-the-world record he plans to box the crumpled wreckage and load it aboard the steamship Nerissa, on which he and Brown will sail for New York.

"We will get it repaired and try again," Mears told one of the first persons who reached his side after the crash this morning.

A punctured tire on the undercarriage is believed to have caused the accident that dashed the immediate prospects of the venture which had started auspiciously with yesterday's flight from Roosevelt Field to Harbor Grace in the record time of 8 hours and 12 minutes for the 1200 miles, being 140 miles an hour.

WEATHER IDEAL

It was still dark with a faint red glow to be seen in the east when all preparations were completed for the trans-Atlantic take-off this morning. The weather was ideal with cloudless sky and hardly a breath of wind stirring. The half-moon still was above the horizon. The plane's tanks had been filled with 430 gallons of gasoline and a crowd, many members of which had watched the field all night in expectation of an early start, was on hand.

To take advantage of the light southwesterly breeze Brown decided to taxi directly into it heading the craft diagonally across the runway which extends east and west. At his request automobile owners arranged their cars to the right and left of the plane with headlights pointing along the runway farther along while a number of gasoline flares were placed to mark the course.

After warming up the motor for some minutes Mears and Brown clambered aboard taking with them their mascot which Mary Pickford recently presented to Mears. Streaks of light began to show in the eastern sky. Brown waved good-by to the cheering crowd and opened the throttle. Gaining speed rapidly the plane rushed down the runway at 4:16 o'clock.

SUDDEN SWERVE

When it was making at least sixty miles an hour and just as the spectators expected to see it rise into the air it swerved suddenly to the left, missing one of the gasoline flares by a hair's breadth and

HERE'S LOWDOWN ON SKIRT

It will Drag Ground (at Rear) in Evening, but will be Way Up to Ankles During Day

PARIS, Aug. 3. (AP)—The week began today that tells what winter clothes a la mode de Paris are really going to be like.

The six biggest style makers, or breakers, if you prefer, will give up their secrets in quick succession from now until Thursday. One of the style breakers has already exhibited privately, with damaging consequences to evening silhouettes.

Everyone thought they were going to be long and "bouffant." The man who put long skirts back on the map says, however, evening skirts will be long and slinky with a twelve-inch lift in front so frail femininity may walk without tripping even though it has to drag a half a foot of velvet and fur.

Fabric trends, as quite definitely established at a score of other houses, were also affected by the preliminary private showing. Where others say "dull," this particular dressmaker says "shiny," and says it with soft broadcloth, lustrous velvet, and a wealth of rich brocade, all resplendently trimmed with sable, mink and ermine.

Black and white dominated, with yellow, greens and blue-greens featured colors for daytime and evening. Beige, the American woman's old favorite, is everywhere snubbed by Paris. It is supplanted by dove grays and a new shade one stylemaker calls astrakhan.

There is no change in skirt lengths at the house generally regarded as dictator of hemlines. Except for lifted fronts on formal afternoon and evening dresses and coats, hems are where they were, medium for streets, eight to twelve inches from the ground for afternoon, and ankle length or ground length for formality.

Fancifully cut scarfs and cape wraps of fur or fabric and fur are

CHINESE "REDS" MULTIPLY

Isolated Bands of Thieves Become Avid Hordes in Orgy of Blood Dictated by Russia

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3. (AP)—China's Communists, originally viewed as merely isolated bands of thieves and robbers and disgruntled militarists, today number thousands, and constitute not only the major obstacle to continued growth and development of Republican China's revolutionary Nanking government, but also the principal menace to rural China's peace and prosperity, in threatening to turn China Red and place her within the grip of Red Russia in the latter's campaign for a world soviet.

China's Communists today are called Reds, meaning they are struggling to overthrow within China all evidences of class distinction, capitalism and imperialism, in a fashion similar to that of converts to soviet Russia's Third Internationale elsewhere throughout the world, who are striving to overthrow the so-called upper classes and establish unhampered communal governments.

China's Communists are genuine converts to Russia's Communism. Their tenets are from Red Russia. As Communists elsewhere are popularly known as Reds, so they now are known in China.

Red in China no longer means roving brigands, victimizing helpless farmers. Instead poverty-stricken farmers by thousands are joining China's Communist ranks, waving red flags and resorting to unparalleled looting, burning and killing of foreigners and Chinese alike, in the belief that by such a bloody bath they will achieve social equality and material prosperity, as taught them by shrewd Chinese Communists. The latter, in turn, became Communists at the hands of Moscow's Reds, who themselves planted in China the seeds of world-wide Communistic revolution before the conservative elements of China's Nationalistic ranks drove them again into soviet Russia.

MIDWEST HEAT RECORDS FALL

Mercury Soars Above 100 in Many Places

Blister Beetles and Other Pests Appear

Live Stock in Ohio Being Fed to Save Life

Nebraska as that State continued to simmer. A new record was established at Omaha when 111 deg. was officially registered. The old record was 110 deg. on Aug. 4, 1918. Beatrice also registered 111, while at Fremont the mercury rose to 112. Lincoln reported 108.

Further reports from Sioux City say the late potato crop is doomed. Even with rain coming now pastures everywhere in that section are dried up and brown and are furnishing little or no feed to live stock. Milk supplies have dropped off heavily in the last few days due to short green feed and the presence of hordes of flies and other insects.

Towns in various sections of Southern Illinois report that the blister beetles which follow extremely dry weather have made an appearance. They have come in hordes and are devouring potato patches and garden truck. These beetles are immune to poisons. Some of the commercial truck growers are driving the beetles onto thick layers of straw placed for the purpose, and then setting fire to the straw. Meanwhile they are doing great damage.

The people of Kansas and Missouri today, as hot winds blew over that section at 110 deg. and higher, offered prayers for rain to relieve the ever-increasing drought in that section. Reports from all sections of those States, as well as Nebraska and Iowa, say that the torrid blasts are beginning to scar late plantings which had withstood the sustained drought.

The wind is so hot, according to reports, that many persons shut the windows of their closed cars to keep out the heat, which bounces from the street as from a furnace door.

In the Kaw Valley, the richest part of Kansas, some fields green a week ago are turning yellow. The river is filled with sand bars and shoals. Experts report late plantings may still make a fair crop, if rain comes within a week. Much of the earlier corn is so seared that farmers say it will not even make forage. Across Missouri from St. Louis to Kansas City corn fields have been burned by the sun and conditions are reported as more critical than to the west. From Kansas points, Emporia, Wichita and Atchison come reports that unless rain comes soon, the corn crop in those regions may be the smallest in history.

A small twister tonight swept through a part of Minnesota between the towns of Ivanhoe and Marshall, damaging many farm buildings and standing crops. The meager dispatches did not report any deaths or injuries.

An early morning thunder shower, partly overcast skies and the proximity of the lake gave Chicago some relief this morning, but a hot noonday and a southwest wind soon conquered the cooling effects and the Weather Bureau thermometer soared to 101 degrees between 3 and 4 p.m., marking the third instance of the mercury passing the century mark here this year.

During the early morning storm lightning bolts struck twice on the northwest side doing considerable damage to two factories. A house sheltering elevator machinery on the roof of a four-story apartment at 2732 Fullerton avenue was also struck.

In New York, with the humidity high and the temperature above 91 degrees, hospitals reported eleven heat prostrations, two of them fatal. Five drownings and scores of traffic accidents occurred there.

Boston sweltered under 98 degrees, which equaled an all-time record as the heat wave penetrated New England. To the south Baltimore for the third successive Sunday passed 100 degrees. The city's reservoirs already taxed were lowered. At Frederick, Md., thermometers registered 108 degrees. A drought has prevailed in this section since July 1, and crop conditions are becoming acute.

Springfield, Mass., registered 97, and Worcester's maximum of 96 broke a thirty-year record. Providence, R. I., also reported the hottest day in thirteen years, when the thermometers climbed to 97 deg.

NEW RECORD SET OVER SOUTHWEST

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3. (AP)—A torturous sun prevailed over the Southwest today and rent the mercury beyond the century mark generally and in many points to new seasonal high records.

In Kansas City hot winds combined with the sun to put relief beyond the reach of those who sought parks and other favorite spots. The unofficial reading here at 4 o'clock was 107.7.

RELENTLESS SUN PARCHES OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3. (AP)—A relentless sun continues to parch Oklahoma today with record temperature readings registered at many points.

At Mangum, on the western edge of the State, the mercury reached 111, setting a new record. The previous record was 109½ registered Saturday. A reading of 110 was recorded at Alva in northwestern section while Cherokee reported 109 and Oklahoma 106.

The forecast was for continued fair and warm weather.

EXTREME FIRE HAZARDS CREATED BY DROUGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP)—Extreme fire hazards have been created in the national forests by the drought which for weeks has baked the country between the Rocky and Appalachian mountains.

While such fires as exist are now under control, the forest service said today the fire fighting organizations in all the national forests have been recruited to full strength as a precautionary measure.

Already, however, more than twice as much has been expended for forest fire fighting this year as at the corresponding date a year ago. With only a month of the new fiscal year behind it, fire fighting has cost more than $300,000.

LEAVES SHEDDING

The drought has become so severe in the hardwood forests of the east that the trees are shedding their leaves, weeks earlier than usual.

Conditions on the West Coast and in the Rocky Mountain regions are not bad compared with other years, but "high hazards" conditions exist throughout the forests of the Appalachians. Normally, they present less fire hazard at this time of the year than at any other.

A fire which started July 30, last, in the Monongahela National Forest in West Virginia was reported under control today after it had covered 1000 acres of national forest and an unknown amount of private land. Forest Superintendent C. L. Perkins, with 200 men and four powerful pumping engines, have confined it within its limits.

DANGER AREAS

Other national forests in the East where conditions have been reported as very bad, include the Manchala and Pisgah in North Carolina, the Allegheny in Pennsylvania, and the Natural Bridge and Shenandoah forests in Virginia.

There has been no rain in the Quachita Forest in Arkansas since May 18, last, and none in the Ozark Forest in the same State, for the past month, and only sparing rains earlier. Fire conditions there were described as the most dangerous for this time of the year in the history of the Forest Service.

WAR CLAIMS TIDE RISING

in Washington, claim blanks have been sent out to all regional offices throughout the country. They have been held in these offices after having been filled out by veterans. The policy is to settle as many of these cases as possible "in the field."

ESTIMATE FALLS SHORT

Federal authorities agree that in a very few years if not immediately veterans' aid of all sorts will cost the government $1,000,000,000 annually. Representative Johnson of South Dakota, chairman of the World War Veterans' Committee of the House, who championed the veterans' bill which finally was passed and signed by the President, estimated that it would add 200,000 veterans to the pension rolls the first year. He figured the cost at about $50,000,000 additional. But judging from reports from the country, the number and expense will be much greater than his figures.

The large increase in the number of applications for Spanish War pensions which has resulted in the filing of 120,000 of these in the short time since the legislation was enacted is due, primarily to the fact that Congress over the objections of the President made Spanish War veterans eligible to pension even though their disabilities are due to their own vicious habits.

As President Hoover pointed out in vetoing the measure, they can be pensioned "for social diseases, alcoholism and drug habits." The increase in the pensions for Spanish-American war veterans was estimated at $11,000,000 but now it appears that this as with the estimate for World War veterans was inadequate.

When Mr. Hoover announced the appointment of Gen. Hines to head the veterans' administration he cited the fact that with that agency spending from $800,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 a year it has become one of the most important branches of the entire government. It will spend about one-fourth of the total government appropriations.

FARMERS CO-OPERATE TO IMPROVE HERDS

COLLEGE STATION (Tex.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Red River county farmers have formed a live-stock finance and sales corporation in co-operation with bankers and county agents for financing members in purchasing good foundation stock for their herds.

Ill-Fated Plane Now Merely Wreckage

plunged off the graveled plateau of the runway in an uncleared area of blueberry bushes, hummocks and boulders bordering it. After bumping over this uneven terrain for 100 yards or more it came to a rest leaning on its left wing.

The watchers feared disaster had overtaken the ship's occupants but as the crowd ran to the plane Mears and Brown climbed out unhurt. It seemed almost miraculous that the craft had not caught fire in view of the extensive damage done to it and the heavy load of gasoline it carried. Had fire occurred the lives of both men almost certainly would have been lost. As it was Mears escaped with a bruised shoulder and Brown suffered only a shaking up.

"We're all right," exclaimed Mears as the first would-be rescuers arrived.

MASCOT MISSING

Tailwind II, however, was missing. The wreckage was searched but the mascot could not be found. It is believed he fled to the woods earnestly resolved that never again so long as he lives will he have anything to do with airplanes or round-the-world flights.

Within half an hour it was sufficiently light to examine the City of New York, which lay nose down in the bushes. The tracks of the wheels and the burst left tire supported the theory that the sudden swerve was due to a puncture and showed by what a narrow margin the plane had missed striking one of the flares which lighted the roadway. Broken pieces of the ship were found as far as twenty yards away from the smashed fuselage, which appeared to split in half.

DUBLIN THEIR GOAL

When they climbed into their plane this morning Mears and Brown were confident that they would achieve a record by flying to Dublin in fourteen or fifteen hours. From Dublin they had planned to fly to Berlin, thence to Moscow across Siberia and the Bering Straits to Alaska and then do down the coast to Seattle, whence they would head overland to New York.

Mears set his first round-the-world record in 1913, achieving the journey in automobiles, trains and steamships in 35 days, twenty-one hours. Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells in 1926, cut this time to twenty-eight days, fourteen hours and thirty-six minutes, but Mears recorded the record in 1928 by making the circuit in twenty-three days, fifteen hours. The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin in 1929, flew around the globe in twenty-one days seven hours and thirty-four minutes—the time Mears was attempting to better when today's accident occurred.

of the provincial authorities, but that the Reds are close by.

The Chinese exodus from Nanchang, which has been under way several days, continues. Thousands are leaving the provincial capital and concentrating at Kiukiang, where they consider the chances of escaping the Communist ravages greater.

In the event of a Red attack on Kiukiang, foreign vessels there are considered adequate to remove the foreigners. Gunboats stationed there are the British Scarab, the American Luzon and two Japanese destroyers.

Chinese defenses of Kiukiang are understood to be 2000 soldiers. What attempts the Nationalist government at Nanking is making to oppose the Reds there have not been indicated.

FIGHTERS HOLD FOREST BLAZES

Montana and Idaho Winning Battle with Flames

Situation Improves as Men Consolidate Lines

MISSOULA (Mont.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Nearly a thousand fire fighters today extended their lines around large forest fires in Montana and Idaho to hold them against raging flames.

Fires which had been fanned into fury by hot winds yesterday were quieter today and foresters gained renewed hope of preventing a disastrous fire epidemic.

A blaze six miles west of Missoula was being held after reinforcements arrived on the lines. The blaze had covered fifty acres tonight. It was believed under control.

Three hundred men were stubbornly holding their trenches against the march of the Coolwater Creek fire east of Kooskia, Idaho, although it still was spreading in unprotected sectors. The burned area was estimated at 1500 acres.

Thirty miles northwest of Thompson Falls about 400 men are laboring to prevent flames from reaching stands of valuable timber on Trout Creek. Twenty-five hundred acres have been laid waste on the Trout and Marten Creek watersheds.

The Bargaiman Creek fire, twenty miles from Elk City, Idaho, was stopped tonight after burning 250 acres. A 100-acre fire north of Sand Point, Idaho, also is under control.

Minor outbreaks throughout the district are being handled by small crews.

State Prison Board Grants Seven Paroles

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—The State Prison Board, completing a two-day meeting here tonight, announced eighty-four cases had been disposed of. Among these seven were paroles, twenty-nine set over to future dates, fourteen postponed, twenty-six denied and eight deportations.

The paroles granted were to: W. H. Yates, 61 years of age, Los Angeles, first-degree robbery, eight years to Texas; James Anderson, Siskiyou county, first-degree burglary, eight years to Alaska; Golin Davis, 25, Los Angeles, first-degree robbery, ten years; V. C. Holtzclaw, Los Angeles, first-degree robbery, ten years; Roy Garten, 28, Los Angeles, first-degree robbery, ten years; James Smith, 23, Los Angeles, first-degree robbery, ten years; Waldo Magellino, Los Angeles, bad checks.

Quarrel Ends in Child's Killing

DENVER, Aug. 3. (AP)—A childish quarrel led to the fatal shooting here today of 6-year-old Rose May Ethridge. The fatal shot was fired, authorities said, by Gloria Utter, 5 years of age.

The girl and two companions were playing when Gloria and Rose May became involved in a quarrel. The Utter girl went to a garage at the rear of her home and returned with a .22-caliber rifle. The other two started to run and as they did the Utter girl fired once. The bullet struck Rose May in the back and emerged through the right breast.

Youth Admits Slaying Bride

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3. (AP)—Tony Colletti, 21 years of age, shot his bride of three weeks, Christina, 18, to death early Saturday because she admitted being untrue to him, he said today in confessing the slaying.

The young bride told him she had been intimate with several men since their marriage, July 8, just before he fired five bullets into her head and body as they stood beside Tony's car on a lonely road near Berea, according to the confession given Detective John Corso, who arrested young Colletti.

Northcott Death Date Changed

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—Warden Holohan today announced Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted of the "chicken farm" murders at Wineville, will hang Thursday, October 2, next, instead of on Friday, the usual execution day. The change in the day was not explained.

Northcott, it was said at the prison, has threatened to "eat himself to death" to cheat the gallows. He recently suffered at attack of appendicitis and refused an operation.

BELGIAN ROYALTIES PARADE IN JEWELS

BRUSSELS, Aug. 3. (AP)—Princes, dukes, counts, princesses, duchesses and countesses, comprising fifty-three members of the highest Belgian nobility, all wearing priceless family jewels, today took part in a pageant representing Belgium's history since the Stone Age. The colorful procession, despite rain, paraded the streets of Brussels. More than 3000 persons took part and there were thirty floats drawn by horses, oxen and camels.

BOMBAY KEYED TO FEVER PITCH

Intense Excitement Follows Disorders and Injuries

Peace Deemed Unlikely Even if Gandhi Gives Order

Parallel Government Plan Under Consideration

BOMBAY, Aug. 3. (AP)—Intense excitement, demonstrated by singing, marching processions, keyed up Bombay today as the outcome of yesterday's disorders in which 300 civil disobedience volunteers were injured. A huge procession of parsees was under way tonight.

Well-informed observers say there is no chance of the negotiations with Mahatma Gandhi ending the struggle. They fear that even if Gandhi declares for peace his followers will disobey him now.

Forty-one Bombay mills closed yesterday, and the laborers are joining the Congress party. Lorryloads of mill hands today toured the city shouting Congress slogans.

The working committee of the all-India Congress, now in session here, has been considering the establishment of a parallel government, to work alongside the present regime in Gujarat, which is a Nationalist stronghold. The Congress general staff was much reduced in ranks by yesterday's arrest of Vallabhai Patel and five other leaders, who are charged with participating in an unlawful assembly.

Plans for the dual government, as tentatively outlined, provide for taking over the courts, the police, the collection of taxes, and operation of the postal service throughout the district. Gujarat is one of the principal cotton areas of India.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES LOWER

Fewer Persons Out of Work than Estimated

Central States Tabulation Revises First Report

Census Lists Disclose Only 1.8 Per Cent Idleness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Less unemployment exists in the Central States than has been generally estimated, as shown by tabulations of Census Bureau figures from cities and counties representing approximately one-fifth of the total population of these States.

Out of 4,774,715 persons enumerated in the unemployment census in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin, only 85,301, or 1.8 per cent were found to be without employment able to work, or looking for a job. Secretary of Commerce Lamont, on June 26, last, in a statement based on sample returns from the entire county, calculated unemployment at 2 per cent. This, he said, fell below general estimates.

A summary of the Middle West States reports on unemployment, made to date, follows:

State—	Persons Counted.	Unemployed.	P.c.
Illinois	1,134,746	19,843	1.7
Indiana	2,247,251	21,149	1.6
Iowa	1,576,112	18,887	1.3
Michigan	363,701	16,884	2.8
Wisconsin	422,743	8,438	1.9
Totals	6,774,715	85,301	1.8

The foregoing figures represent in Illinois seventeen counties and twenty-six towns not included in those counties; in Indiana forty counties; in Iowa fifty-three counties; in Michigan twenty-six counties and in Wisconsin nineteen counties.

As indicated by the percentages Michigan has the highest proportion of unemployment and Iowa the least, with Illinois about halfway between. The percentages, although based on far more complete returns, run almost parallel with those in Secretary Lamont's report, which set the Michigan percentage at 2.7 and the Illinois percentage at 1.6.

It is pointed out that a large proportion of the area covered in the unemployment census thus far is in the rural and country-town areas, although a number of the larger centers are included. The unemployment percentage is expected to run higher when the count for such places as Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee is included.

The largest city in Indiana whose employment figures have been reported is Indianapolis, with a population of 364,073 and 15,942 unemployed, or 4.3 per cent. Des Moines, Iowa, with 142,469 population, had only 2534 unemployed, or 1.7 per cent. Grand Rapids, Mich., with 168,650 population, had 5099 unemployed, or 3 per cent. Racine, Wis., with 67,515 population, had 1867 unemployed, or 2.7 per cent.

THREE SHOT IN GANG WAR OF CHILDREN

"Beaten Up" Brothers Get Gun and Open Fire on Rivals in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Three child by-standers were shot and wounded today when a juvenile "gang war" broke out in the heart of Chicago's West Side melting pot.

The story, as witnesses related it to police, was that Louis Hoda, 11 years of age, and Albert Biachi, 7—small but mighty—used their fists on the Obazza brothers—John and Teddy, 12 and 14—with results very distressing to the Obazzas, who finally took flight.

Louis and Albert were gloating pridefully for the benefit of Sammy Sharisena, 6; Billy Korkoras, 8, and Florence Moliere, 15, when John, carrying a handful of bullets, and Teddy, bearing a rifle, returned to erase the stain from the Obazza escutcheon.

When the smoke had cleared, Sam was lying on the sidewalk with a bullet in the right leg; Billie with one in the right thigh, and Florence with a wound in the right foot. Albert and Louis were unscathed, and the Obazzas had fled, failing to carry out gangland practice in one respect: They had no "high-powered car."

NEW YORK CAN'T HAVE VAN LOAN

Governor Refuses Demand for Author on Charge of Failure to Provide

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today denied the request of New York for a warrant to extradite H. H. Van Loan, Hollywood author and playright, who is wanted in that State on a charge of failure to provide for his 13-year-old daughter Gertrude.

The charge was sworn to by the wife, Mrs. Gertrude Van Loan, from whom the author is separated. At a hearing in the Governor's office this morning, attended by Van Loan, a showing was made that Van Loan had an uncle and aunt in Connecticut caring for the child at the time the charge was placed against him.

Later Van Loan had New York attorneys advance $5000 so that his wife and child will receive $50 a week. On the showing made Gov. Young announced his belief that it would be an injustice to Van Loan to order his return to New York to answer the charge.

Ten Thousand Quietly Visit Wailing Wall

JERUSALEM, Aug. 3. (AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that 10,000 Jews wended their way to the Wailing Wall after sundown Saturday evening for the Tish B'ab services.

Owing to the ban on candles and to the removal of the customary lamps the reader intoning the lamentations of Jeremiah resorted to the use of a tiny flickering oil lamp set in a reading table.

The people either sat on the bare stones or stood around the reader straining to hear his chant.

British constables who regulated the movement of worshipers to and from the wall, stated the crowd, despite its size, was the quietest that ever visited the shrine.

MORE FARM CLUBS

AMES (Iowa) Aug. 3. (AP)—With sixty counties already past 1929 figures, Iowa may have a 4-H club enrollment of 25,000 this year—a 20 per cent increase over last year.

KING OF BUNKO AGAIN TRAILED

"Yellow Kid" Sought After New Coup in Chicago

Michigan Man His Victim, to Tune of $15,000

Fugitive Left Leavenworth Only Five Months Ago

Authorities, informed of his latest asserted confidence-game coup, pressed a hunt today for the Chesterfieldian figure whose intriguing biography is written on the police records of the land.

Joseph Kindelberger, who said he was a Kalamazoo business man went to the Chicago detective bureau last night to report he had been "trimmed" of $15,000. Given a file of Bertillion pictures he selected one—that of a courtly gentleman wearing Van Dyke beard, silk hat, spats and malacca stick—as the likeness of one of the asserted swindlers. Police told him he had identified Joseph P. Weil, the "Yellow Kid," who five months ago left Leavenworth penitentiary with the announcement he henceforth would devote his talents to legitimate business.

Kindelberger told Detective Chief Norton he came to Chicago to complete a business deal with Weil and two associates, identified from photos as Fred Buckminster and George Lutz, after the trio had approached him six weeks ago.

And so the search is on for the "Yellow Kid"—the handsome man with the London clothes, glib tongue and ever-available fountain pen.

NEW HONOR PROPOSED FOR ENVOY

Mexicans of Cuernavaca Urge "Favored Citizen" Medal for Morrow

CUERNAVACA (Mex.) Aug. 3. (AP) Prominent citizens of this town have formed a committee to request the municipal authorities to name Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow "a favored citizen" of Cuernavaca and give him a gold medal in appreciation for what he has done for the city.

The committee will point out Ambassador Morrow gave $2500 for reconstruction of the ancient Tepetates Castle and also financed the repairing of the roof on the palace of the Conquistadore Hernando Cortes. The palace is one of the oldest and most prized buildings in the city.

Another benefaction the committee will give Mr. Morrow credit for was the hiring of the painter, Diego Rivera, at a cost of $2500, to paint murals in the Governor's residence.

Mr. Morrow has a beautiful, although unpretentious residence here, where he usually spends the week-ends. The medal will be presented to him at this residence with the Governor officiating.

SUNDAY COURTS HIT BAIL SHARKS

Federal Judges in Sabbath Session Aid Erring

Cost of Bonds Limited to Legal Amount Set

Practice to End Grafting on Liquor-Law Suspects

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (NANA)—As the church bells were ringing this morning, United States Commissioner Cotter, a dozen bail bondsmen, as many police, one naval policeman and forty-six asserted violators of the Volstead or Jones acts gathered in the Federal Building for New York's first Sunday liquor court.

Some of the men had been locked up in police precinct houses since 1 p.m. Saturday. Forty-five had been arrested by policemen in week-end raids on speakeasies, stills, restaurants, etc.

TO END EVIL

Today's liquor court grew out of the refusal of local magistrates to approve any more bail bonds in Federal liquor cases. This court will be continued on Sundays in an effort to stamp out the petty extortions and fixing evils that have grown out of the enormous liquor bail-bond business that has surrounded many of the lower city courts. Commissioner Cotter, after handling his cases today, said he believed the plan will succeed.

Two city patrol wagons gathered prisoners at various station houses and dumped them at the Federal Building at 9:30 a.m. A little later Commissioner Cotter arrived and things began to move. He allowed only one bondsman from each company to enter.

"This court is for the purpose of helping these unfortunate people to obtain the release on bail to which they are entitled," he said. He sat down and disposed of the cases carefully.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

Each defendant was required to raise his right hand and swear he was the person arrested and not another person substituted by the bondsman. As a protection of the rights of the defendants the commissioner told many of them the exact amount of the legal fee they needed to pay the bondsman. With bail set at $1000 this was $30, and for $500 bail, $15.

With no one able to get bail except in the court and in the open, Mr. Cotter said, there would be little chance for the bondsman to charge an exorbitant rate. Previously liquor-case bondsmen have been able to extort illegal sums from frightened prisoners for the "service" the bondsman was able to give in finding some friendly magistrate at his home or his club and getting him to sign bail.

GRAFT CHARGED

Charges have been made that much police graft was also possible, through fee splitting by police desk officers with bondsmen in station houses.

The refusal of the magistrates to sign bail bonds did not mean that all liquor prisoners had to spend Saturday afternoon and night in jail. A few who engaged bondsmen with a wide acquaintance among the judiciary were able to procure releases Saturday afternoon.

Bail bonding in this city has become a profitable industry—almost as profitable as bootlegging, with far less risk.

OPENING OF WORLD WAR JUST ONE EVENT OF DAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—August 3 has proved to be such an eventful day in American history that the War Department issued today a comment on it, incorporating the following facts:

It began the World War, which contributed much to American history.

It marked the opening of the Panama Canal.

It marked the peace treaty 135 years ago between the government and the Indians of the Northwest giving us Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Western Pennsylvania. This treaty followed one of the most terrible and destructive Indian wars in American history, in which George Rogers Clark, "Mad" Anthony Wayne and others distinguished themselves.

DEATH BATTLED, AND FOR DREAM

Architect Clings to Life Only for Temple of Light

Structure will be House of Worship for Bahaists

Creator, Bourgeois, Known as Master Builder

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—On the lake bluff in Wilmette there stands a rectangular structure of simple beauty where in the white stone foundation is carved the name: "Louis Bourgeois, architect." Across the way, in a field grown with weeds, stands a strange-looking circular structure exposing a drab exterior to questioning eyes.

Some 18,000 persons drive by this point each day, but none of those who passed today knew that within that white stone studio Louis Bourgeois was desperately fighting death so that he might live a little longer to see the first rough reality of his dream take shape.

Bourgeois is 74 years of age. He has built Gothic churches in France, in Canada and in the United States. His buildings are found in Chicago, California and New York. Twenty years ago he conceived and drew plans for a Temple of Light, a house of worship for the Bahaists, a religious people who believe in the fundamental oneness of God and mankind and the union of science and religion.

CREATION ACCLAIMED

The beauty and magnificence of his creation have been acclaimed by architects throughout the world. Of it one eminent architect has said: "It is the first new idea in architecture since the thirteenth century."

The foundations of the temple were completed in 1922 on the nine-acre tract on the shores of Lake Michigan, across the road from the architect's studio. Work was suspended until this summer, when funds became available for the completion of the framework of the structure.

In design the temple is a nine-pointed star. Its ornate dome, comprising three domes in one, will rise 161 feet from the foundation.

NUMBR OF PERFECTION

All the dimensional numbers of the temple are related to nine. Nine is the number of perfection in the annual numerology of Pythagoras. These numbers reappear constantly in the design There are eighteen steps at each of the nine entrances, and each door becomes a recurring symbol of Bahai, which is a title meaning the doorway between heaven and earth.

A dull light will be shone upon the dome at night, so that all points of the star will appear.

The structure when completed will cost approximately $1,250,000, according to Prof. Frederick S. Newall, builder of Roosevelt Dam, who hurried here from Washington today to prepare for the completion of the framework, if possible, before the death of the architect. But few held any hope that this could be done. Prof. Newall says that work cannot be started before three weeks. Dr. H. O. Wishaar of Wilmette said today that the architect is "a very sick man."

"We hold out little hope for his recovery," said a friend of the architect today. "He suffers from a weakened heart and kidney trouble. Every breath is a painful effort. Every hour of his life now seems to be the result of his strong determination to hold on until the framework of his glorious creation rises. He speaks of this constantly."

"I refuse to die until I can see this dream come true," the friend quoted the architect as saying.

BEAUTY MEANS SLIM AND TRIM

Girls at Galveston Indicate Pulchritude Styles

Thirty-nine, Seeking 'Queen' Crown, Pose on Floats

Majority Have Blond Hair; Plumpness Passe

GALVESTON (Tex.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Most of the world admires a slim, trim blond, if entries in the curvitude international pageant of pulchritude at Galveston may be taken as a criterion.

Thirty-nine young women, hopeful of winning the title, "beauty queen of the universe," today posed from decorated floats, while crowds looked on. About 80 per cent of the beauties, representing widely separated parts of the United States and seven foreign nations, were pronounced blonds.

The same percentage were slim and of medium height.

The brunettes who bowed their way along the line of parade were more inclined to a boyish figure, and slightly more height.

Plump girls were counted out in virtually all of the regional elimination contests. Not more than three of today's contestants could answer that description.

The statisty beauty also found competition keen. Four of the thirty-nine young women might be so classified.

Even among the foreign entries the percentages ran more or less the same. Five of the seven European are blond. Miss Turkey wears long golden curls.

Today's program included only the first parade, in which the entries appeared for the first time in bathing suits, and a pageant "Jealousy of Mars." Most of the beauties went to church this morning.

Judging of contestants will begin tomorrow.

GIRLS DAZED AS MARE GETS BEAUTY CROWN

CAGLIARI (Sardinia) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The Latin word for sea is "mare," and while this may have nothing to do with the case, a couple of dozen dark-eyed Sardinian beauties tonight rightly feel they have been made the unwilling victims of a good deal of horseplay.

These seductive creatures, with plenty of curves showing through their scanty bathing costumes, were lined up to compete for the crown of "Queen of the Sea" at Nebida Beach near here today. A large and eager-eyed public watched as a jury of men judges carefully appraised each beauty and her costume.

Then they retired behind the bathhouse and when anxiety was the highest, came back leading a sleek-coated Sardinian horse, which they proclaimed the most beautiful female on the beach, and which they proceeded to crown "Queen of the Sea" amid the plaudits of the crowd.

Shouting the Italian equivalent of "that's a horse on you," the sedate judges left the scene before the stunned beauties could grasp the situation. The judges later said they hope their skit will have the effect of inducing bathing beauties to wear more modest costumes.

Parents Obtain Long Beach Girl Held in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Aug. 3. (AP)—June Elwood Stevenson, 15 years of age, who disappeared from her Long Beach (Cal.) home several days ago with Stephen Nieto, 20-year-old deaf mute, was taken from the Sheriff's office here this afternoon by her parents who arrived from the Coast city.

The girl had been held here since she was picked up with Nieto in Mesa, Ariz., Saturday. The Stevensons and their daughter left by automobile for California.

Nieto is held in the County Jail here. Officers are en route to return him to Long Beach.

WARSHIPS MARKED FOR SCRAPPING

Three Dreadnaughts to Go to Wreckers Under London Naval Pact

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Hughes, chief of naval operations, said today the battleships Wyoming, Utah and Florida will be retired this fall in accordance with the terms of the London naval treaty.

Naval officials already have determined upon this procedure, although the treaty has not yet been ratified by Japan. The United States and Great Britain, the other signatory powers, already have ratified it and Japan is expected to follow suit in the near future.

Admiral Hughes said decision was reached at this time as an economic move. The gross saving to the United States is estimated at $4,000,000 annually, but the net saving will be less, since the personnel of the ships will be distributed among other vessels.

The Wyoming is the flagship of the fleet, Admiral Hughes said, and its place will be taken by the Arkansas. Retirement of the three vessels will reduce the number in the fleet to fifteen.

Police say the men, William Peters, 21 years of age, and John Reichel, 32, purchased the liquor from Dick Geratano, the proprietor, and died almost immediately after drinking it.

SIXTEEN STATES READY TO VOTE

August Will be Busy Time for Primary Elections

Kansas Citizens Tomorrow to Nominate Senators

Hot Fights Made for Many Political Positions

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The busy season for primary balloting is at hand. During the present month sixteen States scattered from coast to coast and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf will nominate candidates for the United States Senate, the House, governorships, the State legislatures and many thousands of local offices.

Kentucky leads the procession. In the Blue Grass State both parties did their nominating yesterday. Candidates for one seat in the Senate and eleven in the House were selected, but winners are unknown, for, under the new Kentucky election law being tried out for the first time, the ballots will be kept under lock and key over the week-end and the counting started tomorrow morning. So far as the Senatorial nominations are concerned there is no need to wait for the ballots to be counted. Senator Robison, Republican, now filling by appointment the vacancy created by the resignation of Frederic Sackett, when the latter was named Ambassador to Germany, sought nomination in his own right and had no opposition. Judge M. M. Logan of Bowling Green and Ben Williamson of Ashland, Democratic candidates for the long and short Senatorial terms, respectively, likewise were without opposition in their party.

HOT RACE IN KANSAS

Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia will hold primaries Tuesday. Candidates for two seats in the Senate are to be chosen in Kansas by reason of the resignation of Charles Curtis when he became Vice-President last year. Curtis's place in the Senate is being filled temporarily by Henry J. Allen, appointee of the Governor. Allen, one of President Hoover's closest political advisers, is seeking nomination to succeed himself. He has rather strong opposition with Ralph Snyder, head of the Kansas Farm Bureau and Representative Sproul running against him. Senator Capper, Republican seeking another term, has no primary opposition.

Senator Glass, an outstanding leader of southern Democracy, is up for another term in Virginia. Two years ago when Glass gave his support to Gov. Smith for President the anti-Smith element in the State threatened to make a determined fight against Glass's renomination in 1930. The opposition, however, has failed to materialize. No one is opposing him in the Democratic primary and his re-election in November now is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

DEMOCRATS HOPEFUL

In West Virginia the Democrats stand a good chance of picking up a Senate seat. Senator Goff, Republican, has announced his retirement and former Senator Neely, Democrat, defeated in the Hoover landslide of 1928, is attempting a comeback which is expected to succeed.

Missouri has no Senatorial contest this year, but the voters are selecting candidates for sixteen seats in the House.

Tennessee will hold its Senatorial primary Thursday, Senator Brock, Democrat, serving out the term of the late Senator Tyson, is seeking nomination for the short term ending next March. Indications point to the nomination of Representative Hull, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, for the long term.

Primaries are scheduled for Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska and Ohio on the 12th inst. In the first named State Senator Heflin is making a desperate fight for re-election with most observers predicting he will be elliminated from public life. Heflin has been barred from the Democratic primary because he bolted the Democratic national ticket in 1928 and is under the handicap of having to run as an independent. The principal contenders for the Democratic Senatorial nomination are Frederick I. Thompson, newspaper publisher, and former member of the United States Shipping Board, and Representative Bankhead, with the latter judged the probable winner.

"RUN-OFF" PRIMARY

Oklahoma will have a "run-off" primary to choose between the blind former Senator Gore and C. J. Wrightsman, wealthy oil operator and publisher, for the Democratic Senatorial nomination. They were the two high men in the primary held last Tuesday with Gore ahead by a slight margin. Senator Pine, seeking a second term, is the Republican nominee and there will be a pretty fight in November between him and the survivor of the Democratic "run-off."

In Arkansas Senator Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate, is a candidate for re-election. He has opposition, but it is not considered dangerous.

Senator Norris, leader of the Republican insurgent band in the Senate, having disposed of the Broken Bow grocer with the same name who attempted to file against him, now is fighting it out with W. M. Stebbins, conservative, for the Republican nomination. He is being fought chiefly because he bolted the Republican party in 1928 and supported Gov. Smith. Norris probably will be nominated and in November he will face a formidable Democratic opponent in former Senator Hitchcock.

OTHER CONTESTS

In Ohio Senator McColloch, appointed to serve the term of the late Senator Burton, is unopposed for the Republican Senatorial nomination. There are five candidates for the Democratic nomination, with former Representative Bulkley of Cleveland apparently leading the pack.

On the 19th inst. Wyoming will nominate candidates to succeed Senator Sullivan, who is serving out the term of the late Senator Warren. On the same date Mississippi will renominate Senator Harrison for a third term.

Senator Blease comes up for renomination in South Carolina on the 26th inst. He has set up a loud cry of "vote buying" against his opponents, but there is every indication he will be renominated and in his State the Democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

Power Commission Matter Also Awaits Action

ORANGE (Va.) Aug. 3. (AP)—President Hoover today dismissed from his mind the perplexing problems of Statecraft and devoted the Sabbath to complete relaxation in the invigorating coolness of his mountain camp.

After an early breakfast tomorrow, he will return to Washington to plunge again into the task of selecting six men for the reorganized Tariff Commission and of determining the legality of recess appointments to the Federal Power Commission.

Atty-Gen. Mitchell has submitted an opinion to the President on naming the members of the reorganized Power Commission during the Senate recess, but its nature has not been disclosed.

If the opinion is favorable to recess appointments, the President is expected to name Claude L. Draper of Wyoming, Ralph B. Williamson of Yakima, Wash., and Marcel Garsaud of New Orleans as three of the five members.

WIND TAKEN OUT OF UNION SAILS

Demand Stage Hands be Reinstated Circumvented

Pomona City Council Action Forestalls Strike Move

Theater-Curtain Ordinance Revoked by Board

POMONA, Aug. 3.—Threatened strike of all union employees in 300 theaters in California over the enforcement of a local city ordinance, resulted in a hastily called meeting of the Pomona City Council yesterday, and the offensive ordinance was unanimously voted off the books to forestall the threatened walkout of stage hands, operators, etc.

The action of the union was precipitated by a clause in an ordinance relating to fire protection in theaters here which provided that a fireman must be kept on duty at all times in theaters in the city, and that the fireproof curtain must be lowered and raised twice before each performance and again at the close of the last performance.

STAGE HANDS DISMISSED

In order to satisfy this ordinance, local theaters have kept a stage hand on duty who was deputized by the city to attend to this detail. Recently, however, in an effort to curtail expenses, theaters had dismissed all stage hands, which left the enforcing of the ordinance to the city fire department.

The demands of the union that all stage hands be put back on the job was made by T. R. Benjamin, secretary of San Bernardino Local 614, and in behalf of Pomona Local 577, in the form of a telegram received by theater managers this morning. The telegram stated that the affair must be settled by noon yesterday, or a walkout would be ordered throughout the State.

Faced with the problem, the City Council unanimously voted to repeal the ordinance requiring a fireman on duty at all times during performances, which left the union demands without any foundation to stand upon. Therefore, the backbone of the threatened strike was broken by this action of the local Council.

ORDINANCE SUPERCEDED

This ordinance is now superceded by an ordinance in Pomona's building code which provides that the curtain must be in workable condition, but does not specify any specific times that it must be raised or lowered. This is left to the discretion of the Fire Chief, whose duty now is to see that the curtain is in working condition, his inspections to be made at any time he sees fit.

Councilmen were unanimous in their declarations that the union demands were excessive and unfair, stating that they were not in sympathy with such unreasonable demands, which would cause much discomfiture to theater patrons.

Last Rites for Dr. Blanchard

ONTARIO, Aug. 3.—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday morning at 10:30 a.m., for Dr. George Lake Blanchard, for ten years actively engaged in medical and clinical work in Claremont and Los Angeles. Dr. Blanchard died late last evening at his home, 505 West Twelfth street, Claremont, at the age of 53 years.

His Los Angeles office was maintained in the Auditorium Building. He was widely known in Southern California as a physician and consultant.

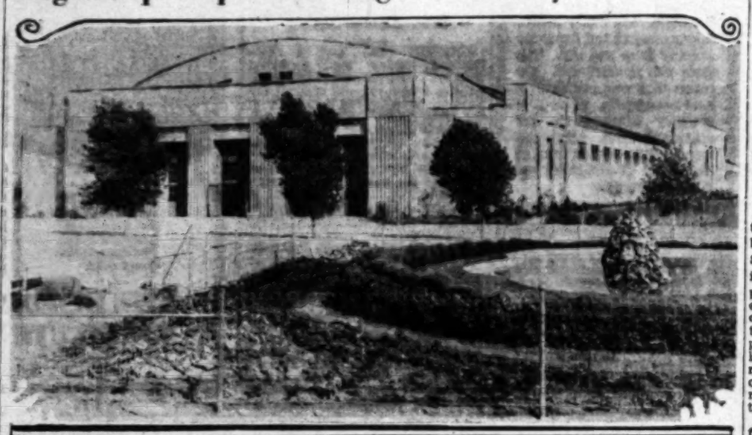
He leaves a widow, Mrs. Katherine Hymer Blanchard; his mother, Mrs. Ida O. Blanchard, one daughter, Beatrice, at home; three sons, George Leland of Pomona, Clarence Hymer of Los Angeles, and Burton Lake of Claremont; one grandchild, Barbara Lee Blanchard, and two nieces, Juanita and Geneva Blanchard. The funeral services will be conducted from Draper's chapel.

ONTARIO DOG OWNERS PAY FOR LICENSES

ONTARIO, Aug. 3.—Local dog owners willingly contributed $1000 this year to insure the lives of their dogs, according to Ed Holman, city license collector. The city's summer dog-license-collection campaign came to an end today, with the city bank account enriched $1000 through payment of the required dog-license fee. This amount came from tags sold to owners of 422 dogs. Those who did not care to have their dogs enjoy life further, refused to pay the fee, and Dr. W. H. Rockey, city veterinarian, disposed of the animals. During the summer Holman and his staff have picked up scores of stray dogs and disposed of them as a precautionary measure against a possible outbreak of rabies.

UNIQUE STRUCTURE DEDICATED SOON

Largest Open-Span Building in Country at Pomona



Agricultural Hall of Los Angeles County Fair

Largest open-span exposition building in the country to be dedicated as Agricultural Hall on opening day of Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Friday, September 12. Gov. Young will officiate and governors of ten western States have been invited to participate. The structure cost $350,000, is 135 feet wide and 800 feet long and contains 108,000 square feet of exhibit space. It is of steel and concrete and does not contain a single supporting column. In it will be placed the agricultural and horticultural exhibits and the elaborate special displays entered by the various sections of the West.

POMONA, Aug. 3.—Interest in the opening of the ninth annual Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona on Friday, September 12, next, centers about the dedication of the huge new exposition building just completed by the county at a cost of approximately $350,000. This building has the distinction of being the largest open-span structure in the United States. It measures 808x135 feet, and contains 108,000 square feet of unobstructed floor space. The dedication will be in charge of Gov. Young, assisted by the governors of the other ten western States.

Preparations for the fair are now rapidly rounding into shape and many of the larger feature exhibits are being arranged. Work on an elaborate display by Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is now practically completed. According to J. M. Page, in charge of the exhibits in the building, practically all of the space in the agricultural and horticultural sections has been reserved. As an indication of the evident success of the big exposition, it is stated that the demand for space has never before come in so early.

This year it will require well over fifty acres of floor space to house the almost countless displays. Assurance is also given that the poultry, rabbit and pigeon shows will be by far the largest west of the Rocky Mountains this year.

HIT-RUNNER SOUGHT IN CROWN CITY

Speeding Sedan Strikes Down Three-Year-Old Boy Who May Die of Injuries

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—Police continued their search today for a hit-and-run fiend who escaped last night after running over, and probably fatally injuring 3-year-old Charles Almandoraz in front of his home, 889 Cypress street.

Witnesses reported that a large black sedan occupied by two or more persons careened west along Cypress street at a high rate of speed and continued in zig-zag fashion after striking the child, who was standing near the curb.

The victim was rushed to the Pasadena Hospital, where it was found his skull had been fractured and the upper part of his face crushed. He was later transferred to the Pasadena Hospital, where his condition is reported critical tonight.

Postoffice Man in New Post

REDLANDS, Aug. 3.—Garth R. Church, for sixteen years employed at the local postoffice, is leaving to take a position on the substitute list at the Los Angeles terminal, it was reported today by James F. Wheat, postmaster. Church plans to enter the railway mail service, taking the substitute job until the other position opens up.

He started with the local office on June 1, 1914, and recently has held the position of dispatch clerk. Succeeding him is V. M. Hollinrake of Albuquerque who started work today. He is a former railway clerk and is transferred from the run from Albuquerque to Ash Fork. His wife and two children came with him and they will make their home here. Although the dispatch-clerk position here pays less than the railway post, Mr. and Mrs. Hollinrake have wished for some time to secure a stationary position and are pleased with this city as a home.

SWIMMER DISAPPEARS

Beach Police Search for Bather Last Seen in Surf off Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 3.—Santa Monica police were searching today for Andrew Yankowsky, 26 years of age, of 2912½ South Brighton avenue, Los Angeles, who disappeared Saturday afternoon while attempting, with a woman companion, to swim to the Olson fishing barge, anchored about one and a half miles off this beach.

His companion, Miss Gratia Blakkan, living at 2657 South Budlong avenue, reached the barge. She informed Capt. Olson, in charge of the barge, that she had outdistanced her companion and that they had called back and forth to each other for a time, but as the water became rougher she heard no more from Yankowsky. It is not known whether he returned to shore or was drowned.

William Chernie, a friend of the missing man and living at the same address, stated that he has not returned to his home. He is employed by the Gordon Baking Company and has no relatives in the United States.

MAN HUNT ON IN PASADENA

Police Seek Four Daylight Bank Robbers Frustrated When Store's Burglar Alarm Goes Off

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—Clanging of a burglar alarm in Leddy's Clothing Store, 164 East Colorado street, frustrated four daylight bank robbers who escaped after police officers armed with shotguns lost track of them after a game of ride and seek lasting two hours. Two suspects were arrested by Sergt. J. L. Rodman, but establishment of their implication in the affair is thought doubtful.

The alarm was set off when the men, equipped with rope ladders, smashed the skylight on the store roof and police rushed to the scene from all directions.

Patrolman Clair Corbin, former national champion pistol shot, was combing the district when he saw a man gripping a revolver turn and run like a deer behind a house on Del Mar street near Broadway. By hiding behind garbage cans and piles of lumber, this man succeeded in eluding Corbin. The suspect was traced to 155 South Delacy street, where Japanese residents saw him leap into a confederate's car, a cream-colored roadster, which sped across Colorado street and turned west on Walnut street.

Detective Lieutenant Robert O'Rourke, who led the manhunt, in which fifty citizens took part, expressed the opinion that a third suspect may have taken refuge in a vacant garage in the Mexican district west of Fair Oaks avenue.

The police believe that the robbers planned to enter the clothing store and later blast their way through the walls into the vaults of the local branch of the Bank of Italy.

OIL FIELD FIRE BURNS FOUR MEN

Gas Blast Due to Friction in Signal Hill Well Hurts One Worker Seriously

LONG BEACH, Aug. 3. — Four oil workers were burned in a gas explosion at Olympic No. 15 well of the Western Oil and Refining Company on Willow street in the Signal Hill field last night.

The crew was pulling tubing when friction ignited gas, causing a blast and fire which threatened heavy production. One of the four suffered first and second-degree burns, and the others escaped with minor burns. All will recover.

The fire loss was nominal, due to the efforts of the Signal Hill Fire Department.

Supreme Court Ruling Sought

UPLAND, Aug. 3.—A Supreme Court decision will be sought by C. E. Grier, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors, on the constitutionality of Amendment No. 1 to the State constitution, which for years has caused a great loss of tax money to San Bernardino county.

Grier, in announcing his determination to carry his fight against the amendment to the highest California court, said he is convinced the amendment is unconstitutional.

Grier will appeal to the twenty-six counties of California which are adversely affected by the amendment, to give him financial assistance in the fight. San Francisco county will probably not aid in the fight, Grier said, as leaders in that county fear a more adverse measure will probably be adopted in its stead.

Grier is at the same time working in behalf of Assembly amendment No. 21. This amendment will be on the fall ballot, and if successful, it is said, will enable the State Legislature to reimburse counties that suffer financial loss under amendment No. 1.

EPIDEMIC OVER

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 3.—Dr. George Malkin, health officer for the Huntington Park district, is of the belief that the infantile paralysis epidemic has reached its peak in this territory. While he believes that there may be a few cases reported during the present month, he states that the number is not expected to be nearly as large as in July, where twenty-eight cases were reported in the district.

SOUTHLAND POLICE ASKED TO FIND GIRL

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—Southern California police were asked today to assist in locating Helen Dyer, 15 years of age, who disappeared from her temporary home, 2173½ Crescent Drive, yesterday, during a fit of despondency. Her mental condition was such that fear has been expressed that she may seek to take her own life. The missing girl was barefooted when last seen. She was wearing a black-silk dress and is described as 5 feet, 5 inches in height, weighing 117 pounds. Her hair is brown and her face long and thin.

YUCAIPA GETS PHONE SURVEY

Valley Studied with View Toward Better Service

Prospective Revenue from Improvements Figured

Full-Automatic Exchange in Contemplation Now

YUCAIPA, Aug. 3.—A survey of the Yucaipa Valley is being made by Manager B. D. Starkweather and Supt. E. R. Fisher with plans for improved telephone service. Three possible methods are being considered. These include a magneto exchange capable of handling about twenty lines, the addition of more party lines to connect with the Redlands Exchange and the establishment of a full automatic exchange of 100-line capacity. The last named being the type the committee favored.

The company submitted detailed figures as to cost of installation of the system and probable revenues therefrom. To determine the prospective revenue the company had made a survey of the valley, locating present phones and persons interested in securing phone service. They found forty-nine present subscribers and a prospect of sixty-nine new ones. This survey was made in one week's time and contacted 550 homes.

As the chamber believed that more subscribers could be obtained if it were explained that under the proposed exchange a modern service would be afforded by up-to-date equipment, with less cost than subscribers are paying now, the company readily agreed to recanvassing the territory by the chamber and company working together.

The base rate on which the solicitation is being done for new subscribers is as follows: Business, main line, $3.50 per month. Business, two-party line, $2.50 per month. Residence, four-party line, $2 a month.

The petition being circulated states at "rates to be designated by the Railroad Commission," but not to exceed the above. This clause is inserted because the Railroad Commission is the final authority on rates, and the figures given are regarded as the maximum base rate and used in order to determine the possible revenue from the proposed exchange.

RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 3.—Receipts at the Huntington Park postoffice for the month of July totaled $16,481.13, as compared with $15,642.04 for July last year, a gain of 5 4-10 per cent, according to Postmaster Walter L. Cleveland. For the past three months the receipts were $47,091.80, as compared with $43,268.26 for the three corresponding months of last year.

IF FIGURES DON'T LIE

Surprising Facts Disclosed by Statistical Survey Being Made of City in Lower California

TIA JUANA, Aug. 3.—A Tia Juana nobody knows is emerging from Gov. Tapia's first statistical survey of Baja California, according to Santiago B. Reachi, chief of the new Department of Trade, Commerce and Industries. And because Tia Juana has been so maligned, most of the facts and figures have a humorous connotation, at least to Americans.

Thus, Tia Juana's numerous institutions and societies include a pro-infancy committee, for the protection of infants.

On the other hand, a very limited police force is necessary for the protection of adults, despite the fact that in 1929 over 3,000,000 motor cars visited Tia Juana, with a correspondingly greater number of visitors. Tia Juana's police force, in fact, is limited to a chief, three sergeants, fifteen patrolmen, four special agents, two clerks, two chauffeurs and a police department secretary. In addition, thirty special policemen are on duty at various establishments in the city, but do no city duty. Patrolmen work twelve hours daily. There were only 147 police cases registered throughout 1929.

As for traffic accidents during 1929, there were 325 automobile collisions of minor importance, not entered in police records. There were ninety-five accidents with minor injuries to occupants. Four persons were killed in automobile accidents.

The Tia Juana police estimate the number of visitors in 1929 at more than 7,000,000. You can make your own deduction: If an American, you can say that the small number of policemen required to handle the great crowds proves how well-behaved are Americans. Mexicans can give their cops all the glory, rating them in puissance with the London bobbies and well ahead of New York's finest.

Per capita salaries paid in Tia Juana probably lead the world, although adds Reachi, this is no invitation for the world to come here. Two thousand employees and wage earners in Tia Juana in 1929 earned $891,176, or an average annual salary of $44458, which is over double the per capita wage of the American people.

In 1920, Tia Juana had a population of 650 men and 440 women, total, 1090; this year's population is 3996 men and 4325 women, total 8321; an increase during the decade of more than 800 per cent.

In 1920, the value of buildings in Tia Juana was but a few hundred thousand dollars; today's appraisal is $24,100,000. Urban lands within the city are valued at $6,700,000. Rustic lands inside the city proper, $11,000,000. Rustic lands, outside the city proper, $1,634,000.

There is much business carried on in Tia Juana beyond the sport of tilting. For instance, sales registered in the city during 1929 for merchandise outside of wet goods were $7,185,644. To counteract this, and prove that Tia Juana imports from the United States as well as exports, $5,827,384 in merchandise left the United States and principally California, for Tia Juana the past fiscal year.

During 1929, the Federal Revenue Collector at Tia Juana collected Federal taxes in the sum of $230,000 from what might be termed the prosaic commercial activities of the city, meaning by "prosaic" the kinds of business permitted in the United States.

BEES FACING CUT IN PAY

They're Stung by Lowest Market in Fifteen Years; Apiarists Store Away Combs for Advance

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 3.—San Diego county beekeepers are facing a honey market lower than it has been in fifteen years, according to Fred J. Hanson, county bee inspector. Bee men are being offered only 5 cents a pound for excellent products, he said, and all that are financially able to do so are storing their crop to await an upturn in the market, which Hanson confidently expects.

The inspector knows of apiarists here who are holding as high as 500 and 600 cases of 120 pounds each, because present prices will not cover cost of production.

One of the reasons for the slump in the market is given as a raise in the tariff of Germany, which always has been a heavy importer of California honey.

"The bee men are not alone," said Hanson. "Take the men who have grown hay this year. They are being offered $9 a ton for crops that in former years have brought as high as $20."

Should the honey market show improvement, San Diego men will be in a good position, because the State's crop is somewhat less than normal and white sage honey, produced in limited quantities in most parts of the State this year, is held here in considerable quantity. This county, like other sections, has produced a fair crop of light-amber grades and of buckwheat sage.

PANCHO TO PRANCE IN FIESTA

"Old Spanish Days," Santa Barbara's annual fiesta, will be more colorful and larger than ever this year. The dates selected are the 7th, 8th and 9th inst. For weeks leading citizens and organizations of the city have been making plans to take part in some portion of the celebration. Jack L. Robinson, who is pictured below mounted on "Pancho" and using a $30,000 silver-mounted saddle, will be one of the outstanding entries in the great parade held the first day of the fiesta. "Pancho" will prance in the cow-pony class.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET

Tomorrow Voters will Decide on Merging of Gardena, Monela and Strawberry Park into City

GARDENA, Aug. 3.—With the special election to determine whether or not the county districts of Gardena, Moneta and Strawberry Park, shall become incorporated in a city of the sixth class, set for next Tuesday, the proposal has become the paramount topic under discussion here. Proponents of the incorporation plan which has been indorsed by a number of business and professional leaders and by all civic and service clubs without exception, have encountered no organized opposition.

The change can be accomplished without increase in the tax rate, it is asserted, and the possibility of a decrease in the rate is held out by the supporters of the plan. Both the Gardena High School and the postoffice are under the jurisdiction of the city of Los Angeles and would not be affected by the incorporation, it is pointed out. The district designated in the election proceedings adjoins the Los Angeles Shoestring Strip on the west at Carter avenue which is approximately One Hundred and Fiftieth street. The main plan of its supporters is to cement more closely the interests of the three communities and to preserve the identity of the Gardena Valley, one of the oldest settlements in Southern California. Voters will not only decide the incorporation question, but are to fill the offices which will be created if the election carries. Names on the ballot are for City Trustee: Wayne Bogart, Earl Stewart, Charles Hale, S. M. Seever, A. A. Bumford and Michael Raibley. For City Clerk, Robert Pratt, Anna Mae Elliten and Adelma Gregory. Candidates for the office of City Treasurer are Bernice Barnett and Oliver McGill.

Assessed valuation of the district is $4,000,000 and the population is estimated at 30000. Opposition to the proposed Hollywood-Palos Verdes parkway project is also advanced as a part of the incorporation plan.

PINE FLATS MAY BE CITY PLAYGROUND

Pasadena Officials Inspect 300 Acres of Scenic Woods for Recreation Area

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—Following an inspection trip by representative citizens and city officials, R. L. Daugherty, chairman of the Board of City Directors, today expressed himself as well pleased with plans for development of 300 acres of scenic woodland at Pine Flats into a recreation area restricted to local residents.

Located at high altitude about eight miles back of Mt. Wilson, the proposed city camp site enjoys temperatures during the summer that are from 15 deg. to 20 deg. cooler than in the valley regions.

City Prosecutor John W. Joslyn is chairman of the committee from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, active sponsor of the project. Plans provide for expenditure of approximately $8000 in constructing cabins and camp facilities.

Tentative approval of the project has been received through W. V. Mendenhall, forest supervisor, Angeles National Forest.

Maj. George Braden, western representative of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, was a member of the inspection party. He asserted that this city's mountain park site will rank among the best scenic municipal parks in the United States.

The site can be reached by automobile via Mt. Wilson.

Three Admirals on Inspection Visit San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 3.—Three high-ranking officers of the Navy will arrive here tomorrow to inspect various naval establishments, the Chamber of Commerce was informed yesterday by the Eleventh Naval District.

They are Admiral Joseph Cheatham, chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts; Rear-Admiral Archibald Parsons, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and Rear-Admiral William H. Standley, assistant chief of naval operations.

It is reported that Admiral Parsons will inspect the proposal naval dirigible site at Camp Kearney during his two-day stay.

SERVICE MEN TO CONFER

MAYWOOD, Aug. 3.—Candidates for the State, area and district offices of the California Department of the American Legion will be under discussion at a meeting to be held by the Commanders' and Adjutants' Association of the Nineteenth District, in this city the night of the 6th inst. There will also be delegates and alternates to the convention in attendance at this meeting. Several of the candidates are expected to be present.

LANDING FIELD LEASE GRANTED

Emergency Station on Santa Margarita Ranch Secured

Charles S. Hardy, Manager of Large Holdings, Aids

Last Obstacle Removed for San Diego Airway Plan

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 3.—Condemnation proceedings will be necessary to obtain an emergency landing-field in the vicinity of Oceanside, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles S. Hardy, manager of the Santa Margarita ranch, at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, air transport line officials of the Oceanside and Fallbrook chambers, agreed to lease to the Federal government a tract of land suitable for emergency landing-field purposes.

Hardy's action removed the last obstacle for the immediate opening of the Los Angeles-San Diego airway, which will be an important link of the Southern Air Mail route to be established in September. The Postoffice Department has announced that bids for the carrying of mail over the southern airway will be called for early next month.

L. C. Elliott, inspector of aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce, says work will begin at once, with the installation of an air beacon and weather reporting station on the Santa Margarita site. The Federal government also will provide the services of two watchmen at the emergency landing-field.

STATE PATROLMAN IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

UPLAND, Aug. 3. — State Highway Patrol Officer Louis E. Kroeger today had on file in Superior Court a suit for $11,804.32 against Frank B. Robertson of El Centro for injuries received when his motorcycle and a truck driven by Robertson collided December 21, 1928. The accident which resulted in serious injuries to the local officer occurred on Foothill Boulevard near Alexandria avenue. Kroenmeyer had just turned into the boulevard from Alexandria avenue and started across the truck, proceeding west, when, according to the complaint, and before he could bring to the complaint, and before he could bring his motorcycle into the path of the officer's motorcycle. He struck the truck a glancing blow and was thrown from his vehicle.

WOMEN REMEMBER THEIR "KID" DAYS

ONTARIO, Aug. 3.—Because there were days when they were "kids" they had to stretch themselves out of shape to reach the high [illegible] they ate from while [illegible] women of Ontario Business and Professional Women's Club will see to it that the present crop of co-eds at Ontario won't suffer discomfiture. The club women have subscribed a sum of money and given it to the city with request that a low table be built and placed on Fourth-street Park, for the exclusive use of the youngsters when with their parents to the park for picnic.

Songbirds to Get Protection

ONTARIO, Aug. 3.—Songbirds of the community are to receive all the protection the law gives them, C. L. Savage, 855 East Fourth street, State fish and game commissioner for the Ontario district, said today in launching a campaign against ranchers who draw no line against the type of birds they destroy in driving them from their fields.

Were not the song birds free to invade fields and vegetable gardens the ranchers would soon lose their entire crops from pests and insects, according to Savage. In districts where birds have been killed off the land has become valueless for agricultural purposes, Savage added.

The fine that will be assessed against those who destroy songbirds will not be anything as serious as the penalty that might follow from an insect invasion, the commissioner declared.

BLACKMAILER EVADES TRAP

For Third Time in Recent Weeks Man Attempting Victimize Long Beach Oil Men Eludes Police

LONG BEACH, Aug. 3.—For the third time in recent weeks a blackmailer who has selected men prominent in the oil industry here as his victims, last night failed to obtain any money and again escaped from a trap.

In a letter to Frank D. Murray, president of the Rotary Oil Well Cementing Company, received in the mail at Murray's home, 4036 Elm avenue, Murray was instructed to bring $2000 to Ocean Boulevard and Cherry avenue at a designated hour last night.

Although the letter concluded with a threat by the blackmailer that he would murder Murray and [illegible] than commit suicide if [illegible] were notified of the demand, a police trap was arranged. Stationed at a uniformed shotgun [illegible] near-by police call box [illegible] by police to have frightened blackmailer away.

Similar demands, printed in the same manner and mailed from the extended victims, have been received recently by Tom O'Donnell and J. L. Keck, prominent oil men. The blackmailer evaded traps in each case.

LANDING FIELD LEASE GRANTED

Emergency Station on Santa Margarita Ranch Secured

Charles S. Hardy, Manager of Large Holdings, Agrees

Last Obstacle Removed from San Diego Airway Plan

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 3.—No condemnation proceedings will be necessary to obtain an emergency landing-field in the vicinity of Oceanside, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles S. Hardy, manager of the Santa Margarita ranch, at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, air transport lines, officials of the Oceanside and Carlsbad chambers, agreed to lease to the Federal government a tract of land suitable for emergency landing-field purposes.

Hardy's action removed the last obstacle for the immediate lighting of the Los Angeles-San Diego airway, which will be an important link of the Southern Air Mail route to be established in September. The Postoffice Department has announced that bids for the carrying of mail over the southern airway will be called for early next month.

L. C. Elliott, inspector of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce, says work will begin at once, with the installation of an air beacon and weather-reporting station on the Santa Margarita site. The Federal government also will provide the services of two watchmen at the emergency landing-field.

They will move to the new duplex built by Marquiss. Mrs. Marquiss will remain as housemother. No housemother has been selected for the other temporary house. All meals will be taken at the university while transportation will be provided, although details have yet to be arranged.

Announcement was also made by President A. L. Duke of the selection of Mrs. C. O. Esterly to fill the vacancy as housemother of Fairmont Hall, occasioned by the death of Miss Mary Chase more a few weeks ago. Mrs. Esterly served as housemother of Morrow Hall for a semester a year ago during the leave of absence taken by Mrs. Florence Simonds, endearing herself to the students at that time.

STATE PATROLMAN IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

UPLAND, Aug. 3. — State Motor Patrol Officer Louis E. Kronmeyer today had on file in Superior Court a suit for $11,804.52 against Frank B. Robertson of El Centro for injuries received when his motorcycle and a truck driven by Robertson collided December 21, 1929. The accident which resulted in serious injuries to the local officer, occurred on Foothill Boulevard near Mills avenue. Kronmeyer had just turned into the boulevard from Mills avenue and started east. The truck, proceeding west, swerved toward the center of the road, according to the complaint, and crashed into the path of the officer's motorcycle. He struck the truck a glancing blow and was thrown from his vehicle.

WOMEN REMEMBER THEIR "KID" DAYS

ONTARIO, Aug. 3.—Recalling the days when they were "kids" and had to stretch themselves clear out of shape to reach the high table they ate from while picnicking, women of Ontario Business and Professional Women's Club will see to it that the present crop of youngsters in Ontario won't suffer the discomfiture. The club women have subscribed a sum of money and given it to the city with request that a low table be built and placed in Fourth-street Park, for the extensive use of the youngsters who go with their parents to the park to picnic.

Los Angeles County Titles Go to Border City

Upsets Registered in Two Junior Play-offs

Three trophies emblematic of the tennis championships of Los Angeles county were on their way to San Diego today, in the suit case of Dolf Muehleisen. The Border City youth, who was a member of the University of California's national intercollegiate doubles championship team, took the men's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles crowns in the annual tournament which ended yesterday on the courts of the Palomar Tennis Club.

Muehleisen conquered Elbert Lewis, U.C.L.A. star, and Pacific Coast intercollegiate champion, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, to take the singles crown, and then teamed with his Bruin rival to defeat Joe Ciano and Joe Saunders, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, to annex men's doubles laurels. He then joined Miss Elizabeth Deike to defeat Mrs. Esther Bartosh and Lewis for the mixed doubles title, 7-5, 8-6. The three matches were played in a period of four hours.

Muehleisen played a steady, easy game to conquer Lewis, maintaining an even pace, and only showed flashes of power when the occasion demanded. The two dominated the doubles situation without difficulty. All four players volleyed exceptionally well, with Lewis shining particularly brilliantly.

Women's singles laurels went to Mrs. Bartosh, who defeated Miss Deike in an upset, 10-8, 7-5. Miss

COAST, SOUTHLAND FLEETS JOIN FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Brilliant Array of Yachts on Hand as Program Opens With First of Ocean Racing Series

BY FRANK ROCHE
"Times" Staff Representative

NEWPORT HARBOR YACHT CLUB, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—This picturesque harbor must surely be the haven for all the yachts and yachtsmen this side of Davey Jones's locker today. There is hardly space to toss a sardine can in the waters fronting this club as the harbor is just jammed with craft ranging from the overgrown rowboat to those majestic and sometimes snooty-looking schooners all of which are gathered here for the combined Pacific Coast and Southern California regattas that are slated to open tomorrow morning with the first of a five-day championship program.

Yachtsmen and yachts of all sizes and descriptions are here for the sailing classic. They came from as far north as Puget Sound and as far south as the Lower California border for the sailing championships which promise to top anything ever staged in Pacific Coast yachting history. Corinthians who own as many as three racing boats and others who boast nothing more than a classy yachting cap are all part of this huge sailing melting-pot here today.

While the fleet from Los Angeles Harbor seems to hold the whip hand in the matter of entries for the classic, San Francisco, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Newport will play a big part in the sailing clashes. San Diego draws a good deal of the spotlight from the start with her introduction of a new class called the Pacific Coast one design. This new class makes its bow tomorrow when six boats from the border city face Starter Paul Hiller's gun. Yachtsmen will watch with

The Next Fight

IT MIGHT not arouse any great excitement to know that Eligio Sardinias is to meet Judah Bergman this week.

But when the translation is effected to indicate that the above means the meeting of Kid Chocolate and Kid Berg at the Polo Grounds, the situation is slightly changed.

These two should give a much better show than most of those in one weight or another who have gummed up the works for nearly a year with a long series of flops, fouls and flubs. According to the published records, Chocolate has never been beaten and Berg has lost only three out of 200 starts.

The game has been in a muggy way for some time, at the bottom of the lowest pit.

If Chocolate and Berg can't put on a good show, there seems to be no further chance until a new crop comes along. The two kids have looked to be well above the average, or the top of the average. But how many figured Sammy Mandell a worn-out old man at 26?

Weight Making

Steve Hannegan, the able and alert publicist, was among those, however, who had Mandell sized up in advance. "Sammy weighed 135 at Miami Beach last winter," writes Steve. "One hundred and forty-five is around his best fighting weight. What chance had a fellow to cut this down to 134 1-2 and have anything left but his boxing gloves?"

One answer is that Mandell never even had these left.

Sizing Up the Leaders

In view of the stormy race now decorating the National League, it will be interesting to get Cullen Cain's comparison of the leaders, point by point. He writes:

"He would be a bold man who undertakes to pick a winner among the four first-division clubs in the National League race right now. An analysis of the playing strength of these clubs, man for man, based upon what they are doing at this time, shows an equality of punch, speed and skill that might well surprise those who

New Yorkers Stage Six-Run Spurt in Eighth

Walberg Proves Target as Team Loses, 9 to 3

Bambino Now Nineteen Days Ahead of 1927 Record

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—A six-run rally after two were out in the eighth settled the issue in favor of the Yankees over the A's by a score of 9 to 3.

Rube Walberg kept the Yankees well in hand in the early innings, but blew up in the eighth when Lazzeri's triple with the bases full started a six-run rally that clinched the game.

The A's hit Pipgras hard in the early rounds, taking a two-run lead, but tightened up in the late innings and with good support kept them from scoring.

Babe Ruth hit his fortieth homer in the fourth, putting him ten games and nineteen days ahead of his record. Pinch Hitter Summa hit the only other homer. The score:

BAECHT TWIRLS ANGEL VICTORY

Cherubs Hit Henderson Hard to Annex Opener, 9-2

Daglia Pitches 6-to-2 Oak Triumph in Nightcap

Locals Capture Five Out of Seven from Oakland

BY BOB RAY

After Ed Baecht had pitched them to an easy 9-to-2 triumph in the opener, the Angels turned around and dropped the nightcap, 6-to-2, to gain an even break in yesterday's doubleheader at Wrigley Field. The Seraphs captured the series by a 5-to-3 margin and finished their season's play against the Oaks all even, each team having won and lost fourteen games.

The smallest Sunday gathering of the year witnessed the twin bill, slightly less than 3000 fans being on hand. All of which brings up the question as to whether yesterday's small crowd was due to the night baseball earlier in the week or because of the fact that the Sunday fans now would rather take their families out on the week nights when ladir are free. It's beginning to look like Joe Patrick's ladies free argument is right, but it'll take more than facts to convince the Angel prexy's opponents.

DAGLIA HITS HOMER

Pete Daglia pitched and batted the Acorns to victory in the nightcap, his home run with two on sending the visitors out in front in the fourth inning and putting the skids under young Glenn Gabler. Daglia hurled brilliantly to let the Cherubs down with four hits and was invincible after the second round.

In the opener Baecht started out wobbly, yielding the two Oak runs in the first, but from then on pitched shutout ball to collect his second win of the week.

"All's well that ends well," and Chicago's loss is New York's gain, referring, of course, to the recent lightweight championship bout in which Al Singer of the Bronx knocked out Sammy Mandell, the Rockford Sheik, in a big battle that did not end in a foul or even a claim of foul. The "total eclipse" in the lightweight heavens which I drew a couple of weeks ago has now occurred, and, according to much of the prefight gossip, it was much like the can tied to the dog's tail—"it was bound to a-cur."

Al should make a good champion, provided he defends his title now and then. He's got more color than any titleholder since Leonard, and is probably the best of the bunch since the popular Hebrew from New York retired undefeated in 1924 for his mother's sake.

At any rate, Singer is the first lightweight champ since Wolgast, whose first name didn't end in "ie" or "y." Yessir, from Ad to Al there has been nothing but a succession of Willies, Freddies, Bennys, Jimmys, Rockys and Sammys.

The Bronx beauty has proved himself much more of a second Leonard than either of the other two New York Hebrew lightweights—Sid Terris and Ruby Goldstein—did. Al is the Israelightweight that did not fail, and ask the ex-champion, Mr. Mandell, if our Singerboy can sock! Who would have thought that Sammy would go out in the very first round! Singer won't be 23 years of age until next September, and didn't fight his first professional fight until 1927, soon after Mandell won the lightweight crown from Rocky Kansas. Maybe they'll class Al with the immortal Joe Gans, cleverest of all lightweights, before he is through. Like Gans, Singer won his title in less than a round.

PASADENA CITY TOURNAMENT ON

Qualifying Play Ends Today at Brookside Park

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Golfers are offered a final opportunity of qualifying today for the second annual Pasadena city golf championship, which starts tomorrow with the first two rounds of match play over the municipal course at Brookside Park.

So far the 72 registered by Gordon Norton of Girard on Saturday is standing up for low gross; Ray Cope of Rio Hondo led yesterday's qualifiers with a 74. Paul Johnson of Rio Hondo scored a 75, and Frjta Kyer of Rio Hondo and Tony Hector of Pasadena had scores of 76.

Aaron Vice, Pasadena professional, reports that a number of leading amateurs, including Fay Coleman of California, Harry B. Wesbrook of Annandale, A. K. Bourne of Midwick, Harry Eichelberger, Jr., of Los Angeles, and Dr. C. K. Manhart of Rancho will be among today's qualifiers.

Approximately fifty golfers played yesterday and today's entry is expected to bring the total mark up to 200. Among those who played yesterday was Aubrey Devine, well-known University of Southern California football coach.

Scores turned in yesterday included Bill Halter and Bill Crowell, 77; Bob Patterson and Ed Von Goerlitz, 78; Fred Gilbert, 79; Fred

Alexander Not on Toledo Job for His Debut

TOLEDO (O.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Fourteen thousand fans, newspaper photographers and two sound movie outfits waited at Swayne Field this afternoon for Grover Cleveland Alexander to don a Toledo Mudhen uniform but "Old Pete" failed to appear.

Where the veteran pitcher spent the Sunday he promised to while away in the Toledo American Association ball park, is something President Oscar J. Smith and Manager Casey Stengel of the local club were unable to answer.

Transportation expenses were wired to Alexander in Chicago Friday, President Smith said, and the wandering one promised to come here Sunday morning.

Club officials made extensive plans for Alexander's appearance here.

BERG BATTLES CHOCOLATE

Cuban Flash Faces Toughest Test of Career on Thursday; Mastro Faces La Barba

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—The ebony kid from Havana, Eligio Sardinias, otherwise known as Kid Chocolate, faces the hardest test of his career at the Polo Grounds on Thursday night when he tackles the Whitechapel whirlwind, Jack (Kid) Berg.

Unbeaten as an amateur or professional and held to a draw only by Joe Scalfaro in his first big-time bout, the 33-year-old Havana Negro will be conceding something approaching ten pounds to one of the toughest of present-day battlers. The match was made at 133 pounds but Berg, by the time he enters the ring, probably will scale close to 137 pounds. Chocolate is not expected to make more than 127 pounds and perhaps will scale even less.

A master boxer and a hard-hitter to boot, Chocolate rates as one of the ring's outstanding attractions

GOLFERS PRACTICE FOR PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Old Man Par had the best of the golfers shooting practice rounds today for the national public links tournament, which starts here Tuesday.

The best eighteen-hole score of the day was turned in by a local entry, Curtis Bryan, who went one over regulation figures with a 73.

Carl Kauffmann of Pittsburgh, champion for three years, found the going hard on the greens today, and his best eighteen-hole score was a 79. Army worms have gotten into the greens and have mowed the grass in uneven spots.

A threat for Kauffmann's title this year is A. C. Sao, San Francisco Japanese entry, who blistered the course in a practice round on temporary greens two days ago with a 68. He fell short today, however, when he shot in the early 80's on two rounds.

Sixty-six players from various parts of the United States and six local men played practice rounds today. There will be 114 on hand for the team matches Tuesday.

PEDLEY AGAIN LEADS SHOW

West Coast Polo Star Just About Cinches Berth on American Big Four as Whites Win

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

PORT WASHINGTON (N. Y.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Capt. Tommy Hitchcocks's "Whites," representing the current "varsity" of American polo, gave the most impressive exhibition on the international tests today in swamping a bewildered combination of "Reds" by the score of 24 to 10.

Since the red-jersied "Jayvees" began with a six-goal handicap concession, the actual margin of the first-string team was twenty goals.

This was the third straight match in which Pedley has ridden at No. 1, with Capt. Hitchcock at No. 3 and Winston Guest at back, indicating the American board of strategy considers them fixtures for the present at least. They were joined today by Cecil Smith, hard-riding young Texan, now a resident of Detroit, who signalized his debut in the test matches by playing a bang-up No. 2.

Despite some difficulty fitting into the scheme of team play, Smith gave a good exhibition of hitting and contributed five goals. His appearance adds to the already wide-open battle for the No. 2 position.

Eric Pedley, the sturdy Californian, whose sensational play within the past week has just about clinched his claim to the No. 1 post of the American Big Four, led the biggest scoring outburst of the season by tallying nine times for the Hitchcock forces. Pedley had the benefit of superlative support but he was deadly with the mallet from all angles as he ran up to twenty-eight his amazing total of goals in the past three test matches. He scored eleven goals last Sunday and eight last Wednesday.

IRONSIDES CAPTURES AGUA CALIENTE RACE

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Aug. 3. Ironsides, five-year-old man o' war colt, showed a return to the form he displayed on mid-western tracks early in the summer this afternoon to win the Al Jolson purse, feature number of the race program here. Ironsides, which brought $100,000 as a colt, had started twice at this track in the colors of C. B. Irwin, who bought him a few months ago, but was unable to do much.

But this afternoon he was right. Meeting Scimitar and Seths Hope in a three-horse race, he came through to win by a length from Scimitar with Seths Hope getting the show. Scimitar, getting away from the barrier well in the mile and one-sixteenth race, got the rail on the first turn and held his advantage until the bend at the end of the backstretch. Here he went just a little wide and Willie Moran slipped up with Ironsides, rounding into the stretch, the Irwin colors were in front, never again to be headed. Scimitar and Seths Hope both made gain bids in the run home but could not overcome the advantage of the winner.

Estelle Taylor, wife of Jack Dempsey, crowned the winner in the absence of Mrs. Al Jolson, who was called north by the illness of her mother, it was announced. Ironsides ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:45 3-5.

Ervast, Baron Long's fleet four-year-old son of Paicines, easily won the Fleetfoot handicap, spring feature of the summer meeting, but he failed to run back to his work of Friday. Ervast ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 against 1:11 he chalked up in an easy workout two days ago.

Nusakan, looked upon to force Ervast to a new track record in the race, was no match for the winner. Ervast went to the front soon after the rise of the barrier with Bon Fille matching his efforts to the stretch. There Bon Fille began to tire and Ervast went to the front, Jockey Georgie Wolf kept a tight hold on Ervast until Nusakan began to gain on him in the stretch. Woolf then let his mount out a notch and coasted home a length in front.

Wolgast Signs for Battle with Newsboy Brown

Billy Townsend — Canada's second Jimmy McLarnin — will be a hefty choice over Harry Kid Brown for their ten-round bout at the Olympic tomorrow night.

MIDGET WOLGAST

The fact that Townsend has sent the fans home early with a sensational knockout in four out of five starts at the Grand - avenue club, and the uncertainty of Brown's condition, all favor the younger fighter.

The Olympic, unable to interest Ray Alvis in a title bout for Jack Thompson with Townsend, is now trying to book the two fighters in a twelve-round no-decision contest indoors. The last champion to show in a no-decision bout here was Sammy Mandell against Jackie Fields.

Jack Allan has practically accepted terms for Townsend to meet Joe Glick in Toronto on the 18th inst. The Thompson fight would not take place until late this month, if made.

Wadhams has closed for another Midget Wolgast bout on the 19th inst. The flyweight champion will box Newsboy Brown in a nontitle bout. Brown must post a $1000 weight forfeit to weigh over 112 and not more than 114.

Wolgast goes to the post Friday night against Canto Robleto, the Pasadena "find" who held Speedy Dado to a draw recently. Johnny Keyes is making good his assertion on arrival here to keep Wolgast fighting every week.

After the Brown bout it is possible Wolgast will take on Chato Laredo, Mexican flyweight champion, and Pablo Dano, the Florishing Filipino in San Francisco. Promotor Louis Parente wants the Wolgast-Dano bout for his Oakland club to fill in when Max Baer isn't packing the place.

Bobby Reister, the newest sensation among the young fighters, is also being considered for an Olympic main event soon. By knocking out Ritchie King, who held Townsend to a draw a few months ago before the Canadian invaded California, Reister rates with any of the lightweight or junior welter cards. It is said Reister is really a big lightweight now.

Brown, the boy who whipped the three world's champions—Johnny Kilbane, Johnny Dundee and Jack Bernstein—when in his heyday, may surprise the wise pickers who are down on Townsend to win tomorrow night, possibly by a kayo.

In 165 fights Brown has been knocked down but once. That was last Christmas Day when Baby Joe Gans floored him. Brown beat Gans here three years ago at Vernon.

Two featherweights, Johnny De Lano and Bobby Pacho, box the semi-wind-up under Townsend and Brown. Steve Hamas and Steve Hayden meet in the special event. They are heavies.

MUEHLEISEN IS TRIPLE VICTOR

Deike had beaten her rival in the La Jolla finals, and was favored. Mrs. Bartosh played a smart game, covered the court well, and forced her opponent into many errors.

Both junior events resulted in surprises. Leonard Patterson upset Harold Stetner in a hard battle, 6-2, 8-10, 6-1, to take the boys' title, and Miss Jane Sharp conquered Miss Marion Wood in another spectacular engagement, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0.

Despite the record number of entries, the event was run off in fine style, with only the finals being played yesterday. Bill Ackerman and Art Park handled the details of the tournament.

PEREGRINA AT MAIN STREET

Joe Peregrina will box the second of a series of four bouts at the Main-street club Saturday night when he meets the best opponent Carlo Curtis can sign for him. Peregrina knocked out Homer Sheridan at Wilmington Wednesday night.

Bad Shots on Links Laid to Rigid Driving

BY SOL METZGER

A friend of mine tells of a series of golf lessons from Bill Tate, the Scotch pro at Wilmington. After every shot Bill would say, "That's about it." Finally, the pupil said, "Bill, I'd give you $10 if you would once say, 'That's it'." The pupil hit another. "That's it, sir," said Bill.

Rigidity doesn't pay in golf. All sorts of misfires result. It prevents the body following naturally after the arms. Watch Harry Cooper drive. He swings with tremendous force. But there is no rigidity, only a flow of lithe muscles. The resulting whip through of club head is amazing as to its speed. On the backswing his left knee comes in toward the right.

When we become rigid the left knee does not give in this way, balance is lost and the swing is far from proper. You merely cut across the ball, from outside in and produce a grand slice which is no part of your game.

People are continually asking Sol Metzger, "Why can't I make my approach shots stick on the greens?" Metzger has answered the question in his newest leaflet, "The Art of Pitching." If you wish this leaflet send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times.

Fleet Sports

BY FRANK T. HARVEY

Athletic interest in the battle fleet today is centered on the Seattle Times Cup racing event which will be pulled over a three-mile course on Lake Washington next Thursday afternoon.

The race is attracting widespread interest not only in the service but throughout the Puget Sound area as well and several thousand persons will line the course when the oarsmen from the battleships California, West Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee, New Mexico, Idaho, Oklahoma and Nevada give way together at the sound of the starter's gun and pull for the rowing supremacy of the Pacific naval forces.

It is the tenth annual race for the Seattle Cup and the winners of the former races are as follows: U.S.S. Idaho, 1921; U.S.S. California, 1922; U.S.S. Arizona, 1923; U.S.S. Arizona, 1924; U.S.S. New York, 1925; U.S.S. Colorado, 1926; U.S.S. New Mexico, 1927; U.S.S. Colorado, 1928; U.S.S. Colorado, 1929.

The Colorado, which won the trophy the past two years, will be unable to participate this year, inasmuch as the ship is operating on the east coast, however the Barry, cousin of the Colorado in 1928 and 1929, is now attached to the U.S.S. Maryland, according to reports from the Puget Sound area, will be at the tiller for the Free Staters in the coming event.

Favorites in the approaching race are the Maryland, California, Tennessee and New Mexico. It is generally believed throughout the service that the winner of Thursday's event will set a new course record.

A few days ago a letter was received by the writer inquiring what had become of some of the famous athletes who served in the Navy a few years back.

Many of the athletes who made athletic history in the fleet are still in the service and others are located in Southern California.

Eddie Huffman, nationally known light-heavyweight, who came into fistic prominence while serving on the U.S.S. Mississippi, is now residing at Long Beach, and is employed as an oil worker. Eddie recently quit the ring after an unsuccessful comeback attempt, and while he earned a fortune in the ring, he has nothing to show for it, according to his own admission.

Steve Biss, former all-Navy welterweight champion, who annexed the service title while stationed on the U.S.S. Idaho in 1921, is now operating a fleet of taxicabs at San Pedro.

Blackie Barrett, who was considered one of the best stroke oars ever produced in the American Navy, and who helped make rowing history while serving on the U.S.S. Nevada, is also living at San Pedro, and is in the employ of an oil company.

Jimmy Woodruff, who has helped produce numerous navy boxing champions, is still in the service and is now on the battleship Nevada.

Johnny Struckus, former fullback and captain of the famous flagship California gridiron crew, is also still with the service and recently was assigned to recruiting duty at Denver, Colo.

Tiny Bott, another famous football player in his time and also the former navy heavyweight wrestling champion, is chasing recruits around at the Naval Training Station, San Diego.

Billy Vincent, former welterweight champion of the Navy, who served a "hitch" on the U.S.S. Arizona and who is remembered by the old-timers for his famous fights with Sailor Liston, is now in Hollywood, where he keeps busy playing parts in pictures.

Frank Casey, cousain of the New Mexico race-boat crew in 1922, is living at San Pedro, where he conducts a cigar store.

Joe Larsen, former end on the Pennsylvania, is still in the service, and is on recruiting duty at Long Beach.

Joe Fischer, for seven years all-navy lightweight champion, who retired undefeated in 1923, is now a chief boatswain's mate on the U.S.S. New Mexico.

Joey Sikes, who held the all-navy featherweight title in 1922 and 1923 while on the Pennsylvania, is in the restaurant business with Don Deviarro at Long Beach. Demarco also served on the Keystone ship, and at one time was rated as one of the best welterweights in the service.

PLESTINA TO DEMAND TWO BOUTS

Huge Jugo-Slav Wants to Meet Marshall and Joe Stecher at Olympic

MARIN PLESTINA

Matches with both Everette Marshall and Joe Stecher will be asked for by Marin Plestina, the powerful 245-pound Jugo-Slav man mountain, if he defeats Don George, former national amateur champion and latest mat sensation, in their finish wrestling bout at the Olympic Wednesday night.

Although Stecher and Plestina began wrestling about the same time, these two top-notchers, each of whom has been in the mat game for more than seventeen years, have never met. The lanky Nebraskan has always refused to consider offers for a proposed bout with the Jugo-Slav, those close to the wrestling situation declare.

With Ed "Strangler" Lewis's departure for Australia, Plestina and his backers declare the mat giant is Champion Gus Sonnenberg's foremost challenger in this country, and they are ready to prove their right to the rating against any grappler in the game, especially Marshall, who recently defeated Stecher, but who was never anxious to clash with the Jugo-Slav either before or after meeting the titleholder.

That Plestina can step with the fastest and cleverest heavyweights in the game was seen in the north last week when he defeated Wycoff. Reports of the bout received here were to the effect that he stopped Wycoff in his tracks, completely outclassing him although the lanky Missourian did flatten the giant's shoulders to the mat for the first fall in twenty-seven minutes.

It was Plestina's greater strength and endurance which accounted for the victory over Wycoff, yet Wycoff outwrestled George when they clashed here two months ago.

Nick Lutze and "Wild" Bill Shaw will clash in the other finish match Wednesday night, and present indications are it will be one of the roughest ever seen in the local ring.

BERG BATTLES KID CHOCOLATE

but he will need all his cleverness and punching power to halt Berg, a whirling dervish on the attack. Most of the betting to date has been at 6 to 5 with Berg on the long end.

Supporting the ten-round feature bout will be two other ten-rounders, one bringing together Babe Joe Gans, Los Angeles Negro welterweight, and Eddie Murdock, Tulsa (Okla.) puncher, and the other pitting Eddie Mack, sensational Denver lightweight, against Sammy Dorfman of the East Side.

The only other outstanding bout on the metropolitan district card is a ten-rounder, already twice postponed because of rain, between Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle (N. Y.) Negro, ad Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight, at the Queensboro Stadium Tuesday night.

Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, former flyweight champion, encounters Earl Mastin, Chicago featherweight, in the feature ten-rounder at the Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

Maxie Rosenbloom of New York, light-heavyweight champion in the eyes of the New York Athletic Commission, takes on Willard Dix, Bellingham, Wash., in a ten-round nontitle affray at Oakland, Cal., tomorrow night.

Other bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At New York, Dexter Park: Harry Ebbetts, Newport, N. Y., vs. Nick Palmer, New York, middleweights, ten rounds. Other bouts scheduled, all four-rounders, are: Don Conn vs. Frank Leonard, 145 pounds; Jimmy Torres vs. Rudy Mendoza, 135 pounds; Tony Archer vs. Nish Negrette, 118 pounds; Tony Caro vs. Paul Garcia, 122 pounds; Sandy Garcia vs. Kid Senteno, 112 pounds.

Fast Horses Enter County Fair Events

With approximately $20,000 in purses offered and with more and faster horses on the circuit than ever before, Los Angeles County Fair promises a series of daily racing programs during the big exposition September 12 to 21, such as will warm the heart of the most ardent fan. There are four harness events carrying $2000.

A variety of harness and running races have been worked out by Frank Lieginger, veteran secretary-manager of the Western Fairs Association, and C. B. Afflerbaugh, secretary-manager of the county attraction. This year every horse eligible to the 2:10 class is also eligible to the free-for-alls. Accordingly, Lieginger has changed the 2:12 class to a 2:10 class to allow every horse double entry.

Bobby Enjoys Initial Swim in Ten Years

BRUNSWICK (Ga.) Aug. 3. (AP)—Robert Tyre Jones has a yen for golf championships, but as a swimmer, once in ten years is about the best he can do.

Bobby, atop of the Who's Who at golf, here at Sea Island Beach for a vacation, while reminiscing with friends revealed his donning of a bathing suit and enjoyment of a dip in the surf was the first time in a decade he had been swimming.

When Bobby made his appearance in a solid black bathing suit he was besieged by photographers, who realized that getting Bobby in a bathing suit once in ten years was sompin'.

Questioned regarding the approaching national amateur at Merion, near Philadelphia, the only major championship he does not hold at this time, Bobby said there are many reasons why he is looking to the event with interest.

It was at Merion five years ago, he said, that he won his first amateur championship.

have not gone so deeply into the matter.

"Consider:

"At first base the Giants undoubtedly have the edge with Terry, who is playing wonderful ball, hitting over .380, and ranked by many as the best first baseman in the game.

"At second base, Frisch of the Cards would seem to lead the pack in all-around value to his team.

"At shortstop, there is little to choose between Wright of the Robins, Jackson of the Giants and Gelbert of the Cards. All are brilliant on defense and all are dangerous and timely hitters.

"At third base the palm must go to Lindstrom of the Giants who is hitting close to .350, although Gilbert of the Robins and English of the Cubs are fine fielders and both are hitting over .300.

"In left field Stephenson, who is hitting around .390, shades Leach of the Giants and Hafey of the Cardinals in value, even though not as fast on foot as they.

"In center field Hack Wilson of the Cubs must be chosen for his runs-accounted-for record. But it must be stated that Douthit of the Cards and Frederick of the Robins both may excel him a little on defense, and Frederick is a helpful hitter.

"In right field Cuyler of the Cubs must also be given a shade, for he is playing the game of his life this year. And yet Herman of the Robins and Ott of the Giants press him closely in team value.

"Behind the bat the four contenders are just about evenly matched.

"In recapitulation it is hard to find much difference in the playing strength of these four evenly matched contenders. But in the pitchers' box the Cubs and Robins have more of an edge on their rivals."

The final story will more than likely be told from the pitcher's box. The pitching staff that holds up longest will bring in the loose autumnal change.

Brooklyn's big season will make a large financial difference, for the Dodgers are now certain to break all attendance records at home. They are also big cards in Chicago and New York, two fairly well-populated centers, who have the crowds to draw on. Brooklyn, always a great baseball citadel, has reached the seething point this summer.

Smith and Armour

Mac Smith and Tommy Armour, two eminent Scots, were the pair that first set the pace for Bobby Jones at Interlachen with 70's. Smith almost nailed the flying Georgian down the stretch, after starting seven strokes back. Now these two Scots return to the charge again—Armour winning the Canadian open—Smith the Long Island open. Both broke 280 for seventy-two holes, which is a lot of golf. Armour's last three rounds, including the play-off in Canada, were 64, 69, 69. Mac Smith's last three rounds at the Engineers were 69, 68, 68.

These rounds are about all that anyone can ask from a set of golf clubs. Those trying to crack a 100 or break 90 might read them and weep.

NEWPORT HOST TO YACHTSMEN

BAY CITY YACHTSMEN

San Francisco, always a factor in any Coast yachting event of any importance, has entries in the principal classes and it is almost a cinch bet that Bay City skippers will carry north their share of the championship laurels.

For instance, Arthur Rousseau, that able sailing man from the Bay City, is on hand with his slick six-meter sloop Maybe all ready to defend the laurels in the Southern California championships which he won last year and to thump Al Rogers's Synnove for winning the Coast title up north in 1929. The Maybe defeated Tommy Lee's Caprice last May in San Francisco Bay and is said to be in fine shape for the present championships.

Other entries from San Francisco are Stuart Baldern's Ayayay which will be sailed by Charles Langlais, Edgar Kahn's Rasco, an R-boat; Rousseau's Ace, an R-boat; Henry Weil's seventy-five-foot yawl Corsair, Mark Fontana's ninety-foot ketch, Shawnee; Arthur Zellerbach's eight-meter sloop, Hvide and the cruiser Marlin, which belongs to Hank Thurlang.

San Francisco may also have another eight-meter sloop in that division. It is a mystery boat, according to the dope, no one here as yet, having her name.

ONE-DESIGN CLASS

San Diego, besides having the new Pacific Coast one-design entries will have two R-boats, the Zephyr and the Angela. A number of star boats will also represent the border city clubs. Clem Stose of San Diego, admiral of the Pacific Coast regatta committee, will be on hand with his yawl Teva, but will not race.

Puget Sound's entry in the regatta is the R-sloop Sir Tom, owned and skippered by Ted Geary. Newport will have, besides its great fleet of star boats, Al Rogers's six-meter sloop Synnove, H. W. Rohl's Pandora and a host of smaller craft, such as skimmers, seamews, snowbirds, in the classic.

Los Angeles Harbor's delegation will, as stated above, be the largest in almost every class. In the eight-meter class local skippers will have the King of Spain winner, Marin, Commodore Owen Churchill's Babe, and Roger Marchetti's Duce.

In the R-Class the local clubs will send a crack delegation after the honors headed by Churchill's trim sloop, Friendship, which will be sailed by Ben Weston. In the six-meter class Tommy Lee's Caprice, Al Christie's Lanai, and George Thomas III's Ednada V are the favorites to carry the battle to Rousseau's Maybe and Rogers's Synnove.

LANAI IN LIMELIGHT

A good many eyes will be on the Lanai recently purchased in the East by Christie. Ted Conant, the man who skippered the Babe in all of her triumphs two years ago, will be at the stick on the Lanai tomorrow.

The Star boats will play a big part on the program as Newport, Los Angeles and San Diego all have fine fleets ready for the championships.

The larger classes taking in the big yawls, sloops, ketches and schooners will also present a good deal of competition, judging from the entry list. Will Watson's Willitie, Henry Warren's Ahmeek, H. W. Rohl's Pandora, Smith and Angelman's Ocean Waif, Mat Walsh's Thoroughbred, John C. Piver's Eloise, W. W. Prather's Diablo among others are here awaiting the warning gun.

An interesting program of events will be staged each day. Tomorrow at 10 o'clock the smaller boats open the program with races for the snowbirds, Marions, Starlets, Bay sloops and Arrows in the inner or bay course. The larger boats face the gun outside the harbor at 12:50.

Those in charge of the arrangements are Commodore Leon Hesemann of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, Claude Eatman, staff commodore, Paul Hiller, Douglas Radford, Jim Webster and Port Captain Joseph Beek. A good time is promised all by Newport Harbor Yacht Club officials who have won the names of being perfect hosts.

BOROLA FIGHTS DRAW IN MAIN STREET RING

Joe Borola, Mexican fighter, and Johnny Christmas, negro slugger, Saturday fought a four-round draw in the main event of the weekly fistic show staged by Carlo Curtis at the Main Street Athletic Club.

Borola and Christmas apparently fought on even terms round for round. However, each had his inning of good hitting. Christmas rallying in the third canto and Borola in the fourth. In the semi-wind-up, Vic McNeal, Negro 165 pound boxer, scored a knockout over Henry Gaitanez, in the early stages of the first round. Marcus Moralez, a newcomer won a decision from Lawrence Brown, Tony Gaitanez scored a decision over Lucky Baldwin. Tony Ross looked good in winning the opener from Marcello Balanog in the third round of a scheduled four rounder.

TIGERS ON TOP

DETROIT, Aug. 3. (AP)—The Tigers made it three in a row over the Chicago White Sox by taking a 4-to-3 decision today.

Waite Hoyt went the route for Detroit. All of Chicago's runs were scored on homers by Reynolds. His first came with none on base in the sixth, and his second after Wetzel doubled in the eighth.

Dale Alexander was the heavy hitter for Detroit. He tripled with two on base in the first inning and scored on Stone's sacrifice fly. In the sixth he doubled, went to third on another sacrifice by Stone and scored the winning run on Funk's single. Cecil Caraway started for Chicago and was relieved by young Ed Walsh after six innings. Score:

Earthquake Damage Described In Pictures Rushed Here From Razed Ar

In the Darkness of Night While Inhabitants of Some of Southern Italy's Beautiful Cities and Towns Slept, the Most Disastrous Earthquake in the nation since 1908 razed buildings and monuments, killing 2143 persons and inju 4551. These additional photographs, rushed to The Times from the scene, vividly picture the horror and damage resulting from the mighty shake. The 100,000 persons made homeless are rallying valiantly to the task o building their villages, some of which will have new sites. The Italian government has announced it will be able to take care of the quake victims and reconstruct their homes without aid from other nations. A fund of than $5,000,000 has been set aside for the purpose. The stricken area still is in darkness at night, as power lines were destroyed. Terror was increased at Naples by a hurricane that followed the shocks. The earth con to tremble for nearly twenty-four hours after the initial shock. No Americans were reported to have been killed or injured in the disaster.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

hours of marching, the trail entered a gorge so narrow that its rocky walls were easily spanned by Tarzan's outstretched arms. The footing was poor and dangerous. The cliffs on either side rose higher and higher, and in places the gloom of night surrounded the column.

For a long hour, they followed the windings of this dismal gorge. The column halted for a minute or two, and, immediately after the march was resumed, Tarzan saw those directly ahead of him filing through an arched gateway in a man-made wall of solid masonry that entirely blocked the gorge to a height of a hundred feet.

When it was the ape-man's turn to pass the portal, he saw that it was guarded by other soldiers, similar to those into whose hands he had fallen, and that beyond was a second gate of huge, hand-hewn timbers that had been swung open to permit the party to pass. Ahead was a well-worn road leading to a dense forest.

The command to halt was given at a small village of conical huts. There camp was pitched. The prisoners were given no shelter but were permitted to build a fire. As Tarzan sat by the fire, an acorn from a tree above fell upon his head. He looked up to see a little monkey perched on a low branch. It was Nkima!

REVIVAL IN OIL AT HUNTINGTON

Beach City Promises to Get Back in Spotlight

Announcement of Plans for Deep Test Stirs

Brisk Campaign of Leasing Reported on Way

The recent announcement by a Los Angeles oil company that it intends to drill a deep test which may go to 7000 feet, in the Huntington Beach field, has precipitated a brisk leasing campaign and some drilling in the west end of Huntington Beach, where drilling restrictions were recently lifted.

One of the most active operators is the Superior Oil Company, which has taken quite a block of leases and is drilling on the Jones lease at Twenty-second and Ocean avenue, while erecting derrick on a lot at Twenty-first and Walnut street.

A. J. Bellport, Jr., Los Angeles, geologist, has leased four lots on Seventeenth street between Olive and Orange streets, and is erecting a wooden derrick, expecting to go to the sands above 5000 feet depth.

Barnsdall is moving away the equipment from the Newland-Borchard lease, but neither Barnsdall nor Superior has given up all its leases. Barnsdall is still holding its Cady five-acre lease between Geneva, and Delaware and Indianapolis streets. Superior has town-lot leases on Delaware avenue, between Frankfort and Elmira streets.

The McCasland well at Twenty-first and Olive streets is drilling below 5000 feet. The Durkee & Causey well in the 400 block on Eighteenth street is drilling below 5400 feet. Oil showings have been found between 5300 and 5400 feet. A gray sand, almost white, which is usually classed as a water sand, was found, but tests indicate that it is an oil sand. It is similar to the gray sand found by Barnsdall on the East Side, which was characterized as a water sand within an oil sand.

Dr. B. W. Hardy has leased two lots on Tenth street to the Superior Oil Company. The Nichols property adjoining the Hardy lots is rented to the same company, and Jack Colvin and W. J. Ellery, manager of the Security Trust and Savings Bank at Monrovia, are negotiating with the Superior to lease five lots which are across the street from the Hardy and Nichols properties.

Elk Hills Runs Ahead of State Oil Allotment

TAFT, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Elk Hills field produced 544,641 barrels of oil during June, or a total of 30,941 barrels more than the State oil umpire allowed the district under the State's conservation agreement. Seven operators are included in the field's report, two of them providing less than the desired quota.

Associated Oil Company produced 7495 barrels during June. Its overproduction totaled 3175 barrels for the month and the Belridge Oil Company produced 62,558 barrels, or 34,298 more than allotted.

Sam Orloff, with an allotment of 1060 barrels, produced 1911 barrels, being 831 barrels over the quota. Richfield Oil Company, with a total production of 155,062 barrels, was 3338 barrels under the quota.

Standard Oil Company produced 224,617 barrels of oil, or 48,677 barrels over its allotment, and the Union Oil Company produced 12,998 barrels, or 2198 barrels more than was allowable.

Operations at Bob Ingersoll to be Resumed

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Following installation of new equipment, production is to be resumed at once from the Bob Ingersoll property, worked by the Vaughn, Macia & Palmer Leasing Company.

In the Tombstone Extension mine, work is being pushed along a five-foot ledge, reported sampling 50 per cent lead, over forty ounces silver and $5 gold. Shipments are said to be netting $3000 to the carload.

The Kelly Rare Metals Mining Company has a new shaft sunk to 300 feet and is installing a mill, pump and hoist. The principal values are in vanadium and molybdenum. A shaft on a second vein has developed four feet of $14 gold ore.

WIDE LEDGE DEVELOPING AT ESTATE

Six-Foot Body Reported Opening Up in Arizona Western's Property

MAYER (Ariz.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—A six-foot ledge is being developed in the Cleator section by the Arizona Western Mining and Milling Company, under Manager J. S. Allen. Half of the width is classed as milling grade. The balance is to be shipped, averaging about $50 gold and $15 in silver and lead.

The Silver Pheasant mill, in the same locality, has shut down, failing of profit under the present silver price.

A consignment of heavy surface machinery has been received for the Calneoln Mines, Inc., operating at Crown King.

An average of $14 a ton for about 100,000 tons of blocked ore is reported from the property of the International Consolidated Mining Company in the Turkey Creek section. The mine first was operated in 1876. A new mill is in operation, one of very modern type, with Diesel power installation. The camp is notably complete, with electric lighting, an ample water supply and with good housing. Alvin White is in charge.

NEW QUEST FOR OIL ON IN DISTRICT

Western Gulf Planning Test Project in Santa Maria Vicinity

A new search for oil has been launched by the Western Gulf Oil Company in the Santa Maria Valley. Location has been made five miles southeast of Santa Maria in the region where the General Petroleum Corporation drilled several core holes in 1924 to determine the possibility of developing shallow production.

Western Gulf leased approximately 2500 acres in the Santa Maria Valley. Its latest location is 1600 feet west and 900 feet north of the southeast corner of Sec. 5. Not far from this location, the System Petroleum Company drilled several holes, and then O. C. Fields went into the district and found oil showings, but failed to develop production.

The new activity near Santa Maria is an effort to extend the Cat Canyon anticline, according to field scouts.

Oil Situation in Poso Creek Area Reviewed

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—General Petroleum Corporation has spudded in Heisen No. 32 on Sec. 16, 27-28, at Poso Creek. On Sec. 26, 28-27, General is grading location for No. 7 on the No. 1 Sill lease.

On Sec. 27, 26-28, Bruce Frame's Salisbury No. 1 remains cemented at 1940 feet. Water troubles interfered with a cement job on 10 3-4-inch casing at 1335 feet. Eighty feet of oil sand was penetrated. Frame has announced intention of drilling deeper. Its completion is expected to extend Poso Creek field, inasmuch as it is located a considerable distance from present production. On Sec. 13, 27-28, West Coast Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 remains idle at 905 feet.

A swab lost at bottom has been recovered in the Osborne-Sayer well on Sec. 5, 30-29, in the Edison district near Bakersfield, and the project is cleaning out to 4222 feet.

On Sec. 33, 29-29, the Shell Oil Company has abandoned Edison No. 2-1 drilled to 5265 feet. The Petroleum Securities Company is drilling ahead below 1200 feet in Johnson-Moss No. 1 well on Sec. 14, 29-29.

PROMISING GROUP OF GOLD CLAIMS OPENING

TONOPAH (Nev.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Development of a group of promising gold claims at King, near Rawhide Hot Springs in the southeastern section of Churchill county, has been started by Leonard Kip Rhinelander. He has installed equipment, employed several men, and financed extensive work. The claims are said to show strong veins of gold-bearing ore.

MEETING OF OIL GROUPS PENDING

All-Committee Conference to Convene Tuesday

Will be Last Scheduled for Summer Season

Venice Situation Viewed as Chief Problem

All field committees which have been handling the oil curtailment program throughout the State will meet tomorrow morning with the State-wide general committee in the offices of the California Oil and Gas Association to study the entire production situation in an effort to decide how to bring the daily flow down to the required quota.

This general committee meeting is the last one scheduled for the summer. It will be presided over by Paul Boggs of the Union Oil Company. Umpires H. Paul Grimm and Neil H. Anderson, their assistants and the chairmen of the various field committees are expected to submit reports.

One discussion will focus upon the new Venice field and how to curtail production there so that a price can be set. At present the top price for Venice fuel oil is about 65 cents a barrel, and until all of the operators have signed an agreement to participate in the curtailment program, price matters can hardly be settled.

According to the recent fact-finding report prepared by W. E. Dunlap, new production at Venice accounts for the State's overproduction during the last fifteen days. Several companies have agreed to absorb any overproduction, and one phase of Tuesday's meeting will deal with the possibility of fields in the San Joaquin Valley absorbing a portion of this flow. So far, no field in the State has shown sufficient decline to enable its operators to alleviate the situation in other sections of the State, it is asserted. The general committee meeting Saturday is scheduled for 10 a.m. and will probably take the greater part of the day.

Two Fish Jobs in Progress on Maricopa Flat

MARICOPA, Aug. 3. (Exclusive) North American Consolidated has two fishing jobs at Maricopa Flat. The company's Kerckhoff No. 2 on Section 8, 11-23, with bottom at 4420 feet, is fishing for a baller. Eight and five-eighth-inch casing is cemented at 3505 feet.

Another fishing job is under way at North American's Kerckhoff No. 6, with bottom at 3520 feet.

GOLETA SEARCH FOR OIL WANES

Only One Project Reported Drilling in Area

Lack of Promising Showings Given as Reason

Ring Test Abandoned; Lease of Tract Surrendered

With the exception of the General Petroleum Corporation's More No. 3 on the More ranch near Goleta, all operations in that vicinity have been halted due to failure to find promising indications.

According to an announcement yesterday, the Ring Oil Company has abandoned More No. 1, due northwest of General's More No. 1 and No. 2, and has quitclaimed 340 acres. Ring states that no new activity is contemplated, because of the failure of this project to find oil showings in the Vaqueros formation.

Failure of Ring's test leaves General's More No. 3 as the one active project at present near Goleta. Its More No. 3 is building derrick and will be drilling soon. The fact that Ring went to 5570 feet and failed to find oil showings may indicate that General intends to drill through the Vaqueros and into the Sespe, and perhaps tap the Tejon zone for a genuine deep test.

To reach the Sespe, Ring estimated that he would have to drill at least 3000 feet deeper in More No. 1. It is believed that General will not be required to go so deep because More No. 3 is thought to be higher on the structure. It is 3000 feet southeast of the Ring project.

Hartman Gold Taken Over by Big Jim Mines

OATMAN (Ariz.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Big Jim Mines, Inc., has taken over a large part of the property of the Hartman Gold Mines Company, the acquired ground joining Big Jim on the northeast side line, in northwest projection of the line of the strike in the Black Eagle Tom Reed property.

Manager A. G. Keating of Los Angeles plans that exploration will be pushed northwesterly extending crosscuts already to the former Hartman line. Retimbering of the Big Jim shaft has passed below the 300 level. From the rehabilitated 400 level lateral work is to be driven to the northeast where there is expectation of entry of an important ore zone.

Local interest attaches to Big Jim through the fact that the mine originally was developed by Mr. Keating and J. W. Henderson, now in charge, and that they sold to the United Eastern Mining Company. The latter is reputed to have taken $5,000,000 from above the 600 level.

HOBBS COMPLETIONS SLOW

Two Weeks Pass Without Addition to Producing Wells and None Expected Soon

ARTESIA (N. M.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Two weeks have passed without a single new completion in the Hobbs oil field, and with little prospect for any new development immediately. Hazards of deep drilling have made the progress of the wells nearing the oil zone slow. Casing in more than half of the wells in the field has been cemented, either at the base of the salt or at the big gas zone usually found from 3800 to 3900 feet. Several tests which are expected to be drilled in within the next week will boost the potential production of the area to a point near the 200,000-barrel mark, unless unforeseen difficulties develop.

The possibility that a deep test may be made of the Landreth-Maljamar State No. 1 on Sec. 33, 18-38, in the north Hobbs field, developed when the drill passed 4235 feet without encountering oil. Two small showings of salt water have been found and oil men now believe that the State No. 1 may be carried to 5000 feet before more salt water develops. It now seems that this test has defined part of the north limit of the Hobbs sector, it being approximately two miles north of production.

It is reported that some of the producing companies are dissatisfied with the method of establishing the potential production under the proration agreement in the Hobbs pool. One company is said to have objected to the practice of taking potential gauges through three-inch tubing. According to reports there is little danger that proration in the pool will be discarded. On the contrary, practically all of the operators believe that curtailment of production is a permanent arrangement, but anticipate that some changes may be made in determining the potentials.

Development of the Hobbs field is proceeding at an orderly rate and further evidence that the producing companies intend to drill up the field is shown in the fact that several new wells have recently been started in the field, bringing up to thirty the total number since proration went into effect.

Two casinghead gasoline plants have added considerably to the construction activity in the Hobbs area. The $750,000 plant of the Shell Petroleum Company near Shell's McKinley No. 1 well on Sec. 19, 19-38, is well under way. It will be of the ten-unit type and may be enlarged almost as soon as completed. The Phillips Petroleum Company will soon finish laying gathering lines for its natural gasoline plant near Hobbs, preparatory to actual construction of plant.

A three months' fishing job was finished in the Stevens No. 1 of the Flynn, Welch & Yates Oil Company on Sec. 13, 17-30, in eastern Eddy county, when workmen succeeded in drilling past tools hung up at 3200 feet. The fishing job developed just after a porous limestone was encountered, and the hole filled several hundred feet with oil.

One of the biggest gas wells yet brought in at Hobbs has been developed in the Bowers No. 4 of the Humble Oil and Refining Company on Sec. 30, 18-38, at 3693 feet. The flow measures 75,000,000 cubic feet on the gauge and strengthens the prospect of obtaining big production at approximately 4100 feet.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Chiefly Pyrite

HALLOYSITE (Ariz.) July 12.—Question: Am sending sample for identification. Found here in Apache county. Thanking you. X.

Answer: The sample also contains spots of peacock iron, and traces of peacock copper ore, (bornite.) Lead a trace, with zinc in low percentage and magnetite, which can be lifted with a magnet, occurs in traces. Not tested for gold or silver.

"Mystery Metal"

LOS ANGELES, July 12. — Q.: The sample of rock is from the Eureka mine, located in the Illinois mining district near Selma, Ore. You will notice a white substance in the ore. A German engineer, who claims to represent the Krupp people in Germany, says that the metal I speak of is what they call "mystery metal." I got this second-hand, as he never told me. He claims that the metal is a combination of platinum, iridium, osmium, copper and gold. X.

A.: There are three forks of the Illinois River in Oregon. Why is it, if such fake platinum ore carries the elements you refer to that no shipment of the stuff has ever been made to Germany—in any big quantity? The sample carries traces only of microscopic pyrite; microscopic peacock iron a trace; chalcopyrite (iron-copper sulphide) traces, with iron oxides, silica, mica and baryte traces. The sample probably represents rock of very doubtful commercial value.

Flour Gold Traces

LOS ANGELES, July 13—Q: Inclosed please find sample of ore-bearing quartz, taken at a point about six miles south of Oatman, Ariz. It is thought to be from same vein and strata as the Tom Reed. Please examine for fine gold and oblige. X.

A.: The two samples were analyzed together, and very great care was given to the pulp. The concentrates were analyzed, and microscopic examination made, resulting in the finding of traces of flour gold, with two microscop-crystals of pyrite.

Flake Platinum Absent

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Q.: Am sending you three rock samples. No. 1 is a garnet. Does it contain any tungsten, and are the red crystals of any value for jewelry? No. 2 is hornblende; does it contain any platinum or valuable minerals? No. 3 is a gray rock with a silvery-white mineral; any platinum or gold? Is there any demand for Allanite? I have a big deposit of this mineral. I am an old subscriber of The Times. S.

A.: Glad to know that you are one of the many old subscribers of The Times. There is no tungsten in sample No. 1; it shows small crystals of iron-aluminum garnet in a ground mass of garnetyte. The crystals are natively cemented in the rock and cannot be separated without breakage. No. 2 and No. 3 carry no flake platinum, and No. 3 is also garnetyte, (garnet rock) showing some red algea, and micaceous iron (hematite.) Regarding Allanite. All depends on the grade.

Tin Absent

BAKERSFIELD, July 14—Q.: Am sending you a sample of rock which I would like to have analyzed and classified especially for tin. Will watch for your report through In the Earth column of The Times. J.

A.: The sample is hornblende rock, and flake platinum is absent. Microscopical micaceous iron in low percentage found.

Free Gold Absent

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—Q: Will you please analyze the inclosed samples, which were taken from Malibu Mountains. Thanks for past favors. T.

A.: No. 1 carries hematite, limonite, and microscopic traces of pyrite. No. 2 is chiefly low-grade limonite; pyrite traces, and microscopic micaceous iron found in traces. Both samples might carry low gold values by fire-assay returns.

Strontium Indicated

DAGGETT, July 17.—Q.: By parcels post I am sending samples for analyses. They may contain kaolinite, cyanite or platinum. F.

A.: The samples were received loosened from their numbered wrappers. The five gray and white ones are limestone carrying traces of microscopic pyrite, blende, traces, (zinc sulphide) and the three others showing red, white and gray colors are mixtures of calcite, some pyrite, and zinc in low percentage.

Three Samples

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—Q.: Enclosed please find three samples from Santa Barbara county. Thanking you in advance for qualitative analyses and for past favors. S.

A.: Sample No. 1—brownish, white, green and yellow is a mixture of limonite, greenish iron silicate, clay and silica. It is too small for satisfactory tests. No. 2 is impure silica, iron present, and the other No. 2 (which should have been No. 3) is porphyritic rock mixed with more or less iron and manganese.

Quartzitic Rock

LOMITA, July 17.—Q.: Can you give me a classification of what this ore contains? It is from the northwest part of San Bernardino county, near Pilot Knob. J. W. M.

A.: The sample carries approximately 4.50 per cent copper, and should give low values in silver by fire assay returns.

Cinnabar Absent

SAN LUIS OBISPO, July 18.—Q.: Please analyze this sample for gold and platinum. It comes from near Pozo, San Luis Obispo county. H.

A.: The sample is an altered rock stained with hematite. Microscopic pyrite, and microscopical mica, both found in traces. Flake platinum and native gold are not present. For other gold values please consult assayers.

Altered Rock

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Q.: Will you please tell me whether there is anything of value in this rock. Please state if it carries any mercury or cinnabar. D.

A.: The particular sample is greatly altered and now in the form of sedimentary matter. It is too small in quantity for a definite analysis. It consists of reddish turgite (ochre) in streaks, lime carbonate, and soda, each in low percentage and carries no metallic mercury.

Native Gold Absent

LANCASTER, July 16.—Q.: I found this rock on south fork of Big Rock Creek, about seven miles from Mountain Filling Station. The claim is known as the Eureka. H.

A.: One of the two samples is impure silica; iron present. The other sample is porphyritic rock containing iron oxides.

Four Samples

PERRIS, July 17. — Q.: I am sending you samples taken from hills south of Perris. Please analyze them for me. W.

A.: Sample No. 1 is impure silica stained with hematite and carrying traces of microscopic pyrite. Iron sulphate traces. No. 2 is black tourmaline (common schorl variety.) No. 3 is a gritty clay of doubtful value, and No. 4 is quartzitic rock mixed with limonite.

SURVEYORS PICKING GAS LINE ROUTE

Engineers in Lordsburg Area Locating Project From Texas Field

LORDSBURG (N. M.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—Engineering crews are working near here locating the line of the new gas main that is to supply from the Texas field new fuel to the Clifton and Douglas smelters. Completion is to be early in 1931. Announcement has been made that the Chino works of Nevada Consolidated, at Hurley, will not be connected, but will continue to use Gallup coal.

Construction and development work is being pushed at Pierro, Hanover and Pinos Altos on properties of the United States Copper Company, under superintendence of J. T. Janes. About $500,000 will be expended.

The milling plant of the Lehigh Metals Company at Mogollon is being remodeled. The corporation has headquarters in Scranton, Pa. In Socorro county, Kenneth Hughes is shipping twenty-five tons of zinc-lead-silver ore a day from a Kelly property owned by the Empire Zinc Company.

Twenty ounces gold per ton is the asserted value of a pay streak in a vein cut in the Snake and Opportunity mines at Hillsboro. There had been drifting on the vein for 200 feet. Dredging equipment is to be installed on the Gold Dust placer property near Hillsboro, where ten men now are employed. At the head of the operating corporation is B. H. Mason of Los Angeles.

Pioneer Globe Copper Estate to Close Down

GLOBE (Ariz.) Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—There is report that Arizona Commercial is preparing to permanently close its mines here after many years of profitable operation. There has been output for the first six months of this year of 1,750,000 pounds of copper, with stock on hand of metal valued at $643,300. The mine has equipment of a modern concentrator, from which concentrates have been shipped to the Miami smelter.

At Hayden, a fine crushing plant is being installed in the works of the American Smelting and Refining Company. Repair work on the Hayden mill of the Ray branch of Nevada Consolidated recently caused several days of shutdown both in the mill and in the mines at Ray.

At Ray, Dan F. Roseman is tunneling 300 feet on a six-foot gold-copper ledge in the Monitor group. Horn silver is reported to have been found at twenty feet depth in sinking on the ledge.

KEYSTONE ACQUIRES McMILLAN PLACERS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The Keystone Divide Company has acquired the McMillan placers in the Magalia district and plans comprehensive development of the gravel deposits. The property is believed to contain a part of the Mammoth channel. The Keystone plans to center activities on the new property after vain attempts to develop producers in other fields of California and Nevada.

TULARE ALTERS OPINION OF OIL

Showings Once Regarded as Unfortunate

First Good Well Brings on Drilling Rush

Change Reminds Pioneer of Early Experience

The first commercial oil well to put out sufficient oil in Tulare county to bring about a drilling campaign has resulted in so much comment that pioneers who have closely watched developments in the county recall the time when the smell of oil on fresh-water creeks was considered a misfortune.

As a result of the first commercial producer brought in by the Terra Bella Oil Company a few miles south of Porterville, an incident of considerable interest in connection with the discovery is recalled by G. B. Moore of Lindsay.

According to Mr. Moore, who in the early '90s cared for Pat Cunningham's ranch between Porterville and Terra Bella along Deer Creek, when the Cunningham sheep were brought back from the mountains in the fall they were driven past a spring or water seepage which lay in the hills a short distance from the creek. Although famished for water as a result of their long drive, the sheep could not be induced to drink because of the heavy scum of oil covering the water. The sheep went on to Deer Creek to get water.

Sheep herders were well acquainted with this spring and to the stock's aversion to it. According to Moore, and since the discoveries of oil at Terra Bella, he wonders if this seepage was not the first indication that oil might be found in that district. Petroleum in the early days was not considered much more than a nuisance and such indications of oil attracted no particular attention.

New drilling locations in the Terra Bella field are being made one and two miles east of the original discovery, and it is now believed that the showings found at Lola and near Terra Bella may be found in the foothills close to the water hole the sheep used to avoid.

Round Mountain Oil Production Exceeds Quota

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 3. (Exclusive)—The Round Mountain district's overproduction totaled 1610 barrels of oil during June under the State-wide curtailment program. Total production was 113,353 barrels.

Honolulu and Shell oil companies were the only two active producers. Honolulu, on Sec. 18, 28-28, and Sec. 20, 28-29, produced 9286 barrels during June, or sixty barrels under its allottment. Shell's overproduction was 1670 barrels.

On Sec. 29, 28-29, at Round Mountain Shell produced 31,409 barrels, or 1677 barrels underproduction. Shell's Jewett No. 2 lease on Sec. 29, 28-29, put out 39,974 barrels, or 3069 barrels overproduction. The company's Jewett No. 3 lease on Sec. 19, 28-29, produced 32,672 barrels, or 278 barrels over the allotment.

ADVANCE SEEN IN SEA TRADE

General Steamship Review Has Optimistic Note

Indications of Upward Trend Set Forth in Survey

Lassco Flagship Due from Hawaii Tomorrow

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

The bottom has been reached and the turning point for shipping appears at hand, according to General Steamship Corporation's chartering department, in a review covering the entire range of seaborne commerce and routes.

No immediate meteoric rise in freights is anticipated, but the review forecasts a general trend upward to a more profitable basis.

"This opinion can be supported," it states, "by the fact that there will be bountiful Pacific crops to be moved this fall, and with the commodity prices at low levels such as they are today, the long-heralded and seasonal movement is reasonably expected."

The list of eastern fixtures and rates already indicates improvement, and is declared "a heartening influence on Pacific shippers and operators."

Coming at a time when some of the seaborne trades are off almost 40 per cent, and on top of the threat of Fourth Section Relief for railroads on long hauls, the review is definitely cheering.

The lay-up of cargo carriers in the intercoastal trade continues but it is believed this will be halted in another month, when the seasonal shipment of Pacific fruits gets under way. Excepting lumber it is one of the largest eastward movements and, because of current low prices, belief is that the volume will be proportionately greater.

HUNDRED TRAVELERS COMING FROM ISLANDS

Lassco's flagship City of Los Angeles is due tomorrow with more than 100 passengers and a rich cargo from Hawaii. She will sail back next Saturday, making two more round voyages to Hawaii before diverging for the annual cruise around Central and South America October 9.

Disembarking tomorrow will be Rear-Admiral Archibald L. Parsons, U.S.N., chief of docks, returning to Washington after inspecting Pearl Harbor; Thomas R. Monroe, financier of Houston, Tex.; John S. Drever, picturesque sea captain of the Solomon Islands; John B. T. Campbell, editor of the Los Angeles Herald, and Eugene Swarzwald, publisher of Beverly Hills.

On the South American cruise the travelers will visit approximately forty points of interest, returning December 16. Aboard the liner will resume its Hawaii-Los Angeles run. A number of easterners are booked to join the ship at Balboa for the cruise into Latin waters.

Headed by Carl Hayden, United States Senator from Arizona, seventy-eight passengers arrived from New York yesterday aboard the Dollar globe-circling liner President Adams, which also brought 1500 tons of cargo for discharge here. Other travelers included Lieutenant-Commander R. N. S. Baker, U.S.N., en route to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; Charles Schimmer, New York broker, and Dr. and Mrs. I. O. Davidson of Los Angeles. The liner will load 1500 tons and embark forty travelers before sailing west today. Among them are Mrs. S. Grace Harlow, Los Angeles author, en route around the world, and a score of missionaries en route to the Orient.

Europe, Latin America and possibly the Orient will hear more about Los Angeles Harbor, due to a program of publicity and advertising being outlined by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Trade possibilities here and in the area tributary to the city are to be told in advertisements to be placed in selected foreign publications.

More than fifty shipping men of Los Angeles and the harbor have booked reservations for the annual joint meeting next Friday at San Diego of the San Diego and San Pedro Marine Service bureaus. Capt. Walter J. Peterson, general manager of all bureaus on the Coast, also will be down from San Francisco. The meeting, to be called at 1 p.m., will adjourn to Agua Caliente for an evening banquet at which Gov. Tapia is expected to be present.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Bokuyo Maru is due today from the Orient, with more than 300 passengers, most of whom are bound for South American colonization projects. Also in today will be the Hamburg-American motor liner Portland from Germany with thirty-five travelers, and the Libera liner Leme to load passengers and freight for Italy.

Irving Koppel of Koppel Brothers, weighers, at 105 West C street, Wilmington, underwent an operation for appendicitis early yesterday at Torrance Hospital, and is reported out of danger.

The French tanker Brumaire made its initial appearance here yesterday, arriving from Balboa to load gasoline at Shell's dock under charter to the Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company. She will sail tomorrow for Land's End for orders, according to Felician Landier, agent.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.
Fireside, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"The Big Pond."
Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"Lucrezia Borgia," a beautifully photographed pageant of the renaissance made in Italy with Conrad Veidt.
Forum, 7th at Norton—"Bride of the Regiment." A spectacular musicale about nothing much. Vivienne Segal.
Fox Wilshire, Broadway at Seventh—"Way Out West." William Haines is his usual rollicking self in a breezy melodrama.
Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"The Big Pond." Maurice Chevalier comes to bat in a big way in this production.
Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Dixiana." Bebe Daniels in a musical something of the South and of very uncertain brilliance.
Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"Hearts in Exile." Dolores Costello in more beautiful suffering.
Uptown, Western at Tenth—"The Divorcee."

Twelve claims in Green Valley district near Payson have been purchased from Virginia J. Harris by the Consolidated Arizona Mines, Inc.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Al final del segundo párrafo del artículo de "Blanco y Negro" que estamos comentando, léese lo siguiente: "Y además, la media España que se encuentra ahora en Sevilla: la aristocracia de Madrid, el todo Bilbao pudiente . . . etc., etc."

Eso de "el todo Bilbao pudiente" tiene tan acentuado dejo gallicado que no puede menos de ofender el paladar de los devotos del español limpio y castizo. Es locución que a cada paso encontramos en las novelas y periódicos franceses: "le tout Paris mondain", "le tout Paris des premieres", etc., y que, sin sentir, se viene a los puntos de la pluma de escritores empapados en letras francesas, quienes, sin más ni más, suelen traduciria literalmente a su lengua natal. En el caso actual, sin alarmar a los de culto hablar, pudo el escritor haber dicho con toda propiedad, "todo el Bilbao pudiente".

La verdad es que en el uso moderno se atiende de preferencia a la terminación, y así lo hace notar la Academia Española en su Gramática, al hablar sobre este punto. Nos dice así: Los nombres propios de reinos, provincias, ciudades, y todos los que significan poblaciones o extensión mayor o menor de territorio, siguen, por lo común, el género de su terminación; por ejemplo: "España es sobria; Guipúzcoa, húmeda; Bilbao, industrioso". Los nombres de población que por sus terminaciones pudieran corresponder a cualquiera de los dos géneros, como "Madrid", "Calatayud", "Jérez" y otros muchos, son, por lo regular, masculinos. Hay pueblos conocidamente del género masculino o femenino por su terminación, y que no obstante se usan como si fueran del género opuesto; v.gr.: "la gran Toledo"; "todo Málaga"; pero consiste en que allí se sobrentiende la voz "ciudad" y aquí la de "pueblo".

Tan caprichoso es el uso en lo que respecta al género de los nombres de poblaciones modernas, que no es raro ver con artículo masculino aun los de aquellas que de suyo llevan ya un adjetivo femenino: "El Nueva York moderno es anombroso"; "El Nueva Orleans de hace veinte años era un tanto licencioso". Claro está que cabe usar aquí el artículo femenino, y quizá sea lo más propio, si bien el uso del masculino no disuena.

En el tercer párrafo de su artículo nos dice el señor Spottorno y Topete que "comienza la cosa (la fiesta) a las doce de la mañana en las casetas de la feria . . . entre dos chatos de manzanilla con sus inevitables tapas . . . "

Entre otras cosas, se da en Andalucía el nombre de "manzanilla" a dos productos alimenticios sabrosísimos: un vino blanco, parecido al jérez, que se elabora en distintas partes de la citada región, pero particularmente en Sanlúcar de Barrameda; y una deliciosa aceituna pequeña de color verde pálido. El "chato" es un vaso bajo y ancho que se usa en las tabernas para beber vino, especialmente manzanilla. En cuanto a las tapas, son bocaditos de diversas cosas saladas y más o menos secas, que como el parroquiano en la taberna para mantener viva la sed y hacer más gratos los tragos de vino, como hace el bebedor de cerveza con los "pretzels". En las tabernas andaluzas le ponen a uno para ese fin, pedacitos de queso, rodajitas de salchichón y chorizo seco, rajitas de jamón serrano, boquerones, camarones, gambas, cangrejos, langostinos, etc. Se forma uno idea cabal de la naturaleza y fines de las deliciosas tapas leyendo el siguiente pasaje del romance festivo de los Quinteros, intitulado "La historia de Sevilla":

Y ya está. Con cuatro tablas, —
Cuatro bancos, cuatro mesas, — Dos barriles, una tina, — Un gato, dos ratones, — Dose chatos, dose cañas — Y dos carteles de feria, — Abrió el establecimiento, — Y así fue y puso en la muestra, — En latín, que era el idioma—Que en tiempos se hablaba en "Serva": — "Aquí hay jérez, hay casaya,—Mansaniya sanluqueña, — Vino blanco der Condao — Y unas tapas que marean." — "Tapas" son boqueronsitos, — Rajitas de cosas buenas, — Asitunas, queso, gambas . . . — "Empapantes", según Seneca, — Que era de Córdoba y luvo — La grasia que tiene er Guerra.

En mi próxima Plática seguiré comentando en la forma acostumbrada el artículo de Blanco y Negro.

WORLD PHONE LINES EXPAND

Radio Makes Possible Wide Communication System

Additions Forced by Heavy Demand on Service

Coast Station will Contact Distant Pacific Points

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Stuart Buchanan and Miss Mary Duckett in two radio playlets; George Kerr, mandolin solos. World Wide News 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Ambitious hopes held for many years by American telephone engineers for the establishment of a world-wide telephone service are rapidly being brought to fruition through the medium of radio, by means of which in little more than three years more than 86 per cent of the world's telephones have been made available to subscribers in any one of a number of countries with which international service is maintained.

That there was a well-defined desire on the part of the people for service of this nature, according to telephone company officials, is amply proven by the fact that although there are now three short-wave and one long-wave two-way circuits between New York and London, plans are already under way for expansion of the facilities to meet the ever-growing traffic. Two projects are actively under way, one the establishment of a fifth two-way radio circuit using a long-wave and the other, a submarine telephone cable. There is also under way the establishment of a radio telephone station on the Pacific Coast, near San Francisco, through which it is planned to extend service to the Hawaiian Islands and possibly to Australia, the Philippine Islands and the Far Eastern countries.

The dogs will be entered in the coming Los Angeles show. They recently were exhibited at Nice and Cannes abroad.

FILM FIGHT DOCKETED FOR TODAY

"Dawn Patrol" Producers to Answer Show Cause Order in Pirating Charge

Warner Brothers, First National Pictures, Inc., several individuals and subsidiary companies of the two concerns will appear today through their representatives before United States District Judge Cosgrave to answer to an order to show cause why an injunction should not be issued against them to prevent further exhibition of the film play, "The Dawn Patrol."

The plaintiff in the action, the Caddo Company, Ltd., charges that the defendants produced and are exhibiting "The Dawn Patrol," which, it is asserted, was taken from "Hell's Angels," and two other stories. Infringement of the copyright on "Hell's Angels" is charged.

Hearing on a similar order will also be given by Judge Cosgrave in the injunction suit brought by Gainsborough Pictures, Ltd., Welsh, Pearson and Elder, Ltd.; and R. C. Sheriff against the same defendants. The plaintiffs in this action assert that substantial parts of "Journey's End" were used in producing "The Dawn Patrol." It is charged that the producers of "The Dawn Patrol," not only pirated from "Journey's End," but from the book "War Birds," as well.

Capacity Signs Ordered for Fishing Boats

As a result of the Ameco disaster last May, although no reference was made to it, the Playground and Recreation Commission has instructed Frank De Long, proprietor of two fishing boats which have the concession at the Cabrillo Pier, that he must place in conspicuous places on the boats signs which tell their maximum capacity. While posting of such signs is not required by law, Superintendent Hoyt of the department advised the commission that in his opinion it is a highly desirable safety measure.

The superintendent also advised the commission that the two boats have been gone over by Capt. S. A. Kennedy, inspector of hulls for the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, and the commission has instructed De Long to comply immediately with the inspector's recommendations.

HUTCHINSON CRASH WILL DELAY HOP

Spectator Injured When Plane Falls Found to be Not Fatally Hurt

George Hutchinson, whose Lockheed monoplane crashed Saturday during a test flight at Los Angeles Municipal Airport, causing serious injury to a spectator, said yesterday that $2000 damage had been done to his plane and that his departure for New York to commence a trans-Atlantic flight will be delayed two weeks. He had intended leaving yesterday.

Mrs. George W. Johnson of 630 North Alpine Driv , Beverly Hills, wife of the vice-president of the Federal Oil Company of California, is suffering from scalp lacerations and a fractured vertebrae, Dr. Z. W. Fate, her physician said yesterday, but will recover.

Hutchinson stated the accident was caused by his unfamiliarity with the new plane. He explained that the brakes and rudder on the Lockheed have a dual control, whereas on the planes that he had flown previously there is a single set of foot pedals.

Lockheed is building a large low-wing monoplane for two Hungarian flyers, Capt. Alexander Magyar and his co-pilot, Lieut. Eudres, to be used in an attempt to fly from New York to Hungary. Previous plans of Magyar called for the start to be made from Detroit.

The ship is to be flown in its first test flights at the Lockheed field tomorrow. It is a Sirius type plane similar to the one recently purchased by Lindbergh.

Orders call for the name "Justice for Hungary" and a large Hungarian coat of arms to be painted on the sides of the craft. The ship may be prepared for a hop-off the latter part of this month.

CANAL DAM WORK PUSHED

Preliminaries on Madden Structure Well Under Way, Senator Hayden Reports on Arrival Here

The new $12,000,000 Madden Dam, destined to eliminate for all time a possible shortage of water in the Panama Canal locks, is so far advanced that actual pouring of the concrete will begin within the year, it was stated yesterday as United States Senator Hayden of Arizona arrived at the local port aboard the Dollar round-the-world liner President Adams from an inspection trip over the dam site.

Another immense governmental project in the Canal Zone which is progressing rapidly, he said, is an immense army aviation establishment and flying field on the Pacific side of the zone, hitherto without an aerial base of any magnitude.

As a member of the Senate Committee on Appropriations for the nation's territories and insular possessions, Senator Hayden proceeded to Panama immediately following adjournment of Congress to inspect progress on the two gigantic undertakings for which his committee had recommended the necessary money.

The Madden Dam, said Senator

Cemetery Zone Plea Up Today

A hearing on the application of the Hollywood Cemetery Association for a change of zone to permit it to develop some of its Santa Monica frontage between Van Ness avenue and Gower street for restricted business purposes will be conducted this afternoon by the City Planning Committee of the City Council.

The change of zone already has the approval of the City Planning Commission.

JULY ADDS MANY NEW FACTORIES

Month's Total Large as Seen in Chamber Survey

Four More Plants Make City Midget Radio Center

Ice Cream Concern to Cool San Fernando Valley

New manufacturing plants reported in the Chamber of Commerce industrial survey for July include a wide variety of merchandise as their products. Four new concerns manufacturing "midget" radio sets were listed, which with ten already established has brought the center of this type of radio equipment to Los Angeles.

An addition to the publishing business of Los Angeles county was made during July with the opening of the new plant of the Arthur H. Clark Company, 1214 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale. The firm has been prominent in its field for many years in Cleveland, O., and Arthur H. Clark, the head of the company, brought with him from Cleveland sixteen executives and skilled craftsmen.

RADIO SETS MADE

The Davison-Haynes Manufacturing Company, 2044 Venice Boulevard, in July began the manufacture of a radio set under its trade name of Angelus. The product will be distributed throughout the United States, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, New Zealand, Mexico and Europe.

Another factory making a similar type of material, the Waltham Radio Corporation, recently opened at 4228 South Vermont avenue with 2600 square feet of floor space and employing thirty-five persons.

One of the new plants making the midget sets, that of Brown & Manhart, 6219 South Hoover street, was opened during July with eight employees.

The small radios of R. W. Gilbert, 2357 West Washington Boulevard, are now distributed throughout the United States. The factory started production during July.

POTASH CONCERN

Licensed to manufacture under the Kreias process, the Agricultural Potassium Phosphate Company of California during July, acquired the Harbor plant of the American Potash and Chemical Company. The company will manufacture commercial fertilizer.

With an hourly production of seventy gallons of ice cream, the Bream Ice Cream Company, 11154 McCormick street, North Hollywood, opened its plant during July for distribution of the delicacy in San Fernando Valley.

A factory for the production of a new type of bake-oven was opened by the Industrial Inventions Manufacturing Company, 127 East Avenue 26. The company will also make several advertising specialties.

INK COMPOUND

Robert R. Ferguson, 4332 Sunset Boulevard, during July started the manufacture of a new ink compound which will be sold under the trade name of Inxet. He will also make a drier to be used in connection with the ink.

Heading the list of announced expansions to existing manufacturing plants in the Los Angeles territory was that of the Ford Motor Company at Wilmington with a $150,000 addition to its present plant for the production of fenders, wheels, gears and running boards. The new building will be opened February 1, next.

The J. H. Baxter Company has recently completed construction of a pressure creosoting tank at its San Pedro plant. The retort is eight feet in diameter and 102 feet long. This will be followed by the construction of a similar unit of the same diameter but 137 feet long and both will be used for the treatment of piling, poles and ties.

Vegetized Foods, Inc., has under way an expansion program at its Burbank plant which will include the addition of 17,000 square feet of floor space. When the new building is completed the offices of the company will be moved to the factory and twenty-five additional employees will be engaged.

Started in 1924 as a one-man cabinet shop, the Cooke Cabinet Manufacturing Company during July completed a new factory at 7110 McKinley avenue. The factory produces interior fixtures for banks and stores.

Work will be started during Sep-

HERE COMES THE BRIDE!

Film Star Weds Director Wednesday

Dolores Del Rio and Her Fiance, Cedric Gibbons

NOW that they have filed their notice of intention to marry, Dolores Del Rio, motion-picture actress, and Cedric Gibbons, art director in films, are counting the remaining days until they can be married. They plan on the ceremony Wednesday at Santa Barbara, where they applied for the license.

The wedding is to be a quiet affair with only a small group of their intimate friends present. It is likely they will not take a honeymoon until later because both will be engaged in their work at the studio for several weeks.

Miss Del Rio last week announced her engagement, which culminated a romance of three months.

Two Victims of Accidents in Traffic Die

Two deaths, the result of auto mishaps, were reported here yesterday. Rae Ellen Calland, 2½ years of age, 3214 Garden street, died in the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital at Glendale following an accident at 129 South Hogue street, Glendale.

Ray Seals, 28, 1132 Orme avenue, died at the Angelus Hospital last night as the result of an inquiry received Friday when he was injured while riding with a friend. Seals was asleep at the time of the crash.

Bernard Swanson, 52 years of age, of 5043 Huntington Drive, was struck by a hit-and-run motorist yesterday while crossing Huntington Drive at Tananpico street.

When taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital he was found to have suffered possible internal injuries and concussion of the brain. He was transferred to General Hospital, and is in a critical condition.

COUNCIL PURCHASES INDIAN PAINTINGS

Mayor Porter Undecided on License Agreement for Paving Company

For the past month Major Porter has had upon his desk, awaiting his signature or rejection, the license agreement whereby the Warren Brothers Paving Company will continue to operate in Los Angeles. The license agreement has been approved, in accordance with charter provisions, by the Board of Public Works and by two-thirds of the City Council. In the case of Warrenite, thirteen Councilmen voted favorably. If the Mayor rejects the license agreement, the Warrenite backers have no recourse, but will be eliminated in the city.

Mayor Porter explains that his action on Warrenite will decide the fate of all patented paving in Los Angeles. Of the five patented paving companies, the license agreements of two others besides Warrenite expire this summer, while another expires two years hence, with the American Bitumuls Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of California, operating until June 27, 1934.

The license agreements permit property owners to petition for a certain type of paving, the Council having the authority to pass upon the matter and change the type, if deemed necessary.

Ape Film Suit Fight Up Today

United States District Judge Cosgrave today will hear arguments on a motion to quash and annul attempted service of summons in the suit of Congo Pictures, Ltd., which produced the screen play, "Ingagi," against Will H. Hays and the Motion Picture Producers Distributors of America.

The plaintiff in the action seeks damages because, it is asserted, it suffered great loss when the defendants placed a ban upon the exhibition of the film "Ingagi."

NEW CINEMA PROCESS TO REVOLUTIONIZE ART

GEORGE K SPOOR

Development of a new motion-picture process that will show subjects with the stereoscopic effect of natural vision was announced here yesterday by George K. Spoor, one of the pioneers of the motion-picture industry, who said that the first public showing of the new film will be made in Los Angeles September 15.

The new film showing will be the culmination of fourteen years of experimentation, Mr. Spoor said, and will reveal radical changes in technical methods of cinema production, starting with a new type of camera and leading through all of the developing and printing stages.

Last night he described his new camera as one with two lenses which record the photographic image through a single aperture of the film. The photographic image as it appears on the film is, however, slightly staggered, so that when it is again projected on the screen the effect of natural vision depth is attained.

A further development in the projection of the new film process is contained in the time allowed for the single image to appear behind the lens. Mr. Spoor has perfected a new projection principle which allows each image to dissolve into the next, eliminating wavering on the screen.

Final tests on the first picture to be shown will be made today in the projection rooms of R.-K.-O. studios, which has acquired the rights to the new process. According to present plans, Mr. Spoor said, the first public showing will be made at the R.-K.-O. Theater.

The process has a radically different method of sound recording, made on the edge of the film instead of on the surface.

Cameras for making natural-vision pictures in full color will be completed by the first of the year, Mr. Spoor said, and this process also will be different from any in use at the present time.

Mr. Spoor formerly was president of the old Essanay Film Company in the pioneer days of the motion-picture industry in California. According to his statement last night, his fourteen years of experimentation with the new camera process has entailed an outlay of $7,000,000.

BOARD CHOICES STIR COMMENT

Mayor Porter's Hand Seen in Election of Heads

Bulk of Honors Given to Cryer Appointees

Executive Thought Rallying Antirecall Support

The fact that in the annual organization of the seventeen municipal commissions, thirteen of former Mayor Cryer's appointees were elected to head the boards for the ensuing year, while only four of Mayor Porter's nominees were thus honored, is causing considerable comment about the City Hall.

It is attracting comment especially because the Mayor is known to have taken a hand in the selection of several of the presidents and it is believed very unlikely that a commission would select a head contrary to his wishes. While Mayor Porter has been in office but one year, he has had two appointments to each commission, and the wholesale wave of resignations during the year has placed him in a commanding position in practically all departments.

CRYER APPOINTEES

The new presidents who were first appointed by former Mayor Cryer are Hugh J. McGuire, Board of Public Works; W. G. Thorpe, Police; E. R. Werdin, Fire; Perry Thomas, Planning; Walter B. Allen, Harbor; Dr. John R. Haynes, Water and Power; Mrs. Mabel Socha, Parks; Stewart Laughlin, Art; Orra Monnette, Library; Kimpton Ellis, Civil Service; Irving Hellman, Pension; F. O. Bradbury, Humane, and Thomas A. J. Dockweiler, Social Service.

The Porter appointees elected are W. C. Harvey, Health; Robert H. Orr, Building and Safety; Harry B. Lamport, Playground and Recreation, and Mark C. Sutton, Public Utilities.

"It's no less than astonishing," said one practical City Hall politician, "when we recall that a year ago, when Porter went into office, his cohorts were broadcasting demands for a wholesale 'clean-up' at the City Hall. It seemed that the entire list of Cryer appointees were scheduled to walk the plank and to be replaced by Porter adherents.

RECALL FIGHT FORESEEN

"And now quite a number of the Cryer appointees, to whom no quarter was to be shown, appear in positions of honor, and not without the aid and assistance of Mayor Porter either.

"The purpose of this action is generally conceded to be a preparation for the recall fight against Porter, which is scheduled for next spring. Mayor Porter is consolidating the old Cryer municipal machine about him to fight the recall. If he gets over that safely, then perhaps the Porter appointees will be in complete control after the 1931 organization.

"SNICKERS" SUSPECTED

"However, there is a widespread suspicion that the Cryer people are smiling in their sleeves at this move of Mayor Porter and won't be such a great help to him in the recall after all. They can't forget the opinions broadcast about them a year ago.

"Incidentally, the fact that Thorpe and Haynes were elected to head their commissions when their terms have expired and they have not been reappointed, is creating a lot of gossip. Five weeks have gone by and Mayor Porter hasn't indicated yet what he is going to do about their renominations. And here they are at the head of their boards. It's easier to shoot a private than it is a general, so maybe Porter plans to let them stay. A great uproar will follow his action in either reappointing them or dropping them. Perhaps Mayor Porter is hoping that something will happen to give him an excuse to act definitely, and perhaps he can't make up his mind, as in the case of the patented paving license agreement, which also has been on his desk a month."

GLOBE GIRDLER OFF TODAY

Los Angeles Flyer Hops to New York on Start of World-Circling Race Against Time

Flying a secretly-constructed Emsco high-winged monoplane, Ted S. Lundgren, well-known Los Angeles aviator, will take the air this morning at dawn on the first leg of a projected round-the-world flight that will include in its course the span of both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Lundgren hopes to make the globe circuit in fifteen days.

Lundgren will fly a plane that is similar to the one in which Lieut. Harold Bromley will attempt a trans-Pacific flight from Tokio to Seattle, but has an increased gasoline capacity and will carry 1100 gallons.

With an early start from Los Angeles this morning Lundgren will fly with the Emsco test pilot, W. L. Seiler, to Kansas City and thence to New York, where preparations will be made for an immediate start for Berlin, Germany. Seiler will leave the plane in New York and a pilot not yet selected will accompany Lundgren on the ocean trip, with the addition of a third mem-

Mme. Chevalier on Hurried Trip

Because of the serious illness of her mother, Mme. Maurice Chevalier, wife of the French film star, made a hurried departure yesterday over the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines. In New York Mme. Chevalier will make close connection with the steamship Berengaria, and will reach Paris in a little more than one week.

Mary Pickford and numerous other friends were at the Grand Central Air Terminal to bid good-by to the departing Parisienne.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE relatives of the aristocratic young English lady, Miss Gytha Stourton, do rightly and wisely to oppose her marriage to a butler. No matter how aristocratic one's training, it would be simply impossible to attempt to live up to the manners of a first-class butler.

ME AND THE BUTLER

One time a kindly gentleman loaned me his house and one of the equipments of the house was a trained butler. I solved the overwhelming problem of trying to live up to the butler by a scheme which, I flatter myself, showed considerable ingenuity. I just asked the butler, "What do I do now?" He was very tolerant and patient and did his best to educate me.

THE DOLLAR COMES BACK

The cost of living is dropping in Los Angeles—as elsewhere. We are going through a period of readjustment. When the dollar reaches the place where it can rest on its own feet, so to speak, conditions will improve.

The trouble has been that we have tried to keep the value of dollar down about as children play at trying to push a cork down to the bottom of the bathtub. It isn't really that prices are going down. The purchasing value of the dollar is returning to normal.

SPIES

That our plans for a new type of cruiser have "leaked out" means that some foreign spy has been patted on the back.

Except for the period of the World War there have never been so many spies in the world as right now. And don't ever imagine that this government is not as well equipped in that regard as the other countries.

RUTHLESSNESS

The lengths to which governments will go in supporting these spies is a horrible chapter. In Mexico, Zapata was caught and killed by a spy who led several bloody battles against his own troops to convince Zapata that he was on the level. During the World War the German government supplied Mata Hari with information that resulted in the destruction of a German submarine—in order to fool the French, who, by the way, were not fooled.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES

This literary divorce suit between the Littells—a husband who failed to click and the wife who made a hit—is an old story in Hollywood.

Incidentally, it makes the brain reel to read of a man who would give up a good job in a steel corporation to move to Traverse City, Mich., to undertake a free-lance literary career.

MAKE ME JEALOUS, GO ON!

The Christian fortitude with which I could do the housekeeping while the lady of the house earned great money by writing pieces would be soul-inspiring. I am a swell dish-washer and the way I can make beds would just make a Pullman porter turn green. I am going to leave the typewriter around in suggestive places.

LEVY MAP APPROVED

The City Council has approved the assessment district map for the improvement of Avalon street east of Echo Park avenue. The map for the improvement of streets in the Crescent Heights Boulevard and Hollywood Boulevard district was refused approval.

Murder Mystery Declared Solved by Arrest of Youths

SALESMAN SHOT DURING HOLD-UP

Ralph Trump Slain in 1928 in Car with Girl

Bandit Suspects Confess, Detectives Report

Asserted Slayer Tells Police Shooting Accidental

Solving of the murder of Ralph O. Trump, youthful salesman, as he sat with his sweetheart, Miss Marjorie Uhlman, in his automobile in front of 6831 Homewood avenue, on the night of October 24, 1928, was announced yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Greetan, Gibson and Mallheau with the arrest, and subsequent questioning of two bandit suspects, Wilbur M. Mossberg, 22 years of age, of 1620 South Norton avenue, and Jaques Samaniego, 19, of 847 West Eighteenth street.

As the climax of an eighteen-hour investigation, during which the suspects were subjected to persistent quizzing by each one of the detectives, each in turn broke his stubborn denial of banditry and sobbingly confessed the killing of Trump, the detectives said. The asserted confessions were quickly followed by the identification of the pair by Miss Uhlman.

The slaying of Trump was reported to police as an exceedingly cold-blooded crime. Miss Uhlman at the time lived on Homewood avenue. She and Trump returning from a theater late in the evening, were sitting in Trump's automobile parked across the street from her home.

They were suddenly confronted by two bandits, one on each side of the car. Miss Uhlman declared she remembered seeing pistols levelled at them and heard a gruff command to "shell out." In the next instant, before Trump had an opportunity of even raising his hands above his head, one of the bandits fired. With the sharp report of the weapon Trump fell limp in his seat, shot through the head. Miss Uhlman screamed. The next moment the bandits had vanished. Despite a lengthy investigation and search no trace of the pair was ever found.

With the asserted confessions of the pair in their possession the detectives then found Miss Uhlman living at 1430 Laurel avenue, and escorted her to Central Station. The suspects were brought before her. She looked at them closely and nodded her head. They were led away. After they were taken back to their cells, Miss Uhlman said: "Yes, I am willing to swear those are the men who shot Ralph."

SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Mossberg, in a statement made after he and Samaniego were identified by Miss Uhlman, declared that he and his partner were under the influence of drugs at the time they made the hold-up, and added that the shooting of Trump was not intentional.

"Samaniego was on the side of the automobile next to the girl," Mossberg said, according to the detectives, "and I stepped up to the man. In pulling the automatic from my pocket the safety catch must have been released. I didn't know it and when I pointed the gun at the man I squeezed the grip. I was as much surprised as anyone and the gun went off. Seeing what had happened, we got away as quickly as possible and agreed to stick together."

Samaniego said he was born in Juarez, Mex., and after coming here with his family six years ago, attended Manual Arts High School.

PASADENA TO BANQUET BAR MEMBERS HERE

A delegation of local attorneys and judges has accepted the invitation of Judge Thompson, president of the Pasadena Bar Association, to attend the banquet tomorrow evening at the Pasadena Athletic Club. Judge Thompson will preside and speakers will include Norman A. Ballie, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, and Leonard B. Slosson, chairman of the program committee of the State Bar.

Judge Attracts Wide Attention by Safety Drive

Los Angeles traffic court methods are attracting widespread attention throughout the United States, according to a statement by Presiding Judge Ambrose of the Municipal Court. Details of the safety campaign of Municipal Judge Valentine, Judge Ambrose said, are being requested from many quarters.

The El Paso (Tex.) Automobile Club has requested copies of Judge Valentine's radio talks on traffic safety, which, according to Buena Gilder, secretary of the club, it wants to broadcast in the Texas city. A Boston newspaper said of Valentine:

"When Judge Valentine took over the traffic bench on January 1, there had been 101 deaths in Los Angeles city and county the month previous. He got busy. The first month he was in traffic court the fatalities dropped to 56; in February there were 58; in March 67 and in April but 46." The paper quoted Judge Valentine as saying: "Unless I can make a better driver out of the person who comes to my court, I have failed in my mission. I am not trying to make money for the county, but am simply trying to make better drivers out of careless ones."

A St. Louis paper praised Judge Valentine's system of announcing in his court the number of traffic deaths in the county and urging motorists to use the golden rule in driving.

Dr. Lyman Ellis Dies in Chicago

Death of a former official of the old Home Telephone Company and former resident of Los Angeles, Dr. Lyman Ellis of Chicago, was announced last night by a brother, Charles F. Ellis of 351 South St. Andrews Place, who yesterday received a telegram saying that Dr. Ellis had died in Chicago following a short illness.

Dr. Ellis was well known in Southern California, where he served as executive for the Home Telephone at both San Bernardino and Long Beach. He received his medical education at the Rush Medical College in Chicago and prior to his death served as chief surgeon for one of the large Chicago industrial plants.

MURDER WIDOW UP TODAY

Sanhuber Expected to Face Mrs. Oesterreich as Principal Witness for State

Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, widow of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee and Los Angeles garment manufacturer, will go to trial today in Superior Judge Hardy's court charged with the murder of her husband on the night of August 22, 1922.

Otto Sanhuber, mysterious attic man of the Oesterreich household, already has been convicted of manslaughter as a result of the shooting affray which caused the man's death. He was released from custody, however, because under the law he could not be convicted of a crime which had been outlawed under the statutes.

And when the trial opens, Sanhuber will be called as one of the prosecution's principal witnesses against the wealthy widow, according to James F. Costello, deputy District Attorney assigned to prosecute the case.

SEPARATE TRIALS WON

At her previous appearances in court on the murder charge, Mrs. Oesterreich has always denied any guilt in connection with her husband's death. The original grand jury indictment named the woman and Sanhuber as codefendants, but her attorneys, Jerry Giesler and Meyer Willner, succeeded in obtaining a separate trial.

The list of other witnesses to be called for the State is virtually identical with that used during Sanhuber's trial. It includes several next-door neighbors of the Oesterreichs, Roy Klumb, who is asserted to have destroyed a gun at the direction of Mrs. Oesterreich after the murder; John H. Riedeman, undertaker; former Police Chief James E. Davis, and Detectives Ray Cato, Paul Stevens and Art Stoll.

The Oesterreich murder remained a complete mystery until April 8, last, when officers discovered a secret room in the Lafayette Park Place house where the manufacturer was killed.

SANHUBER CONFESSED

This discovery led to Sanhuber's arrest and his confession that for ten years he had lived in secret attic rooms in the Oesterreich residences because of an overpowering fascination for Mrs. Oesterreich.

In a long statement made to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, Sanhuber stated that he shot Oesterreich because the latter was quarreling with his wife and he feared that she would be seriously injured. But during his own trial on the murder charge Sanhuber repudiated his confession, asserting that it was prompted by Herman Shapiro, Mrs. Oesterreich's former attorney, who gave officers the original information about Sanhuber and the hidden rooms.

Shapiro, Sanhuber said, held him under a hypnotic spell and caused him to do many things for which he could not account.

LAWYER'S SUIT ALSO COMES UP TODAY

Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, who goes to trial today on a charge of murder based on the death of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, also is named as defendant in a civil action to be called tomorrow in Department 32, Superior Court, Herman Shapiro, her former attorney, is plaintiff. The suit was filed December 24, 1928.

Shapiro asserts Mrs. Oesterreich owes him $26,400 on an agreement over real estate transactions and other deals. Mrs. Oesterreich's answer asserts that Shapiro breached their agreement, which, she set forth, contained a proviso against harassing each other. She contends that as early as two years ago Shapiro harassed and threatened her in an effort to force her "to admit him to her personal favor and friendly association."

Because Mrs. Oesterreich will be defendant against a murder charge the civil action probably will be continued.

WORK ON CANAL DAM ADVANCES

Hayden, is located at Alaguela on the Chagres River, above Gatun Lake. Hitherto, much surplus water in the rainy season has been lost over the Gatun spillway, leaving the possibility of a lack of water with which to operate the locks of the canal during the drier seasons. The new dam is designed to impound this hitherto waste water in the upper reaches of the river which supplies the water for the operation of the canal, the Senator stated, thus insuring a reserve supply at all times.

To illustrate the need for vast quantities of water, Senator Hayden pointed out that to put a single ship through the locks, a quantity of water equal to that used by the entire city of Boston for a whole day is required.

HIGHWAY BUILT

A concrete highway has been built to the dam site, preliminary surveys completed, and drilling for bedrock on which to anchor the dam is well under way, Senator Hayden's inspection tour disclosed.

The other great Canal Zone project, the construction of the flying base on the Pacific, is also progressing rapidly, he said. Swamp land between Panama City and Balboa is being filled preparatory to the construction of what will be known as Albrook Field. One million dollars is this year's appropriation alone for this work. It will furnish the army air defense forces with a field on the Pacific side as a companion establishment to the present France Field on the Atlantic side Rfld, obviously, will be of the utmost value to the canal defense.

Senator and Mrs. Hayden will continue to San Francisco aboard the President Adams today, and, after a brief visit in the north, will proceed to their home in Phoenix for the Senate recess.

WOMAN ENDS LIFE BY TAKING POISON

Mrs. Leona Swalwell, 31 years of age, was found yesterday by her husband in the bathroom of their home at 742 West Eighty-fourth street in a dying condition, an emptied poison bottle beside her. She was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, but efforts to save her failed. According to the police report, she had become despondent over illness.

ber of the crew as radio man, also not yet chosen.

Once in Germany, Lundgren will turn the nose of his ship north and fly over Russia to Omsk in Siberia and from that point attempt a nonstop flight to Tokio. From Japan he will take a great-circle route north over the Pacific and proceed to Seattle and thence to Los Angeles.

Lundgren's plane has a sixty-foot wing span and is thirty-six feet long. It is powered with a single Wasp 420-horsepower motor. He will use navigating instruments of his own design similar to those used on the recent flight of the Southern Cross and will carry radio equipment that will enable the crew of the plane to maintain constant communication with shore stations.

The projected globe flight, if performed on scheduled time, will be completed within fifteen days and within an elapsed flying time of 200 hours. It will be the first one to span the Pacific from Tokio to Seattle and if successful Lundgren will be eligible for $25,000 in prize money.

County Farm Highly Lauded

The County Farm of Los Angeles county is one of the cleanest and best regulated institutions of its kind in the country, according to a report of J. L. Pomeroy, County Health Officer, in a report to the Board of Supervisors which will be read today. The doctor recently made an inspection trip of the institution.

"There is nothing to find fault with concerning the County Farm," said Dr. Pomeroy's report. "In all of my experience this is the cleanest and best I have seen."

Two Comedians Here from East

Helen Broderick and Lester Crawford, comedians in "Fifty Million Frenchmen" and other New York plays, arrived in Los Angeles on the liner California yesterday to play in Warner Brothers' talking-picture version of the same show and will remain in Hollywood at least until October. The two are husband and wife.

The Crawfords managed the ship's charity concert en route to raise money for the seamen's fund. With them is their son, Broderick Crawford.

LAVINE MONEY BASIS OF FIGHT

Battle will be Waged in Federal Court Today

Trustee for Wagy & Co. Caused Impounding

Fund Asserted Pay-off in Attempted Extortion

Legal battle will be waged today before United States District Judge McCormick for possession of the $45,000 assertedly paid to Morris Lavine by Charles H. Crawford, politician, in an attempted extortion scheme. The money was recently impounded by Judge McCormick upon the petition of the trustees of the bankrupt estate of A. C. Wagy & Co. The court granted a temporary injunction against Dist.-Atty. Fitts and County Clerk Lampson, preventing them from paying the money to Lavine, Crawford or anyone else until the determination of suits brought by the trustees against Lavine and Crawford.

The trustees sued Lavine for more than $50,000, asserted to have been illegally paid him through Jacob Berger at a time Wagy & Co. was insolvent. A similar suit was brought against Crawford, who is said to have received $45,000 from the insolvent company.

Lavine was convicted of the attempted extortion, as was Leontine Holmes, former secretary to S. C. Lewis, now head of the Julian Petroleum Corporation. Lewis is now in the Federal prison.

An attempt will be made today by Crawford's attorneys to have the temporary injunction dissolved, thus permitting Crawford to obtain the money.

Beach Park for Harbor District Asked of County

A resolution passed by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce requesting that the county acquire beach frontage in the vicinity of the harbor district for park and recreation purposes will be read and acted upon by the Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting today.

The resolution recites the harbor district has no park of any description and that there is land available in the vicinity of the Royal Palms Golf Club and Palm Gardens which is ideal for a seaside county park.

It also points out that because of economic and financial conditions the present is the time to acquire the property.

THE EPIC RECALLED

Memories of Mrs. Casey Jones, engineer's wife, who "had another man on the Salt Lake Line," were stirred in the divorce complaint of Clyde Fields, who throttles a locomotive out of Los Angeles. Agnes Day, Pasadena matron, is expected to go to trial today in Superior Judge Schauer's court charged with manslaughter and driving an automobile while intoxicated, as a result of an automobile accident in Pasadena on April 2, last.

Judge Schauer is on vacation and the case may be transferred to another court or continued.

According to investigating officers, Mrs. Day collided with an automobile driven by George Totsubo of 218 Mary street, Pasadena, causing his death. Examining physicians pronounced the woman under the influence of liquor shortly after the accident.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

—BY THE SENTRY ON HIS BEAT—

With three weeks remaining in which to present their various arguments to the voters of city, county and State, candidates for various offices on the primary election ballot have redoubled their campaigning efforts and vote-getting activities.

It is estimated that the total vote in California at this year's primary will exceed 1,200,000, of which Los Angeles city and county will cast approximately 400,000 ballots, or 33 1-3% of the total. The largest number of candidates ever appearing on one ballot will be listed for various Federal, State, county and district offices.

Indorsement of J. W. McKinley for State Senator by the Women's Political League was voted recently by resolution. The resolution sets forth the high importance of selecting the right man from Los Angeles county and expresses the belief that McKinley is the man.

The Spanish-American League sent notice to Superior Judge Walter Guerin of his indorsement by the league for re-election.

Headquarters have been opened in Glendale and San Pedro for Police Chief Kelley of Pasadena, candidate for Sheriff at the coming primary election.

Frank M. Smith, candidate for Attorney-General, has received the unanimous indorsement of the Women's Political League, it was announced.

Former presidents of the City Club and former members of the County Counsel's office attended a luncheon in honor of Superior Judge Bishop, who is a candidate for re-election.

Support of four Mexican, and Spanish newspapers and eight clubs representing more than 50,000 voters has been pledged to Clyde Plummer for the office of Sheriff, it was announced by Plummer's campaign committee.

"To turn an amateur loose in the Los Angeles County Assessor's office would be disastrous," Frank A. Garbutt, Los Angeles Athletic Club vice-president, said in declaring his support for Ed W. Hopkins, incumbent, who is seeking re-election. Three other candidates named Hopkins have been put on the ballot in an effort to confuse the voters, the Hopkins supporters contend.

The evils of special assessments were discussed before the Vermontshire Improvement Association at a recent meeting by Lawrence Cobb, candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-eighth District.

A volunteer committee organized to promote the re-election of Judge Hazlett to the Superior Court was announced by Maj. Clyde Young for the committeee headquarters at 509 Financial Center Building. Mr. Young announced the Iowa Association has indorsed Judge Hazlett.

Maj. Frank S. Hutton, attorney and Exalted Ruler of Elks' Lodge, No. 99, has accepted the general chairmanship of the committee handling the campaign for John C. Monning, running for County Supervisor from the Third District.

Milton M. Golden, attorney, whose candidacy for Assemblymap from the Fifty-fifth District was recently announced, has opened campaign headquarters at 6045 Hollywood Boulevard.

A statement from 500 prominent Southern Californians declared that California should retain U. S. Webb as Attorney-General because of his unquestioned record through seven terms in that position.

In a recent poll conducted outside Los Angeles city and within the county, Judge Fleming received the highest vote of all candidates, his campaign manager stated. Judge Fleming has been serving on the Superior bench for seven years, having been appointed by former Gov. Richardson.

Opening of the Hollywood-Wilshire campaign for the re-election of Sidney T. Graves to the Board of Supervisors from the Third District is expected to follow upon the appointment of Frank J. Egger, young Hollywood investment broker, who announced his acceptance of the appointment as manager for that district.

Residents of the county interested in Republican politics are invited by the committee in charge to attend the final assembly of the Republican County Central Committee at the roof garden of the Hollywod Storage Company Building Thursday evening. Col. William Eric Fowler, county chairman, will preside.

Milton K. Young, unopposed Democratic candidate for Governor, left for San Francisco to fill several speaking engagements in the north during the week.

MILLIONS OF OLD SHOES GO IN PERFUME BOTTLES

Perfumery from old shoes, Chinese pottery and vases from broken bottles, steel rails from discarded wash tubs, sash weights from tin cans and innumerable other conversions of waste materials into useful products are behind the history of the Los Angeles By-Products Company, the only industry of its kind in the world. The plant of this unique industry is located at Twenty-fifth and Alamada streets, and its guiding genius is Clarence Gregg, the general manager.

The present business grew out of an attempt more than ten years ago of a group of men who sought to recover the tin from cans. The men with Gregg undertook a contract with the city of Los Angeles to dispose of all the tin cans gathered by the garbage collectors. To obtain this concession they also had to agree to accept all other noncombustible material such as bottles, shoes, tires and broken glass.

The tin-recovery process did not pay sufficient profit to care for the cost of disposing of the bottles, etc., so they had to cast about for a means to make this end of the business pay. It was discovered that shoes treated with certain acids produced iodol, iodoform, sal ammonium, filtering charcoal, a base for perfumes and a combustible gas.

Standard bottles used by manufacturers of beverages, ketchup, pickles, vinegar, etc., can be assorted, sterilized and sold to those using them. This part of the industry is profitable and in the bottle department six men are employed to sort them and place them in their respective barrels. The broken glass presented a problem until it was learned that ground glass can be sold to glassware and pottery manufacturers in China.

From ninety to 100 tons of metal, mostly tin cans, arrive at the plant each day. The city is divided into six districts and cans and other noncombustible household objects are collected from a separate district each day of the week.

At the by-products plant the mystery of what becomes of the discarded automobile bodies and fenders is solved. Gregg described the plant as the "graveyard" of Southern California's automobiles. The bodies and fenders are placed under a trip-hammer arrangement and squashed into a metal pancake.

It then is up-ended and squashed again. This process is repeated until the metal mass takes the shape of a bale approximately two feet square. The bodies and fenders are steel and consequently they go back to the steel mills. The plant handles 600 tons of automobile fenders and bodies a month.

The success of the plant has led the company to make plans for expansion in other parts of the country. During the ten-year period over which the machinery and methods of the plant were evolved many new devices had to be invented and for most of these the directors have given Gregg credit.

JUDGMENT IN CEMENT SUIT GIVEN

Court Awards Royalties to "Sole" Manufacturers When Inventor Reneges

Patent rights in a secret formula for making plastic cement are involved in a suit which Superior Judge Guerin has decided for the plaintiffs, E. B. Wyman and E. G. Meiklejohn, cement merchants, against Hans Olson, the inventor, and the Monolith Portland Cement Company.

Wyman and Meiklejohn asserted that Olson obtained a patent on his process and in 1920 signed an agreement giving them sole rights to manufacture plastic cement by his formula. Later, they continued, the Monolith concern began to manufacture cement by this process without paying them royalty.

The defendants contended that because Wyman and Meiklejohn failed to establish a plant the patent reverted automatically to the inventor, Olson. Judge Guerin ordered an accounting of royalties due after giving judgment for the plaintiffs.

Law Group to Take Test Today

It was stated that 360 other would-be attorneys will take examinations in San Francisco.

Today's and tomorrow's tests will be written. Wednesday's and Thursday's examinations will be oral. Four bar examiners will conduct the oral quizzes. Fred P. Luke, in charge of the administrative work of the Bar Examiners in Southern California, will supervise the examinations.

Today's Bible Text

For God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have showed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister.—Heb. vi:10.

HARD LOSERS

The term "Congressional privilege" was never more clearly defined than by the remarks of some of our defeated Senators in expressing their opinions after failing to block Mr. Hoover's progressive program.

UNSUNG HEROES

The Hunter brothers are receiving the applause and the money and few of us give thought to the engineers, the metallurgists and others who have found a way to make motor parts that will stand up for more than 550 hours in a single run without cracking.

SIP SOUND

A Cornell professor has invented a contraption which, when placed between the teeth, enables the deaf to sip sound. It seems the idea was gotten from victims in the dental chair having the boring amplified. Thus all things are justified in time.

GOTHAM

New York City has 6,601,292 people, fully a third of whom are foreign born. She has more Italians than Rome; more Irish than Dublin; more Germans than Bremen. She has more phones than London, Leningrad, Rome and Berlin combined. And yet Los Angeles may pass her some day with an almost exclusively American population.

BASIC CAUSE

Ranulph Kingsley, officer of a crime insurance company, writes that th basic cause of crime is the need of money. While not pretending to meet a specialist on his home grounds, yet acquiring a large fortune by making a large haul never seems to stop the thief. There may be sporadic cases like Jean Valjean, yet it sometimes seems to a mere tyro that wanting money without having to sweat for it as other people do has something to do with it.

THE SHOW BUSINESS

Advices from New York are that there are now less than thirty legitimate shows running in the country. There are hardly any companies on the road any more and the smaller cities do not have much chance of witnessing a regular theatrical production. The business is all shot to pieces. Punk plays and the competition of the talkies are responsible for the wreckage. As it is there are plays on Broadway that do not deserve to live.

EDISON AND ETHICS

Among the questions propounded in the 1930 Edison questionnaire to high school youths, the one which seems to have taken longest to answer was one in ethics, involving which three of seven persons caught in a desert predicament should be selected by the leader of the party to live, and which four to die. As an abstract problem there might be a good deal of difference of opinion, and was among the boys taking the examination. As a practical problem, however, the question has long been settled, rightly or wrongly, by the racial mores. There were in the party four men, two women and a child. And the rule, simply stated, is "women and children first." This rule, incidentally, is far older than chivalry and can be found among birds and beasts. It has a sound biological basis, as calculated in the long run to lead to race survival.

In propounding the question, Edison may have been trying to discover if any of the contestants were aware of this fact and to have set a neat trap in his examination to discover which boys were practical-minded. Otherwise the question would have little value. What happens to a contravenor of this rule, with its corollary that the captain is the last to leave a sinking ship, is illustrated by the case of Gen. Umberto Nobile and what the world thought of his permitting himself to be rescued first when his airship crashed in the Arctic.

It might be argued that the women and child in Edison's problem could not reach civilization unaided by a man but, in the absence of a specific statement to the contrary in the hypothetical question, it must be assumed that they could.

UNION ENCROACHMENTS

The hearty welcome which Los Angeles extends to the establishment here of branches of eastern manufacturing and mercantile concerns carries with it a certain danger, which needs to be recognized and faced frankly, before a situation now in its incipiency becomes menacing or gets beyond control. It is that of extension of the union closed shop and consequent destruction of the very conditions which, whether they know it or not, make the Los Angeles area attractive to these manufacturers and merchants. It cannot be too often emphasized, because it is true, that the foundation of Los Angeles prosperity is the open shop with its double corollary —a day's pay for a day's work and a day's work for a day's pay; in other words, a square deal both for employer and employee, with no discrimination for or against any man because of membership or nonmembership in any organization.

Such closed-shop activity as has gained a foothold here is mainly in construction work in which contracts have been let to eastern firms. The reason that it has done so is obvious; that the home offices are forced to make closed-shop contracts at home and do not realize the very different conditions which obtain here. The erection is customarily under the direction of subordinates, unable or unwilling to make adaptive changes, or fearful of causing labor troubles in the closed-shop communities in which the company operates. The companies themselves are not hostile to the open shop; they simply grew up in a closed-shop atmosphere, learned to put up with its inefficiencies and annoyances and fail to understand how they can be avoided.

The lesson of Los Angeles free industry needs, therefore, to be made known to these newcomers. They must be encouraged to face bugaboos and stuffed clubs and shown that in the long run their interests are identical with those of other Los Angeles employers and of the fine army of open-shop workingmen who have come here to be free from domination and dictation. It is not necessary, in Los Angeles, to ask any walking delegate's or business agent's consent before putting up a building, or to bribe him not to call a strike. No protection money need be paid here to racketeers. There are no jurisdictional disputes, no hampering rules, no costly delays. Men insist upon good wages, but they are worth it—they return value for value.

This situation is not the result of accident; it has been built up by struggle, and it is a community asset which the community cannot afford to fritter away. It is one of the most valuable assets the city has; on the one hand, a body of employers accustomed to the square deal; on the other, a body of self-respecting, free, independent workmen who believe there is more money in co-operation than in industrial warfare and who know that the open shop is their friend.

These encroachments upon the Los Angeles building industry are pleasing, of course, to the union organizers, who get their profit from industrial turmoil or the threat of it. They are steps toward the general closed shop and because every step in that direction is dangerous they are steps to be avoided.

Manufacturers and merchants who seek to locate in Los Angeles should insist upon running their business in this respect as their forerunners have done; not alone because it is to their advantage to do so, but also because it is to the community's advantage, and what benefits the community benefits them. There is no reason for conducting any kind of business here on a closed-shop basis, and every reason for running open shop, because the latter is fair, square and American.

ON PASSING A LAW

The Associated Mothers of Illinois has been organized, according to news dispatches, to ask the Illinois Legislature to pass a law penalizing mix-ups of babies in hospitals. They are prompted by the Bamberger-Watkins dispute which, as a topic for conversation, seems to have taken the place in Chicago of racketeering. Probably the Illinois Legislature will yield as the easiest way out and add another regulation to the statute books. A less appropriate subject for legislation could hardly be imagined.

The function of a criminal statute is to provide a proper penalty for willful wrongdoing. Now, nobody mixes up babies intentionally; in fact, the best efforts of every hospital are bent on preventing just such a mix-up. Methods differ, and various so-called infallible devices for identification are in use. But in spite of them it is possible for some nurse or attendant to make a mistake, such as may, or may not, have confused the offspring of Messrs. and Mmes. Watkins and Bamberger. What the Illinois Legislature is very likely to do is to decree with full solemnity that no one shall ever make an error. As a method of preventing error this has its limitations, as anyone even slightly acquainted with human nature will admit.

The Legislature may pick out one of the identification methods and require its use. But it may turn out not to be the best method; somebody may really think up some scheme which will work 9999 times out of 10,000 and then the Illinois hospitals will be precluded from using it. Or the Legislature may leave it to hospital discretion, which is precisely where it is now. In any event, the prospect that anything the Legislature can do will aid in unscrambling scrambled children is extremely remote.

One may have full sympathy for parents compelled to pass their lives in some doubt as to whose child they are rearing and still feel that the situation, if let alone, will take care of itself as well as if messed with. The old-fashioned belief that all such things are arranged by Providence is more comforting and at least as useful as the belief that they can be cured by passing a law.

SWEET THING

The guy who does the counting says that there are nearly 340,000 colonies of bees in California. No wonder folks are getting stung. However, these bees represent a honey industry amounting to more than $2,000,000 a year. That sounds sweet. People come for miles to get our orange-blossom honey.

The Lee Side o' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

THE California History and Landmarks Club is going to erect a bronze bust of John Steven McGroarty, "California's most beloved son, who has chronicled her history, written her poetry and woven her colorful beginning into the world's greatest drama, the Mission Play."

Prophets may be without honor in their own country and many workers in artistic lines have to win fame elsewhere before we will accord it to them at home. But John Steven McGroartys are different. There is something about John which makes everybody love him. Some may not agree that the Mission Play is "the world's greatest pageant drama," some may criticise his history or his weekly comments, but they all love John. In other words, tastes and opinions differ widely on all matters of art or literature, but there is no difference of opinion on men like John McGroarty. We believe it unquestionable that he is the best-loved man in California.

For that reason the History and Landmarks Club wants the bust to be a public testimonial and is mailing out invitations to contribute "$1 or more" to the fund. They won't have any trouble raising enough money. But most of us will want to feel that we helped. We know that California's historic treasures were passing into oblivion when McGroarty began to write about them, and now they are being preserved. We know what a lot of good he does to all who sit in "the Synagogue between Dan and Beersheba." So even the least of us may send our dollars—to the California History and Landmarks Club, 1736 South Harvard Boulevard.

Maybe Think We're Hopeless

Let us take the Filipinos
As our models in restraint.
Though we gayly bash their beanos
When the town we want to paint,
Though our own mob spirit varies
Savagery with wolf-pack lust,
They have sent no missionaries
Here to civilize us or bust.

Guy Fuller Prunt.

The Bowl Theater

Proud as all Southern California is of the Hollywood Bowl and its symphonies under the stars, there are a number of things about it which we don't know. Few of us know, for instance, that the first thought was not of a place to hold concerts, but to further the drama. But the Bowl was too big for drama, and music was chosen as the entertainment which would get great throngs in the habit of going to the Bowl. The Art Theater organization became lost in the Hollywood Bowl Association.

But all the time the idea of a Bowl theater was in the minds of those who have made the Bowl a great community asset, and now they believe the time has come to launch it. The Bowl Theater Association has been organized, with the directing board of the Bowl Association on its board of governors. A playhouse is to be built near the entrance of the Bowl, and all the year, except during the Bowl concert season, the Bowl theater will operate. It is promised that the Bowl Theater will give us the best in drama as the Bowl gives us the best in music.

The Civic Repertory Theater has been approved as the Bowl Theater organization. For the present, it will continue in the Hollywood Music Box, but when the Bowl Theater is built the organization will move there. And the Bowl Theater is to be made the center of a complete artistic community, somewhat combining ideas of the Pasadena Community Theater and the Long Beach Wayside Colony. There will be a tea room, a community of artcraft workers, a "workshop" to which aspiring talent can come and be taken seriously — where plays and actors and singers will be tried out. A fine art gallery also is included in the plans.

The Bowl Theater plays, however, will all be presented by professional talent.

Spoken Drama Staggering

The breakdown of the theatrical business all over the country this year has convinced many observers that we may have to look to civic theater groups of this kind to save the drama. Talking pictures have robbed the stage of many of its stars and have made it impossible for many theatrical organizations to tour. The latest talking film can be shot by air mail to every big city in the country the same week at less expense than would be required to transport a traveling company from New York to Buffalo. It can be presented in all those cities at once at prices ranging from one-fifth to one-half what the traveling company would have to charge. True, most of us would much rather go to good spoken drama than to the talkies. But still the talkies lap up the cream of public support as fast as it rises and there is very little left for the spoken drama to subsist upon.

Yet in this territory, at least, the Pasadena Community Playhouse has demonstrated that a really good community theater can supply us with soul-satisfying drama. All the Bowl Theater needs is the same kind of public sentiment back of it to be a great success and a community asset. We have plenty of fine actors here and quite a few of them are out of jobs.

Incidentally, there are about five people who really understand good drama to one who really understands good music. So the Bowl Theater ought to grow into a very important part of the Hollywood Bowl activities.

AN ECONOMIC COMMITTEE

At the luncheon given recently by the Chamber of Commerce in honor of Secretary Wilbur, John C. Austin, president of the chamber, in opening the program, drew attention to Southern California's inadequate representation in Congress and demanded fair treatment for this end of the State. The raids on Southern California's rightful heritage, he said, must stop.

Mr. Austin's appeal at the time was naturally overshadowed by the Secretary's stirring oration on the topic of Boulder Dam, yet it left the impression on the business men and civic leaders present that some practical steps should be taken to equalize the present unfair distribution in the State of political influences. His suggestion of a Southern California Economic Committee to deal with these problems has met with a hearty response from other chambers of commerce in the seven southern counties. Cities and communities of the Southland, outside of Los Angeles, appear willing to co-operate in the proposed movement.

Representatives of various communities affected have recognized a danger to the economic future of Southern California if through want of co-ordinated political effort we fail to receive our just proportion of Federal and State expenditures on public improvements. The successful effort of the north to take the Army air base from San Diego to the north is a direct evidence of the importance of Southern California politically in the national Congress. Our political impotence in Sacramento, under present legislative apportionment, is even more glaringly evident.

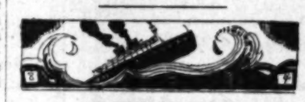
It is to correct these discrepancies, not to deprive the northern counties of their just rights, that the services of the new Southern California Economic Committee will be brought to bear. The committee will work for every project in which any community, great or small, in Southern California is interested by forming an economic union south of the Tehachapi.

THREE MOONS

Up at Summerland on the Santa Barbara coast, a number of residents saw three moons the other night. They knew of nobody to notify save the sheriff. In turn he knew of nothing to do but to call out the dry squad and break up a supposed wild party. No booze could be located and then arose the question, who hung out the two extra moons?

ANOTHER FORD JOKE

Henry Ford startled interviewers by declaring himself to be in favor of "good water with a kick in it." When they had recovered sufficiently to ask why, he said that all pure water has a "kick" in it when you are dry. Which is not so bad when you come to think of it.



TRAVEL DE LUXE

By James J. Montague

(Gov. Roosevelt suggests that we all try canal boats.)

It is thrilling to sail in the teeth of a gale
When the spindrift is spouting alee.
There's a kick in a ride on the storm-driven tide—
Which is otherwise known as the sea.
There is ever a zest in the mariner's quest
For soul-stirring, breathless romance,
But I'm here to enlarge on the joys of a barge
Which are free from the hazards of chance.

Let the daredevil speed without hindrance or heed
To the hills that are frowning afar,
Never shifting an eye as the landscape flies by
While he drives in his high-powered car.
But why brave the wild storm where the flying fish swarm,
When one might as well sit with a pal,
And gaze at his ease at the fields and the trees
As he drifts down the sleepy canal?

No storms ever rise in the mild summer skies
That can tear your trim shallop in twain.
No wild breakers roar on the rough leeward shore!
As they do on the turbulent main.
You can count the calm cows as they patiently browse
On the slopes of a neighboring farm,
And no rollers ahead call for heaving the lead
And a heart-clutching qualm of alarm.

And good-by to the overpraised thrills
Of the motors that race at a furious pace
Over deserts and prairies and hills.
Henceforth I shall trek on an undulant deck,
And gaze at the ruminant kine,
But the good old canal boat for mine.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

With two exceptions, there is a great hue and cry for the return of Congress time. The two exceptions are (a) the hue and (b) the cry. The old town is happy to rock along without Congress, wiping sweat and being thankful for peace and quiet and the absence of the threat a Congress in session always constitutes.

We Washingtonians were diverted slightly from our hard-boiled ennui last week over the apparently good prospect of a row between Pulchritudinous Pat Hurley, Secretary of Strife, and Gov. Two-M Emmerson of Illinois. The latter did not take kindly to the former's suggestion as to putting up a couple million fish for waterway activities. The final status showed great lack of mutuality—Emmerson stood pat, but Pat couldn't stand Emmerson. Hard words were said and harder ones meant.

Beats all how the members of the Cabinet make page one after the Senate evaporates. Secretary (sic) Hyde of Agriculture is being besought by the corn-sugar interests just now to get busy having the law repealed that makes it necessary to label all corn products—especially sugar. The trouble seems to be that an aura of auspicion, a hint of an Ethiopian in the cordwood or what terms of opprobrium have we, clings to that corn-sugar thing. It may be perfectly innocent. But thoughts of hootch, eau de vie, white mule, moonshine, forty-red, total blindness, monkey-rum, the hair of the dog, say—when, etc., seem to be roused in a good many minds at a very mention of corn sugar or black strap, particularly the latter.

Charley Adams, that blue-water Secretary of the Navy, also comes in for a mention when he recommends the dismissal from the Naval Academy of the young men who bootlegged a couple of girls into the place in men's clothing. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, whence one of the young men hailed, pleaded for leniency, because the young man and his folks are voters. "Thoughtless prank" was what Walsh said it was. Anybody that ever tried to get a couple of girls to dress like men and impersonate same among a few hundred fellows knows nobody is going to get away with the stunt without a whole heckofa lot of thought. Before and after. Besides that, isn't Cha'ley Adams from Massachusetts just as much as Walsh is? Only they don't vote Cabinet members into office.

And speaking of glue, here is a feather in the Hoover administration cap: The stickum on the rear elevation of postage stamps is much more so than it was under Coolidge. It is no longer necessary, when you affix a stamp to a letter, to put the combination under your mattress at night. It is always well to sleep over doubtful letters, but nowadays it isn't necessary to do so in order to make the stamp remain with the envelope to the end of the journey. To have achieved better glue is more than a mere feather—it is almost a war bonnet. My neighbor, Walter Brown, is to be congratulated. He wields a meaner mucilage brush than did his predecessor, Harry New. In which case Walter may be asked to stick around quite a while longer. That's one reform that can be made to stick.

Instead of the "Vo-de-o-do and boop-boop-a-doop" craze, the campaigners for Congressional and Senatorial seats for the next few months will be making it "Voter owe-dough and boob-boob-a-dupe." It would make a fine vacation for the President to attend campaign meetings and hear the men he had to lick into line bragging to the proletariat about how they stood by the administration.

The Hooverian regime has been setting an example of blunt frankness that is not the best of politics according to the old school, but it is refreshing. Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, when he was first inducted into official Washington sassiety, showed advance symptoms of the frankness that led him to tell the Wichita editor to go to hell. One is safe, probably, presuming that before he consigned the newspaper man to that region, he looked into our trade balance with that country. No doubt it is and has been heavily in our favor.

That initial frankness, you will recall, consisted in his telling those who interviewed him as to where he wished to be placed at official dinners, that he was of lowly birth, that swank left him cold and that if necessary he would eat off a stool in the kitchen.

And Mister Stimson of the State Department showed no inclination to placate public opinion unnecessarily when he first brought the navy pact home and began the ballyhoo. It may be just as well that the public be wised to the fact that a public official has the right to call his soul his own, even if the job he holds is their gift. If he do the best he can with it, it is by no means a one-sided matter, anyway.

Lately I interviewed a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who said:

"Public observers are divided into two classes, just now. Those who believe something is about to happen to the railroads and those who believe it has already happened. Ride any train between the big cities and note the empty seats and berths. Note that many crack all-Pullman trains have put on day-coach service. Why? Private owners of motor cars and the low mileage rate in the motor coaches. The railroads are coming more and more to look to their freight business for gains and shudderingly to the passenger service for their losses. For a long time the dining-car systems, always run at a loss, were looked upon as mere good-will service, a handshake with the public to keep folks riding trains and shipping thereon. Now the whole passenger service is looked upon as a means of keeping the public informed that the railroad companies are still in business for hauling freight. Electric motors will be used for awhile and then pulmotors. For the business, under present conditions, for hauls under a thousand miles, is dying.

"One of the things that has always peeved the traveling public," he went on, "is the compulsory (for it amounts to that) tipping of Pullman porters. The traveling public has always resented this. The Pullman rates have always been high enough, they felt, to permit the company to pay its own help. Every time a passenger shelled out the expected gratuity to keep from having the ill will of a porter, he made a mental resolution to get away from railway travel at the earliest possible moment. And he did. Something has to be done, or good night railway passenger traffic."

Later when I submitted this interview to him for his O.K., the I.C.C. declared he never said it. So I am privileged to present the statement and the denial in the same issue. Usually they come in two issues. Come to think of it, he is right—he never did say it. I didn't even interview him. But what I have said he said is just as true as if he had said it and you and I (and he) know it though none of us dares talk about it.

Machines and Men

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] May I call attention to a most interesting article appearing in this month's Harper's—"The Nemesis of American Business"—from which I select the following quotation:

"Here is a new ensilage harvesting machine that cuts cornstalks in the field and delivers them to the silo without a human hand touching a single stalk. Here is a new tabulating machine capable of doing the work of 100 skilled actuaries. Here is an automatic mechanism producing 73,000 electric-light bulbs every twenty-four hours, displacing 2000 hand operators for each machine installed. . . . Thirty-three operators aided by thirty-seven laborers are doing the work of 7000 pick-and-shovel men. Seventy men and machines displace 7000! . . . Combines in the harvesting of wheat in one area have cut the force of farm laborers from 50,000 to 20,000."

In Sunday's Times appears a dispatch from Detroit stating that 13,000 men, including skilled and unskilled labor and department executives, were removed from the pay rolls permanently and that normal production will be resumed without these 13,000 workers.

One may well ask what is going to be the ultimate result of all this. It is certainly rather ironical that recently this nation with other European countries has ratified a naval pact—scrapping and limiting the construction of naval vessels with the express purpose of cutting government expenses and furthering the object of world peace. And yet science is permitted to go on inventing and constructing machines that yearly displace thousands upon thousands of workers and which threaten, not alone our internal industrial peace, but, in time, man's very existence.

"Who to Save?"

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Everyone I know seems very much interested in Edison's big query, "Who to save?"

Why not have a general query on the subject by the citizens of Los Angeles? Here is my answer:

The brilliant scientist must return. He would be of great value to the world.

One of the guides, the younger. He would be better able to help them out of the desert.

And the little boy aged 6. Although I would very much want to save my fiancee and friend, I know that it would be futile to try to persuade them to leave me.

I think there are about 5000 different answers to this question. So let's go.

ROY H. WAINWRIGHT.

Not the Scientist

PASADENA, Aug. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Not being acute enough to answer the "saving" problem poised by Mr. Edison, I must confine myself to one member of the party. Who to save I don't know, but I certainly think the 60-year-old scientist should be left behind. If he was allowed to return he would sure to get busy fabricating some other silly questionnaire.

JUDGE TO RULE IN BRIBE CASE

Decision on Dismissal for Grider Due Today

State Moves to Drop When Berman Won't Testify

Julian Jury Deal Linked to Sale of Property

Definite decision on the District-Attorney's motion to dismiss bribery charges against Frank C. Grider, ex-trial Julian case juror, will be made by Superior Judge Wilson today. The motion was made last Friday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones, based upon insufficient evidence to warrant prosecution. William Fleet, defense attorney, supported the motion.

The case has been in the process of preparation by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Jones and Barnes for more than a month, but it was not decided that there was insufficient evidence until last week when Jacob Berman, star witness in five major Julian cases, declared that he would not testify against Grider because he believed the man to be innocent.

HOME SALE FEATURED

Grider is charged with accepting a bribe from Berman indirectly through the sale of his home during the original Julian trial. John Groves, another juror in the same case, already has been convicted of accepting a bribe largely through Berman's testimony.

Sale of Grider's Witmer-street home was made to Louis Krause, reported confidential agent for Berman, for $16,000—a price which the prosecution contends was exhorbitant. Berman, however, asserts that he believes Krause made the purchase without ever obtaining a promise from Grider to vote not guilty.

HEARINGS ON PLEAS

Krause, too, has been convicted of bribery in connection with the Groves bribe. Both he and Groves now are scheduled to appear before Judge Wilson for hearing on their pleas for probation.

Berman, who is serving a seven years' term in McNeil Island for using the mails to defraud, was returned to Los Angeles to appear as a witness and defendant in criminal cases arising out of the Julian Petroleum Corporation collapse. Recently he was convicted of three counts of forgery at the close of his trial before Superior Judge Schauer. He is yet to appear as a witness in the Groves case, which is scheduled for trial on the 25th inst.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Reading the asserted trials and tribulations of one Mrs. McDonnell, as published in the Saturday Evening Post recently, concerning her sojourn in France, and discussing the matter with resident and visiting Americans in Paris, has set many Parisians in a philosophical mood.

In the event you didn't read Mrs. McDonnell's tirade, the lady aired her grudges of a decade or so passed abroad, especially in France. Summarized, she concluded that the French are a race of goblins awaiting to devour the trusting American tourist.

Now, having visited most of the countries of the world, including America, as a tourist, one is forced to smile. For human nature and people as a whole, are much the same, whether you be in America, France, China or Brazil.

Travel, whether it be from Oshkosh to Wilmot, or from New York to Paris, has itsadvantages as well as disadvantages—just as married life has its ups and downs. But to say that one race of people distinguishes disadvantageously against the traveling public of another race is pure hokum.

Can one imagine Wanamaker's or Sears, Roebuck having one price for people from Indiana and another for those from Arkansas? Can one imagine Childs having a menu for citizens of Brooklyn and another for those of Queensborough? Can one picture the postoffice in Chicago stopping to be contrary about a letter because it comes from Siam?

France, just as every European country, is glad to welcome tourists. It is particularly glad to welcome Americans, because of all European nationalities, the French probably more than any other people approach the Americans in sentiment, traditions and—happily, for them—sense of humor.

There have been times when national relations have been strained—when a few bad boys on both sides of the fence became the village cut-ups—but at no time has that faith in, and admiration which the French have for Americans been threatened and at no time has the French tourist industry distinguished against Americans.

We've been "stung" in Manhattan night clubs just as we've been "hiked" in Montmartre palaces—the only difference being that half of Montmartre's palaces are owned and patronized by South Americans, Englishmen—and Americans.

But the French still remain a strong advocate of international travel. There lies a better mutual understanding—and a more congenial world.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davey who have been enjoying a delightful summer traveling abroad are on their way home and will arrive Tuesday at their Beverly Hills home.

Among the Angelenos traveling abroad this summer, guests at hotels in Baden-Baden, the health and pleasure resort in the Black Forest of Southwestern Germany and who attended the Whitsuntide ball and saw the brilliant night fireworks display, were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Sartori, and their sons Guy and Roy Bushee, Mr. and Mrs. George Karstens and Marie Dressler.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cooper have gone to Paris from Holland and are at the Hotel Scribe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alexander have arrived at the Golf Hotel in Baden-Baden, Germany, for a stay of two months. At the end of that time, Mr. Alexander will return to the United States while Mrs. Alexander will pass the winter in Egypt.

Well known in Paris for his exhibitions, Wilson Silsby, etcher, painter and veteran Hollywood art director, has returned from Finnland to fulfil a two-year etching contract in Europe. His headquarters will be at 19 Rue de Bourgogne, Meudon, and his work will take him into every country on the continent. He is accompanied by his adopted son, Clifford Silsby, also a painter, who studied in Paris.

The Restaurant en Foret at Le Touquet, France, presented a brilliant scene at its last gala, where then were many distinguished guests in different parties. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harrison of Los Angeles had eight guests including their nieces, the Misses Mary and Peggy Harmon, and Miss Joan Sutherland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kern have returned to the Hotel George V in Paris after a two-month trip through Italy and Switzerland.

GIRL WINS MENTION ON CHARM

Pasadena Pair Now on Visit in North

Miss Jean Nickerson

MISS JEAN NICKERSON and her mother, Mrs. Henry M. Nickerson of the Maryland, Pasadena, went north the end of last week, planning to pass the remainder of the summer with the latter's brother, Robert Hamlin, in San Luis Obispo.

Miss Nickerson recently won mention in Pasadena's California Life as one of the most attractive members of the younger social set of the Crown City, having just celebrated her sixteenth birthday anniversary.

Little Helps

A teaspoonful of sweet oil around the roots of the rubber plant will make the leaves glossy.

Feed your gold fish regularly every morning at the same time and they will be more healthy.

Keeping Berries Fresh

If you are not going to use the berries for a day or so, take them from their container and place in a large mason jar, screwing on the top tightly. Then keep the jar in the refrigerator until ready to use. Berries will keep for almost a week in this fashion. This is unnecessary in an electric ice box as berries will keep indefinitely just packed in their container, on account of no-dampness feature of this type refrigerator.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

CANDIED FIGS

Place in a sauce pan two cupfuls of water, and two cupfuls of sugar, bring to a boil, skim, add one at a time, five pounds of unpeeled figs, and simmer slowly for one hour. Remove from the fire and let stand uncovered in the open air for twenty-four hours, return to the fire, and simmer slowly for one hour longer. Then let stand for another twenty-four hours, return to the fire, watch carefully, so that the figs do not stick to the bottom of the sauce pan, and simmer slowly for one hour. Lift out the figs carefully, place on platters, and stand in the sun for three days, covering at night.

FRUIT CATSUP

Peel four pounds of peaches and place in a sauce pan, with one cupful of water, let simmer slowly for one and one-half hours, press through a collander, place the pulp in a sauce pan, and add to it two quarts of vinegar, two cupfuls of brown sugar, one-half cupful of grated horse radish, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of ground cloves, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of mace, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of allspice, simmer slowly for three hours, stirring occasionally to keep from burning. Bottle while hot.

VEAL LOAF

Run twice through the meat grinder two pounds of lean veal, one quarter of a pound of salt pork, or raw ham, and two medium-sized onions. Place the mixture in a bowl, and cream into it a half a cupful of butter, and beat in one at a time three eggs, add a seasoning of salt, and paprika, beat well, place in a baking pan, add one sliced carrot, one stalk of celery cut in small pieces, and a half-cupful of water. Bake in a medium oven, for two and a half hours, basting often.

FROZEN GRAPE-JUICE WHIP

Boil two cupfuls of grape juice with two cupfuls of sugar, until it forms a heavy syrup, cool and stir into the syrup, the whites of two eggs that have been beaten until foamy, and one cupful of heavy cream. Beat with a whip until light and frothy, pour into a wet mold and place in the ice box.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requested recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

A Recipe Shower

An inexpensive shower for the bride-to-be, who already has had far too many showers, is one of recipes. An attractive kitchen index is bought by the hostess and the cards distributed among the invited guests. Each guest puts on her card her very best recipe and writes her name at the bottom of the card. The bride will get lots of enjoyment out of this keepsake later on.

The Refrigerator in Summer

This is the season when the refrigerator demands attention. Keep the inside and drain pipes clean with a weekly bath of hot water and soda and there will be no trouble. Don't try to keep leftovers so long in the warm weather. Use them as soon as possible, so the refrigerator is not full of odds and ends that may not keep.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

No one is all black, you know;
This is true of man and crow.
—Old Mother Nature.

JIM CROW REDEEMS HIMSELF

Mother Brown pretended to be disappointed that Jim Crow had returned. She pretended that she wished that having gone away with the other Crows, he had stayed away. But if the truth were known, right down inside she was glad to see him back. She had missed him. He was a mischievous scamp; nevertheless, he was an interesting one.

"There's one thing about it," said she to Farmer Brown's Boy, "and that is that on washday he must be shut up. If you want to keep that Crow, you've got to promise to see that he is shut up early Monday morning, and isn't allowed out again until the washing has been taken in. I certainly will not stand for having the clothesline pulled and the washing dropped on the ground again."

For several days after his return Jim Crow was on his very best behavior. Yes, sir, he was so. He didn't get in any mischief at all. He followed Farmer Brown's Boy everywhere. He was so glad to be back that he had to talk about it all the time. As he rode around on the shoulder of Farmer Brown's Boy, he talked Crow-talk continually and Farmer Brown's Boy was certain that it was all about how glad he was to be home again.

"White grubs are pretty bad this year," said Farmer Brown, "and the worst of it is, there isn't much we can do about it. There is the fourth one I have hoed out in the last ten minutes."

He was just about to crush it with his hoe when Jim Crow hopped down from the shoulder of Farmer Brown's Boy and snatched up that white grub. In a jiffy it had disappeared. Then what do you think Jim Crow did? He began to walk sedately at Farmer Brown's heels. His sharp eyes snapped. And every time that Farmer Brown dug out a white grub, Jim Crow was right on hand to snap it up. Then he followed Farmer Brown's Boy for a while. The surprising thing was that he discovered many white grubs that neither Farmer Brown, nor Farmer Brown's Boy saw until he pulled them out.

All this Farmer Brown watched with considerable interest. Finally he spoke. "That Crow may be a nuisance at times," said he, "but he certainly has redeemed himself this morning. I've been watching him. Not only has he been eating those white grubs, but he has been pulling out cutworms. Any bird that will hunt white grubs and cutworms deserves respect. I knew there was some good in Crows, but just what that good was I didn't know. That is, I didn't know to what extent they were good. I suspect that those Crows that live in the Green Forest do a lot more good than we have any idea of."

"Of course they do," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. "They have a lot of bad habits, but they have a lot of good ones, too. I guess that, all in all, they do about as much good as they do harm. If only they didn't destroy the babies of other birds, they would be all right."

"Caw, Caw!" said Jim Crow, as if he understood.

"There's one thing about it, and that is that it is only in the nesting season that they do this harm," continued Farmer Brown's Boy. "The rest of the year they do no serious mischief that I know of and they probably do a lot of good."

"Caw, Caw!" said Jim Crow, and with a quick side motion he snapped up a cutworm.

"I wish Mother Brown could see what Jim Crow is doing," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "Perhaps she will feel better about him then. Perhaps she would feel more kindly."

Farmer Brown chuckled. "Don't you worry about her," said he. "She may pretend that she dislikes Jim Crow, but it is all pretense. However, we'll tell her how Jim Crow has been helping us this morning."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Household Data

Oil paintings should be covered with a cloth before the room is swept.

A piece of fried bacon rind will bait a mouse trap better than cheese.

A pipestem cleaner will remove all the sediment from the iced tea sippers.

A few drops of turpentine in the boiler on washday will loosen the dirt and whiten the clothes.

A cheap silver cleaner consists of a paste of baking soda and warm water. Apply with a brush, rinse in clear water and polish with a dry cloth.

When pressing woolens and using a damp rag be sure to wring the rag out of warm water, not cold. Cold water will only cool the iron more quickly and make a longer job of it.

Ready for the Edging

If you are going to crochet the edges of a pillowcase and yet do not wish to go to the expense of having the scallops hemstitched, stitch the outline of the scallops twice with the sewing machine, cut out carefully on the outside edge and work your design over this surface. It will hold just as well as if it were hemstitched and, of course, takes off about 50 cents from each pillow.

Easily Mended

If you have lost the cork out of the bottom of the attractive salt shaker, use a gummed preserving label over the hole to keep in the salt until you get a new cork.

What Is "MORTON'S" TOE?

Is walking almost impossible for you on account of excruciating pains which emanate from the fourth toe and shoot through the entire foot? Then you have Morton's toe, a condition caused by nerve irritation when the metatarsal bones of the foot are crowded or distorted.

Relief from Morton's Toe can only be obtained when the delicate metatarsal bones are restored to their natural position. This, MOVABLE ARCH SHOES do most effectively. The adjustable metatarsal arch is shaped and fitted to your foot and instantly relieves nerve pressure! . . . MOVABLE-ARCH SHOES are the ultimate triumph of the famous inventor and orthopedist, Dr. A. Reed.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (Exclusive) Though we scorn and pity the commuter during the long frozen months of the winter, we all ape him as the temperature rises and the winds fall. Therefore, it is well to learn some of his craft in the matter of clothes for the train, of such a nature that you may leave a sweltering city and arrive at a wind-swept beach without being either suffocated or congealed. The range of weather you may have to meet demands a number of protective devices in your week-end wardrobe. To begin with, there is the cotton tweed suit. This, very trig and sporty indeed, is porous and light, but offers some protection for the drive from the station to the house. It has semitailored feeling which many women absolutely require in travel clothes. For there will always be those who feel, with perfect justice, that any elaboration of dress or fabric is not fitting for a train journey.

Cool With a Chic

When the weather is unbearably hot, we turn, for our train dresses, to print silks, those thin flat crepes with just enough body to make it possible to cut them on tailored lines. These keep amazingly crisp and fresh looking. A sport coat, harmonizing with some shade of the print, should be carried as an insurance against any weather vagaries or simply as a dust protector for an open car. Dark blue and black georgettes are good to wear if you are forced to come into town for a day's shopping. These are, of course, a little dressier than the purely travel dresses of which I have spoken, but they enable you to lunch at a smart restaurant in comfort and are so diaphonously cool as to take some of the misery out of hot-weather shopping. The darkness of the coloring and utter simplicity of cut keep them on the safe side of the fence as train dresses.

En Route Hats

The very wide hat, which has had and will continue to have its own very definite place in the mode, has, for obvious reasons, none whatever in the train. Rather than make your neighbor and yourself thoroughly uncomfortable, rather than expose a well-shaped straw to merciless automobile breezes, compromise with a moderate-sized hat which will afford you protection from the sun. The ideal type of chapeau of this category is a medium-sized panama. In your bag you may tuck any number of hat bands which snap on over the one sewn on the hat, and match your various costumes. This device, though not new, is so practical and smart that it has carried over successfully into this season. Fabric berets and the draped fabric toques are all very packable, indeed, so it is advisable to wear a stiff hat in order to get as much variety as possible into your week-end wardrobe.

The Bag

Paris designers have aided and abetted the traveler this year by sponsoring large hand bags. You will be guided in the choice of fabric and color by the rest of your ensemble, and especially your shoe and glove selection, but you will be guided in the choice of shape and size by necessity. You must have many compartments for tickets, money, keys, make-up, etc. If you have never had a bag with a zipper top, you can have no idea of how particularly and eminently practical it is for the woman en route. If you do not consider the zipper particularly pleasing to the eye, there are many models in which it is ingeniously hidden under an outer flap. The large bags, many of them have crystal handles. The theme of them all is that they have one, large, important decorative idea which is perfectly simple. A contrast by using two kinds of leather, crystal handle or ornament, a sliding metal catch, enormous, plan initials, narrow white or colored piping, any of these may be used to give you bag interest and still allow it the tailored lines which are so important. A fabric bag goes well with a fabric hat. In the formula of chic, choose your bag, or for that matter, any article of personal adornment to complement or harmonize with your wardrobe.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, how to set, rupture, sizes and bolls and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

LACTIC ACID FEEDINGS NEED VERY LITTLE DILUTION

Ravenous appetites are seldom bewailed, but such is Mrs. B's tale of woe. And the answer is just about what one would expect—because the child's formula was inadequate for his needs, he demanded frequent feedings and thus learned the habit of eating too often.

Here is the story: "My baby weighed five and one-half pounds at birth," says Mrs. B., "and as she couldn't be nursed, we put her upon a lactic acid milk formula. She gained well but was always hungry and could not be kept to a three-hour schedule.

"At six months she weighed nineteen pounds. I called the doctor and he cut down on her milk feedings and ordered more solid food. She eats everything I give her but cannot be satisfied and is still gaining rapidly.

"Her formula still consists of half milk and half water, and in addition apple sauce, strained vegetables, cereal and prunes. Thumb-sucking is an obsession and though she stops when I look at her, the thumb goes right into her mouth when she lies down."

FORMULA TOO WEAK

If you are still using a formula containing half water and half milk, Mrs. B., your baby's dissatisfaction is easily explained. Lactic acid is added to the milk to avoid dilution. Right now you should be giving daily four eight-ounce feedings of the following formula: One quart of milk boiled and cooled, one teaspoonful of lactic acid, one and one-half ounces of corn syrup and the same amount of water. For a fifth feeding, add about five more ounces of water, as one quart of milk a day is enough for any child. (Methods of preparing different kinds of soured milks, as well as charts of formulas, are included in our leaflet on "Lactic Acid Feedings," which any reader may secure by inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request.)

OBSERVE FOUR-HOUR INTERVALS

With the above formula, baby will be satisfied to wait four hours, and the additional foods are given at those hours, too, not between feedings. An arbitrary schedule follows: 6 a.m.—formula, 9:45 a.m.—orange juice, 10 a.m.—cereal and formula, 2 p.m. — vegetables and formula, 6 p.m.—cereal and formula. Fed this way, baby should sleep through the night, so that the fifth bottle may be dispensed with.

Correct the diet first, then wrap that seductive thumb in a thick enough covering of adhesive tape so that it can't be put in the mouth. Or cover baby's whole hand at night and nap time with a cotton mitten. This makes it almost impossible for baby to indulge in any harmful degree of thumb-sucking. During the day, keep her occupied with more interesting pastimes.

Mrs. A. Z. You did not mention the age of your daughter and this makes it hard to guess what may be wrong. While none of the foods she is taking are harmful or causes of hives certainly they should be dropped when she has them so constantly. Here are the foods sometimes at fault, in the person susceptible to them: Eggs, cow's milk, wheat cereals, pork, shellfish, strawberries, sometimes other fruits. Change of water, change of environment, nervousness, all these may cause hives. Rearrange the day's menu whatever it is, get in more rest, take baking soda, one teaspoonful in a glass of water, or a dose or two of milk of magnesia. Cover wheals with baking soda, and keep up the soda baths. Eat lots of vegetables of all kinds and see if you can't correct this.

Lower Prices for Park Site Lands Cited

Figures submitted to the Park Commission by Councilman Randall indicate the possibility of obtaining the land for the proposed twenty-acre park in Roscoe for a sum considerably less than the total amount of the options which the city now holds on the lots included in the area. But this sum also is much higher than the total of the appraisals made of these lots and, therefore, the commission has taken under advisement the question of whether to obtain the land by condemnation proceedings or by direct purchase.

A bond issue of $150,000 to pay for the park has been voted, with the proviso that $100,000 be devoted to the purchase of land and $50,000 to improvement and equipment. The options on the land total $101,625, whereas the appraisals submitted to the commission place the value at $63,611.

Councilman Randall has informed the commission that on the basis of negotiations already conducted with the owners of more than half of the land involved he believes it can be acquired by direct purchase for about $80,000. He advises that this be done rather than go into condemnation proceedings with the risk of the awards mounting to a much higher total than even the figures of the present options.

Health and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

COTTAGE CHEESE A PROTEIN

One of the easiest proteins to digest during the summer season is cottage cheese, for it may be taken on a vacation trip and used to take the place of meat, as no cooking is required. It is quite wholesome, easily digested by most people and furnishes a very good form of protein.

Cottage cheese, schmierkase or clabber cheese are different names for the curd, which has been separated from sour skimmed or whole milk. If it is too dry, it may be moistened by adding a little milk or cream just before serving. The cheese tastes best and is most wholesome fresh. It is not hard to make at home, is agreeably flavored and very nutritious.

A good cottage cheese has a fine grainy texture and a fresh, sour taste. It takes about a gallon of sour milk to make one and one-half pounds of cheese. As a general rule the skimmed-milk cheese is just as wholesome as that made from whole milk, as the smaller amount of fat contained in the cheese, the more easily it is digested.

Cottage cheese contains about 23 per cent casein (a form of protein) and about 4 per cent fat. It contains large quantities of the mineral elements, principally calcium, phosphorus and chlorine.

The best way to prepare cottage cheese at home is to let a quart of raw milk stand in the refrigerator box about ten days, which allows it to sour slowly. The sour milk should then be put in a double boiler and well beaten with an egg whip to make the texture smooth. After beating, place in a cheesecloth bag and hang in the sun to dry. The cheese should not be put on the stove and heated as it is usually prepared, as this makes the curd harder and more difficult to digest. The cottage cheese tastes best when the whole milk is used, but the rich, distinctly protein food is perfectly good if the cream is first removed.

Cottage cheese may be used occasionally instead of meat, but should always be accompanied by fresh raw vegetables, as it is very concentrated and needs this kind of food to provide bulk. It should be remembered that like all concentrated foods, cottage cheese tends to produce constipation. However, when plenty of greens are eaten at the same time, they will counteract this tendency. Celery, spinach, lettuce, tomatoes and small amounts of carrots make excellent combinations with cottage cheese.

In serving cottage cheese as the meat part of a meal, serve it with it plenty of cooked and raw green vegetables, but no starchy or other proteins. One egg for breakfast and four ounces of cottage cheese for dinner will give the body all of the protein it needs for the day and it is not necessary to have any other meat or meat substitute at the same time.

PASTORAL EVE EXERTS SPELL

Beethoven's Sixth Impresses Throng at Bowl

Molinari at Best Interprets Nature Symphony

Arne Oldberg Variations Liked at Hearing

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Musically speaking, the best program which Molinari has conducted at the Hollywood Bowl this season took place Saturday night. Possibly it was the contrast with the night before, perhaps the rest changed the vibrations, or it may be that the beneficent Beethoven Pastorale symphony exerted its influence. All these things or none of them may or may not have contributed, but the fact remains that a large audience of reverent listeners was sorry when the two-hour program was over.

The delicate overture to "Don Giovanni" (Mozart) the sixth symphony of Beethoven; a notable American work, symphonic variations for two pianos and orchestra by Arne Oldberg; Prelude to "Le Deluge" and the fascinating "Danse Macabre," by Saint-Saens, made up the list. Molinari conducted again as he conducted the first year he came to the Bowl, with great sincerity and an almost humble regard for the composers.

He does something with the "Pastorale" symphony of Beethoven that no other conductor seems able to do. He imbues it with the sweet peace of nature and plays it with a rich simplicity.

The "Symphony Variations," by Arne Oldberg of Chicago, proved a revelation of ability. This quiet gentleman who heads the piano department of Northwestern University has written a work which should place him among the most honored American composers. The theme is dignified, melodic and rich in possibilities and the Oldberg craftsmanship and invention was adequate to its fine development. His broad knowledge of orchestration is here shown to advantage. On this occasion American invention was backed by solid musicianship.

The combination of two pianos, often supplemented by the harp, brought new tone colors into the orchestral effect and a modern use of overtones thus came into play. Both the composer and the other soloist, Hilda Edwards Oldberg, are excellent pianists and they played the celebrated Bechstein piano for its first concert appearance in the West. It filled the Bowl with a round, mellow tone even to its topmost notes.

The concluding orchestral numbers by Saint-Saens gave Sylvain Noack, as concert-master, an opportunity for outstanding solo work. He was applauded deservedly at the end. The "Danse Macabre" is one of Molinari's particular successes. His use of temperament in this can be compared to the bewitching tales of Sarasate.

TENOR WILL BE FEATURE AT THEATER

John McCormack to be Heard in Latest Film at Loew's State

The voice of John McCormack will be heard in a downtown theater for the first time Thursday when "Song o' My Heart" has its showing Loew's State.

McCormack sings several of his most famous numbers and a few new ones but the picture is in no wise a revue or concert performance. It is a romance of young love. McCormack, as Sean O'Carolan, his own romance shattered, zealously guards and fosters the love of the two youngsters whose fates become intertwined with his own.

The melodies as sung by McCormack are said to form an exquisite background for the development of the romance. Tom Barry wrote the story and Frank Borzage directed. The cast features Alice Joyce, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick, J. M. Kerrigan, Tommy Clifford, Farrell Macdonald, Effie Ellsler and other players. Many of the scenes were filmed in McCormack's own home in Ireland.

The current screen attraction at Loew's State is William Haines in "Way Out West."

Belasco Has Extra Show on Friday

Ina Claire will play a special matinee performance of "Rebound" at the Belasco Theater Friday afternoon, in addition to her regular Wednesday and Saturday afternoon appearances, it was announced last evening.

The extra appearance has been arranged in order to accommodate as many theatergoers as possible during Miss Claire's final week at the theater. Messrs. Belasco and Curran, producers of "Rebound," it seems, made every effort to extend the "Rebound" engagement, but because Miss Claire must go East almost immediately to fulfill a picture contract, this was impossible, to do.

"Rebound" closes Saturday. On Monday night, a week later, the 18th inst., "It's A Wise Child" will come to the theater. This is David Belasco's comedy which has had a full year on Broadway and been sent West with the original cast intact.

Her Twinkling Toes Grace Musical

Mary Hutchinson

SACRIFICE HEROIC IN PASADENA

'Man, Saul' Has Creditable Premiere; Muni and James Eagles Contrasted

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

"The Man, Saul" from the pen of Sidney Robert Buchman, is a strange and beautiful metaphysical idea developed with almost Promethean gesture, now being groomed for a Broadway appearance. Given a finely perspectived premiere at Pasadena Community Playhouse, it grips through the intense vehemence of its unfoldment.

Paul Muni, distinguished screen and stage actor in the name part, and James Eagles, young torch bearer of the juveniles in a strongly contrasted brother portrayal, bring poignant vitality to a drama developed with the deep conviction and necessity of an O'Neill. Arthur Lubin, New York director, and Gilmor Brown have realized upon their experience with splendid sympathy and adroitness in presentation.

The contrast between the idea and the circumstance of its expression, the shifting light and shadow, make for swift-moving and deeply human drama. The conflict between the mundane and rough-hewn gangster and his spiritually sensitive brother is deep and heart rending. It tears at the very vitals of life with swift incisive strokes. Nothing is glossed over. Life is presented in the raw. Yet in the midst of this sordid atmosphere is introduced the beauty of sacrifice perhaps seen in the love of a mother or of a wife, but in this play in the love of a younger brother, which transfigures through its self-sacrificing effacement.

And this in order that he may bestow the flowering perfection of love upon a yearning girl wife, who somehow manages to perceive an inner beauty beneath the brutal exterior of her husband. The elder brother, monstrous in his demand for the hard, bright outline of life; the younger seeking ever the sidereal flame of the symbol, and only through the sacrificial death of the younger brother is the regeneration of the elder accomplished.

The fire and passionate sweep of the play carry an intensity of purpose and a dignity which is Greek. The denouement brings high tragedy in an almost Renaissance manner, softened by the dawn-thrilled fragrance of a spiritual love.

Mr. Buchman concerns himself with the mysterious processes behind the shifting curtains of life. He paints courage as a steady upward inflection, for the young brother with his frail body proves the heroic soul.

Paul Muni gives a dynamic and virile portrayal of the really pathetic earth creature, with his unbridled emotions and bombastic egotism. The characterization is wrought with fine understanding of the psychological angle, and with powerful dramatic gesture. As the frail younger brother James Eagles, with his sensitive equipoise, brings the delicacy of beauty and an intense poignancy to his characterization. It was a difficult part, handled with the spiritual sympathy of a visionary. Marian Clayton, with her warmth and tenderness, uncovers the lovely flame of wifehood with beautiful feeling. Jacques Vanaire is delightfully subtle in his comedy touches, and brings the one breath of lightness. Mike Donlin, as a gangster by name Jig, gives an excellent performance. Alexander Lockwood and Sam Hinds in bits are good.

FEATURES AUGMENT "RAFFLES" SHOWING

In addition to "Raffles" with Ronald Colman the United Artists Theater is presenting a program, featuring a number of novelties. Gaylord Carter, organist, introduces a new type of organ concert. His outstanding number is "Cheer Up, Good Times Are Coming," in which he plays a medley of songs.

A Pathe comedy, "All for Mamel," which deals with campus life, is also to be heard and seen. Other shorts include Paul Ash and Jean Boydell in a singing novelty, "I'm a Wild Woman;" a talkertoon, "Dizzy Dishes," and Paramount Sound News.

ARLEN AS ATHLETE

"STORM" TO HAVE PREMIERE

Drama of Canada with Lupe Velez Starts Thursday at Million Dollar

Universal's talking version of "The Storm," starring Lupe Velez will be given a dual premiere at the Million Dollar Theater here and the New Strand of Long Beach on Thursday evening.

William Boyd, who has earned recognition in a year in films said to parallel that gained in the New York theater, enacts the role of a frontiersman, while Miss Velez portrays a Canadian girl. Paul Cavanaugh, English stage recruit, also has a principal part.

"The Storm," listed among Universal's banner releases for the new season, was advanced on schedule to permit the New Strand to feature it as the opening attraction under the Lazarus-Vinnicof management, the firm which also operates the local Million Dollar Theater. Five vaudeville acts will be extra stage attractions at both theaters.

Cast to Take Bow at Carthay Circle Opening

Interest of filmdom in the forthcoming premiere of "Holiday" at the Fox Carthay Circle Theater Thursday is greater than at any opening for a long time, according to officials of the theater.

The demand for seat reservations from celebrities has been tremendous, and the list of those who plan to attend reads like a veritable "Who's Who in Pictures."

The entire cast of the picture will make a personal appearance from the stage immediately following its showing. This includes Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton, Robert Ames, Hedda Hopper, Hallam Cooley, Monroe Owsley, Mabel Forrest, William Holden, Creighton Hale and Audrey Forrester.

OAKIE STAYS HERE

Jack Oakie, Paramount comedy star, is not planning to return to the stage this year, it has been declared by B. P. Schulberg, general manager of West Coast production for the film company. This denial follows the publication in New York of a rumor to the effect that Oakie will be starred in the new edition of Ziegfeld's "Follies." The production schedule at the Hollywood studios will keep Oakie busy for several months to come.

EL CAPITAN SERVES TEA FOR THREE

Audience Also Guests as Beverage, with a Dash of Vitriol, is Poured

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Just like the characters in a "morality play," those in "Tea for Three" are programmed the Friend, the Wife, the Husband and so on. "Tea for Three" was staged under Henry Duffy's supervision yesterday at El Capitan Theater; raising the question, naturally, Is it a morality play?

Well, perhaps. Certainly there is a great deal of moralizing in it, particularly in the first act; some of it, I think, comes under the heading of "truth." But the late Roi Cooper Megrue's treatise is much more a competently written comedy of manners devised for the amusement of those to whom matrimony is a matter of moment; it is, as the handbill states, "An angle on the triangle," and you could do worse than go to see it.

Originally, I believe, a showpiece for the talents of Arthur Byron and Margaret Lawrence, the play is presently in the hands of Tom Moore, Ernest Glendinning and Gladys George—a trio upon whom falls the not unimposing task of conversing steadily and with mostly unruffled equanimity for nearly three hours. The fact that they emerge with dogged smiles hard upon the final curtain is enough justification for applause, probably, irrespective of just how well they carried their burdens; but in addition they may be granted largesse for convincing and even effective portrayals — especially Mr. Moore, in a role as exacting as it is unexpected.

Unexpected, because the genial Irish grin which has set off many a cop's uniform takes one so unaware, shining out of the face of a practiced philanderer like this one—called Phil for short—that Megrue sends into the home of The Husband and The Wife. It may just be, of course, that some of our best philanderers wear such cheerful aspect while getting in some of their deadliest work; in which case the casting may be assayed as letter-perfect. Certainly Mr. Moore's humors are infectious, if not as brittle as the author intended, and infinitely preferable to those of the sulky, ineffectual fellow whom The Mrs. elects to term "Mr." till death no them part.

Mr. Glendinning, more patly situated in the role of the husband, manages to wring a sort of involuntary sympathy for himself in spite of his palpable weaknesses; so that the final tea for three is poured in an atmosphere as homelike as even Mr. Duffy, a stickler for homelikeness, could wish for.

Miss George, a newcomer to the theater here, displays a blond charm to advantage as the wife without always measuring up to histrionic requirements. Eric Snowden is good as the traditional valet, and Dorothy Cecil plays a surprising maid surprisingly.

"Tea for Three," modern without being ultramodern—by which I mean that it belongs in the intermediate era directly preceding the more stinging Barrys, Lardners and Stewarts—is agreeable talk. At El Capitan it should be popular as well.

Male Chorus Appears Here

With college songs from universities east and west featured, a large male chorus appears at Pantages Hollywood this week as an added attraction to the showing of "Shadow of the Law," with William Powell and Panchon and Marco's stage presentation, "Gems and Jams Idea."

Twenty trained male vocalists make up the group which is known as the "Yostonians." Slim Martin, with the Pantages Orchestra, also adds to the musical features of this week's program.

ACTRESS PLAYED IN "BAT" FOR TWO YEARS

Alma Powell, who gives a convincing characterization of the comfortable Hungarian mother in "Fata Morgana," now in its fourth week at the Hollywood Playhouse, played Cornelia in "The Bat" on Broadway for two years.

During her long stage experience in New York, Miss Powell has played many noteworthy roles. She made her debut at a precocious age, with Mrs. Fiske, in the original production of "Becky Sharp."

SCHOOL VOTING TO BE STUDIED

Council to Consider Plan of Ward System's Return

Whole Membership Called in for Discussion Today

Opponents to Old Method Cite Chance for Graft

As a special order of business, the City Council this morning will consider the problem of going back to the old ward system in electing members of the Board of Education. The subject of discussion is whether the Council shall place on the November ballot a proposition electing a member of the board from each Councilmanic district, instead of seven elected at large.

The Legislative Committee, composed of Councilmen Davis and Burns and President Sanborn, conducted a hearing two weeks ago, but reported that because of the questions involved, the whole thing should be considered by the Council as a whole. At that time a number of speakers, including Mrs. Susan Dorsey, Joseph Scott, former Federal Judge Bledsoe and H. W. Frank, former president of the Board of Education, vigorously opposed the change.

Resolutions and letters condemning the change are before the Council from Melville Dozier, former assistant Superintendent of Schools, the Woman's Twentieth Century Club, the executive committee of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mr. Frank, and others.

"Experience has shown," wrote Mr. Frank, "that ward elected members are extravagant and inefficient; that they indulge in excessive wire-pulling and trading to make a showing for their wards.

"Bad politics results under the ward plan. The ward system in Los Angeles up to 1904 was inadequate, inefficient and corrupt. Graft was uncovered in the purchasing of supplies, in the buying of school sites and in the letting of contracts. Extortion and bribery were practiced on applicants for teachers' positions. Unprincipled politicians used their power as school board members in a most scandalous manner, leading to various investigations. The present system has been successful. The requests for a change are absolutely devoid of merit and are fraught with possible danger."

Flyer to Face Charges Today

After several continuances, Loren W. Mendell, an aviator, is to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave for arraignment on a charge of conspiracy to smuggle alien Japanese into this country from Mexico.

It is charged that Mendell, who won an endurance flight at Culver City, landed his airplane at a point below Mexicali with the intention of bringing in the Japanese. He was arrested by Mexican authorities, but released.

AUTOPSY ORDERED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Police are investigating the death of Mrs. Louis Valenzuella, 40 years of age, of 748 South Flower street, said to be the ex-wife of a deputy sheriff by the same name, who was found dead in her apartment early yesterday, by Mrs. Edith M. Gay, landlady. Mrs. Gay told police that Mrs. Valenzuella had complained of a slight illness the day previous and was taking medicine. An autopsy will be conducted to determine whether an overdose of drugs caused death.

GIRL'S CADDIE LEADS DOG LIFE

He's Four-Footed and Gums Up Game

TME only trouble with this midget golf is that one can't smack the ball hard enough, Miss Ruthie Banesberger, 4 years of age, was overheard telling her caddie Oolong yesterday.

Miss Banesberger, attired in a costume suited either to bathing or golfing, was industriously practicing on her private course in the back yard of the family residence, 9023 Lloyd Place, West Hollywood. Oolong, a Pekingese and a close pal of Ruthie, accompanied her on the round.

Each time Ruthie smacked the ball Oolong retrieved it, generally before it had a chance to fall into the cup. Miss Banesberger, therefore, ventured the opinion yesterday the game ought to be more robust, permitting of longer drives, so the ball could find the cup before Oolong seized it.

ORDINANCE ORDERED

City Attorney Werner is under instructions of the City Council to prepare an ordinance prohibiting fishing, hunting and trespassing in city reservoirs.

Oolong's All Set to Beat Ball to Cup

Ruthie Banesberger finds midget golf somewhat difficult inasmuch as her pet Pekingese insists on retrieving pellet before it reaches destination.

WEEK-END HOLD-UPS GROW

Seventeen Cases of Banditry Reported Despite Heavy Increase in Patrol Squads

Despite a heavy additional number of patrol officers on the streets, there were seventeen hold-ups this week-end, an increase of five over the total of the previous week-end. Burglaries increased from twenty to twenty-two. Four suspects were arrested on suspicion of burglary and two on suspicion of robbery but, so far, none of these has been identified with any of the week-end crimes.

POLICEMAN TO BE TRIED FOR PERJURY

Pahrman Case Scheduled to Open Today in Court of Judge Wilson

Fred A. Pahrman, police officer, today is scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge Wilson charged with perjury in connection with testimony he gave in behalf of William J. Bost, a brother officer, who was tried and convicted of manslaughter for killing Christobal Silvas Sierra on the night of July 4, 1929.

The shooting occurred at Utah and Las Vegas streets. It was charged that Bost and Pahrman sought to arrest a group of youths for disturbing the peace and when Sierra sought to escape he was shot and instantly killed.

At Bost's trial, Pahrman testified that Sierra was not among the group of youths they sought to arrest and that Bost did not fire his revolver. Sufficient contradictory evidence was introduced, however, to convince the jury of Bost's guilt. Later the grand jury returned an indictment against Pahrman charging him with perjury, basing its case upon evidence introduced at Bost's trial.

A. W. Galloway, Local Attorney, Taken by Death

For more than twenty-five years a practicing attorney in Los Angeles, the legal career of Arthur G. Galloway was closed yesterday with his death at his home, 5112 Shearin avenue, Eagle Rock. Mr. Galloway was 48 years of age and was a native of Ohio.

Mr. Galloway received his legal education at the Ohio State University and previously had been a student of the Virginia Military Institute. He came to Southern California in 1905 and had been practicing his profession continuously since that time.

Death came as the result of a heart ailment of long standing. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Florence A. Galloway, three children having preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Culver City New Masonic Temple with interment following in the Forest Lawn Memorial Cemetery.

Church Founder Succumbs Here

Funeral services with a high requiem mass were conducted yesterday afternoon for Rt. Rev. Carl Auguste Nyblaidh, D.D., of Chicago, founder and bishop of the Swedish-American Catholic Church.

Dr. Nyblaidh has been living in Los Angeles at 1022 South Sierra Bonita avenue for the past ten years, coming here from Chicago on account of poor health. The services were at the Melrose Chapel and were followed by cremation at Hollywood Cemetery. The ashes will be forwarded to the family at Evanston, Ill.

In the list of hold-ups one woman was assaulted, four took place in drug stores, one in a grocery, one in a hardware store, two in cafes, and two motorists and six pedestrians were victims.

Mrs. R. J. Goodwin was the victim of the attack.

While she was returning from a near-by drug store to her home at 1940 North Alvarado street, two youths, whom she described as about 15 years of age, leaped upon her and attempted to strip a diamond ring from her hand. She struggled and succeeded in breaking away from them and running home, saving the ring. Police were immediately notified but no trace of the youths was found.

Two men held up the manager of the Golden Pheasant Cafe, 713 West Sixth street, and five patrons and escaped with $30 after forcing M. Romo, manager, to lie on the floor. The bandits sauntered to the street, entered a taxi cab and fled.

O. W. Cutler, 8871 1-2 Rugby avenue, lost $80 and a wallet to two bandits who robbed him at West Knoll and Santa Monica boulevards early yesterday after following him for several blocks after he left a street car.

Forced to the curb by a large black touring car after he had passed through a traffic signal at Ardmore avenue and Pico Boulevard, Homer Cady of 3464 Larga Drive thought he was to be cited for a traffic violation. Instead he was robbed of $61 by a man who stepped out of the machine and remarked as he flourished a pistol, "It's going to cost you more than a traffic fine this time, Buddy."

Two pedestrians were attacked and beaten by strong-arm bandits and later given medical treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for cuts and bruises. They are Frank Pries, 33, of 619 South Kohler street, held up at Seventh and Soto streets, and Gilbert Goday of 154 South Gless street, held up at First and Pleasant streets. Pries lost $20, and Goday $10.

Bandits Make Evening Raid on Creamery

Three bandits last evening held up and robbed the Adohr Creamery depot at 728 Los Angeles street, Glendale, obtaining $2000 from two employees who were on duty.

The robbery occurred at 7:45 o'clock. The money taken was the Saturday-Sunday receipts taken in by the delivery routes. The employees were forced to open the safe by two bandits who entered the office. Another outside in a car kept the motor running.

SURGEON PLANS VISIT TO EASTERN MORGUES

How autopsy surgeons handle the dead in coroners' offices and morgues in the big eastern cities, particularly Chicago, will be studied by Dr. Andrew F. Wagner, chief autopsy surgeon in the office of Coroner Nance. Dr. Wagner is planning to make his trip in September, according to a letter from the Coroner to the Board of Supervisors, which asks that the county pay Dr. Wagner's transportation costs. The board will act on the request today.

The surgeon expects to visit coroners' offices at Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York. Particular attention will be devoted to the study of poisoning cases.

NEPTUNE ROUTS REIGN OF SOL

Ocean Breezes Will Dispel Heat Sent by Desert, Says Weather Man

The hot spell of the past week has been broken and cooler weather is predicted for today by the Weather Bureau. Yesterday saw a maximum temperature of 82 deg. at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The minimum for the day was 64 deg.

A high pressure area has developed quite strongly over the sea out from the California coast. This will cause ocean breezes again and will prevent the desert heat from flowing out on the coastal plain, officials said. As long as it continues in the strength it apparently is developing Los Angeles will have cool weather.

Humidity was fairly high yesterday, 51 per cent being registered at the noon hour.

CITY URGED TO ACQUIRE BEACH LAND

Hoyt Favors Purchase of Three-Mile Strip Near Santa Monica Canyon

Acquisition by the city of the 3.3 mile stretch of beach extending from Santa Monica Canyon to the north city boundary is suggested in a report submitted to the Playground and Recreation Commission by Raymond E. Hoyt, superintendent of the department. Definite recommendation that this be done was not made, however, Hoyt merely asking that he be permitted to make further study of the matter. The commission granted his request.

In his report, he said that this stretch of beach is all privately owned, but is extensively used by the public with or without permission of the owners. He estimates that on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays at least 50,000 persons use this beach even though it does not regularly receive either municipal or county life-guard service. It is, however, one of the safest beaches along the whole coastline, Hoyt says, as it is comparatively free from dangerous tide rips.

It does not receive any maintenance at all, Hoyt says, and is at the present time in a very dirty and unsanitary condition. There is one private bathhouse located on this stretch and only one comfort station, which is operated commercially.

The market value of beach land along this stretch is mounting rapidly, Hoyt says, and is now being quoted from $300 to $1200 a front foot. It is reasonable to assume, however, he adds, that the city can acquire the whole stretch at not over $3,000,000 a mile.

STATE SNAG TRIPS SHEEP SALE PLANS

Corporation Commissioner Declares Company's Acts Contrary to Law

Commissioner of Corporations Athearn has made public a notice he has served on the Sheephaven Purchasing Company that its contract plan for disposing of sheep is contrary to the Corporate Securities Act of California.

"You and each of you are, therefore, requested to discontinue further sale, offer for sale or negotiation for the sale of such contracts in the State of California until you have first made application for and secured a permit from the Commissioner of Corporations authorizing the disposition of such contracts or other securities in this State," the commissioner's notice reads, in part.

The Sheephaven Purchasing Company has its offices at 626 Pacific National Building, Los Angeles. Investigation of its activities by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and Assistant Corporation Commissioner Ellis is asserted to have disclosed the company is asking investors to buy sheep at prices higher than the actual market quotations, and promising large profits. The Diamond Valley Walnut Company is accused of being a party to the Sheephaven concern's plan.

Commissioner Athearn further charges that the Diamond Valley Walnut Company has sought to convey the idea it uses Diamond Brand Walnuts, whereas the California Walnut Growers' Association is the exclusive user of the product.

Lot Owners to Fight Proposed Water District

Property owners or their representatives will appear before the Board of Supervisors at 10 a.m. today to protest against the proposal to create a new water district in the area just outside the city limits bounded by One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-first streets and Western avenue and the extension of Normandie avenue. This district is without a water system and residents are compelled to haul their supply.

"We are objecting to the creation of the proposed district," said H. L. Lynch, "because it will double the taxes to many. The district only has nineteen families.

"An oil well is being drilled in the area and the drillers will install their own water system and owners thus will escape the expense."

JUNIOR COLLEGE AIMS AT DESKS

Courses Pointed to Train for Executives

Theory Side of Nursing will be Offered

Dr. Snyder Proudly Cites Attendance Record

When the Los Angeles Junior College opens on the old Vermont-avenue site of the University of California at Los Angeles on September 2, it will offer a full two-year program to students in both the academic and the semi-professional fields. Throughout this summer the new program has been in the making and educators have had the help of executives in various professions and activities in determining the subjects to be offered, Dr. William H. Snyder, director, announces.

That the need for continuation education was met when the Junior College was opened to registrants last year is Dr. Snyder's opinion. He cites the fact that the institution closed with a daily attendance of 1447. "While our enrollment suffered the slight shrinkage of less than 100 during the year, our record in attendance is outstanding, when one studies the history of other junior colleges in their first years," the educator pointed out.

AIM AT MID-CHANNEL

Dr. Snyder emphasized the fact that the college is not competing with the training offered by the universities. "We are not aiming to turn out men and women for the teaching profession, for that is the business of the universities. Neither are we duplicating the work which may be had in the trade schools. What we are trying to do is aim for that happy mid-channel position which fits the student for a vocation in one of several lines that may lead to the executive's desk."

Listed in the semiprofessional group of subjects offered this year is electrical technology, in the planning of which telephone officials and executives from other electrical companies gave their aid. This course is designed to so equip the student that he may enter an organization where a practical knowledge of sound, light and electricity may be utilized.

THEORY FOR NURSING

Civic health, the title to another of these semiprofessional courses, grew out of the needs of doctors and dentists for trained office assistants. Representatives from these professions joined with the faculty of the Junior College in selecting subjects to be studied. They also directed the equipment to be used in a laboratory to be installed on the campus.

"Leading hospitals sent us delegates. Committee meetings were held and the course in theoretical training for nurses developed," Dr. Snyder pointed out. "Hospitals have ample facilities for the practical side of nursing, but they are limited in giving theoretical training. This is the only one-year course we are offering and is intended to be supplemented by the regular course in nursing in a hospital." Included in the course are such subjects as chemistry, dietetics, anatomy and physiology, speech training and English.

SPECIAL COURSES

Since playgrounds are under the direction of trained leaders, and both are steadily increasing in numbers, representatives of the playground departments of the city and the public schools were called in to assist in planning the course in recreational leadership.

Social arts for girls only, to supplement college studies with a knowledge of creative entertaining, history of foods and the home, the importance of nutrition, English and speech, are included in the new list of courses.

Other special courses include commercial art, secretarial training, banking, registrars' assistants, in which the student will spend part of the time in the office of the college registrar; drama, aiming at play writing stage management and production rather than acting; civil engineering, a foundation program, and newspaper training. This latter course begins with setting type and continues through the business office, editorial floor, and on to the publisher's desk where profits and losses are studied.

CLASS DEPARTURE

A departure from the regulation freshman and sophomore designations has been made by calling the different semesters the Alpha, Beta, Gamma, and Delta. This arrangement, Dr. Snyder believes, will give a feeling of collegiate completeness and will lead to the usual commencement ceremonies where degrees or certificates will be awarded.

The student who wishes to complete his two years of academic work and go on to a university for his final two years and degree may do so. No variation in this academic program will be made, the semi-professional courses supplementing the foundation program begun last year.

Sleep Broken, Night Worker Hits Peddler

A night watchman's life is hard enough without the addition of a succession of peddlers to disturb his daytime sleep, in the opinion of Frank S. Pearce, a night watchman of 3712 Seneca avenue. In Municipal Judge Northrup's court evidence disclosed that Pearce's sleep on July 30, last, had been so disturbed by peddlers that when L. Rosen, 2108 Brandon street, cantaloupe vendor, used a lengthy sales argument on Pearce's wife after she had told him she did not want to buy any of his wares, Pearce rushed outdoors and struck Rosen over the head with a sprinkler system handle.

Pearce pleaded guilty to battery and was fined $300, $200 of which was suspended when Deputy City Prosecutor Hall told the court he believed the defendant was partly justified in his attack.

LIGHTING FUND PONDERED

A resolution asking that $15,000 be set aside for the installation of street lights throughout the city has been referred by the City Council to the Finance Committee for consideration.

WAY TO HAPPINESS HELD NOT THROUGH PLEASURE

Pastor Declares Self-Indulgence Cannot Bring Expression to Highest Joys of Soul

Declaring that God is not an "arbitrary monarch," enthroned in the skies and exacting the obeisance of mortals, Dr. Harold Griffin, in his sermon at Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church yesterday told his audience that it is the will of God that human beings shall attain the highest joy through expression of the soul's nobility.

Discussing the question "Why Were You Born?" Dr. Griffin pointed to the fallacy of the idea that happiness can be attained through indulgence in sense pleasures.

"Some persons say that they were born to have a 'good time,'" said Dr. Griffin. "Therefore, they seek amusement and self indulgence and count the time lost in which they are required to work. The trouble with this view is that it doesn't correspond with the facts. The sure way not to be happy is to make a business of seeking happiness. Besides, there are too many different kinds of happiness to make it a norm of conduct. Man's conduct can not be explained, much less regulated, by saying that he is in the world to have a good time. Another answer to our question is that given by those who tell us that we were born to work. This undoubtedly involves good advice, yet a man should always be greater than his job. His soul is not to be circumscribed by his occupation. The true answer to our question, 'Why were you born?' was given by the Great Teacher when he said, 'I came that they may have life and have it abundantly.' You were born to express perfectly and completely your highest self. Life is the object of existence, just as bloom is the object of the flower. We were brought into this world first of all, last of all, and most of all, to live a full, complete and abundant life."

LOYALTY OF JEWS TO GOD DEPICTED

Rabbi Julius A. Leibert of Temple Emanu-El preached yesterday on "The Feast of Tishe-B'ab." He said in part: "The noblest example of loyalty to be found in the world's history is to be looked for in the life of the Jew. In all the changing times, since Moses, through the David reign, and the exile and post-exilic times, though he had many masters, the Jew felt in his heart that there was but one who ruled him, and that One, God. Every Jew spent all his inner sentiments on the law of God. Every Jew spent all his inner sentiments on the law of God. This was no short commandment, but included the whole law. In that perfect inward obedience his freedom was realized. The fact that thousands of years after the destruction of Solomon's temple the Jew still observes a feast known as Tishe-B'ab, and laments the passing of the glory from Mt. Moriah, eloquently bespeaks the infrangible tenacity of his loyalty."

RELATIVITY VIEWED ON MORALS BASIS

"Any system of morality must eventually stand the test of application and observation," declared Dr. Carl Knopf of the University of Southern California in a sermon preached yesterday at Messiah Congregational Church. Preaching on "Relativism and the Mind of Christ," Dr. Knopf said that while morals may be relative, 'morality is a fixed social quantum. Dr. Knopf spoke in part as follows:

"With the supposedly fixed mathematical world taking on dizzy curves, with Newton's law dancing a scientific jig and with solid matter fading into diaphanous cosmic gymnastics, the popular mind reels in the presence of age-old problems of life that have apparently lost all chance of solution. In a relative world, is anything fixed? If the universe is a variable quantum, do the Ten Commandments and Sermon on the Mount mean anything? Is morality an idle superstitution? Jesus often criticised the customs of His day, but ever held to a basic moral concept that expressed a formula for morality in any day. He tested every act by its ultimate spiritual utility. The spiritual utility of burning sheep upon the altar was probably great in its day, but it would be worthless in a modern church. On the other hand, honesty, love, good will, though variously expressed, represent permanent spiritual values. Relativism, as a concept of our changing universe, is a useful antidote to rigid creed and dogma. Relativism as an excuse to cast loose all restraint and to justify unsocial acts or crime, is a perversion of the finest theorizing of some of the world's greatest minds, and naturally moves contrary to the sane, wholesome, simplified ethics of Jesus."

CHRISTIAN SHOWN AS HAVING BEST LUCK

"Doubter and Believer" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. Bruce Brown at South Park Christian Church. Excerpts from the sermon follow: "Two men walk side by side through life, in the same environment and having the same opportunities. One is a devout believer in an Allwise Providence and a loyal supporter of the church. The other is a skeptic and lives for this world alone. The final appraisal is made of their possessions, that which they will leave for others and that which they will take with them. Let it first be assumed that the unbeliever is right. He has no advantage over the Christian. If there is no reward for virtue and unselfish love shall have no advantage over vice, then all shall be equal and it matters not whether one has been a Booth or a Lincoln. Let it then be assumed that the Christian is right. Then the unbeliever has risked all with possibility of winning if he is right and losing all if he is wrong. If there be no moral universe, no universal good, the Christian wins if he loses and the unbeliever loses if he wins."

CHRIST PICTURED AS LOVER OF BEAUTY

"Whatever is true, good, beautiful and sublime is a fragment of the divine spendor," said Bramachari Nerod in his sermon yesterday at Mt. Washington Center.

"Free souls invariably are esthetic souls," said the speaker. "To be a seer is to know that there is nothing better than to be beautiful. The communion of the beautiful expresses the beauty of life. Christ and his disciples communed with the lilies in the field and worshiped the beautiful in nature and in the kingdom that is within. In this industrial age, when the average man is full of sordid cares and the struggle for livelihood, the eternal artist in him lies dormant and consequently the aspect of God, The Beautiful, does not strike his imagination. Beauty is not a matter of geometrical or mathematical proportion or measure. The beauty that brings spontaneity and harmony, peace and holiness, is trancendental, something to be perceived through the enlightened perception and suggestion of the Spirit within."

"LOVE" DISCUSSED BY CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS

The lesson-sermon on "Love" was presented yesterday at all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Scripture selections included the following verses from the Acts: "And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand. . . . And he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm. . . . And it came to pass, that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul entered in, and prayed, and laid his hands on him, and healed him. So when this was done, others also, which had diseases in the island, came, and were healed." A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death."

The City Council has approved a petition for the opening of Graham avenue in the former city of Watts from One Hundred Seventh street to One Hundred Eleventh street.

POOLS OF CITY FREE AS GOSPEL

Cleanliness, Like Godliness, Without Price to Youths Under 15 Years Today

Everything will be free, from the use of the plunge to suits and towels, at Los Angeles municipal swimming pools today for children under the age of 15, the City Playground and Recreation Department announces.

The department is making up for the fact that children under 15 were barred from using local plunges by the health department as part of the campaign against infantile paralysis.

With the principal danger of an epidemic believed past, officials have declared the pools open again.

All municipal plunges except Griffith, North Hollywood and Fernangeles are to be kept open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Griffith will remain open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., while the other two will be in use from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

JEAN HARLOW SUIT ON TAP

Certain Photographs of Actress Will Feature Reply of Husband in Court Today

Certain photographs of Jean Harlow, actress, are scheduled for considerable discussion today when Miss Harlow's civil suit to collect $4500 from her husband as part of an asserted property settlement comes up for setting in Department Three of Superior Court.

The actress' husband, Charles F. McGrew, II, from whom she separated more than a year ago and whom she is suing for divorce, is very much opposed to paying his wife, whose legal name is Harlean Carpenter McGrew, any part of the $4500, he states in an answer filed in reply to her suit, and he lists the picture episode as one of the reasons why he thinks he should not be required to pay.

Attorney William J. McNichols, who filed the answer in behalf of McGrew, has this to say in the legal document:

"That after the marriage of the parties and while living together the plaintiff (Miss Harlow,) against the wishes, and in violation of an express agreement made with the defendant not so to do, did appear in objectionable photographic poses."

The husband goes on to relate, according to the answer, that he now has one of these pictures in his possession.

According to the terms of the original property agreement, signed on June 15, 1928, McGrew was to give his wife a house in Beverly Hills, an automobile, various diamond rings and bracelets and $375 per month until she married again.

But, says McGrew in his answer, "defendant further alleges that shortly after the payment of $375 (in July, 1929,) he gave notice to plaintiff herein that, because of the fraud perpetrated upon him by the plaintiff, her mother, her stepfather and her attorney, that he was going to rescind, and did rescind said contract, at which time plaintiff told defendant that she knew 'she had put one over on him,' but that her mother and stepfather had told her to insist on payment and that because of her beauty she would command and would get the sympathy of the court."

McGrew further asserts that he was induced to sign the property agreement through "trickery, conniving and fraud." In support of this allegation he sets out that "prior to entering into such agreement it was understood and agreed that the plaintiff was to secure a divorce from the defendant, and that she was to set up such grounds as she might think best," and that if she did not become reconciled with the defendant she was to be married again within three months after obtaining her final divorce papers from McGrew.

After reciting these asserted facts McGrew's attorney states that "said agreement was void, in that the agreement to secure a divorce, made by plaintiff and defendant, both before and after its execution, is against public policy, and therefore unenforceable." He concludes the husband's plaint by asking the court to deny the wife the recovery of any funds and to set the property-agreement contract aside.

Fitts to Speak Tomorrow on Don Lee Chain

The voice of Buron Fitts will be on the air tomorrow night from 8:45 to 9 o'clock over a State-wide hook-up from San Francisco, it was announced at Fitts headquarters yesterday. He will speak over the Don Lee chain and provide a rapid-fire resume of the issues involved in the present gubernatorial campaign. Locally he will be heard over KHJ, in San Diego over KGB, in Fresno through KMJ and in San Francisco through KPRC.

Three local radio broadcasts have been arranged for today by the Fitts headquarters. At 11:45 a.m. Mrs. William T. Hearst, vice-chairman of the woman's division, is to speak from KMPC by remote control from the Griffith studios in Hollywood, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Alexander Kerr will speak over KGFJ and at 6 p.m. Mrs. Margaret Yale, attorney and former president of the California Business and Professional Club, will be heard over KELW.

Joseph Scott, nationally known Republican leader, attorney and prominent Catholic layman, will speak in behalf of Fitts at a meeting of the Atwater Improvement Association at the Atwater School at 8 p.m.

Two other meetings are scheduled for the same time; Cass Ecker, city treasurer of Culver City, will address the Manchester Christian Church, while Mark L. Herron will speak before the Athens Chamber of Commerce.

Heavy Demand Made on Camp for Needy Boys

One hundred and forty boys, some undernourished and others in need of corrective treatment, have enjoyed the vacation facilities of the Los Angeles Big Brothers' Camp in Griffith Park so far this summer, Jed Cohen, director of the camp, yesterday announced.

The boys were selected from 300 applicants. Dr. James Steinberg, president of the Los Angeles council for the Promotion of Boys' Work; Director Cohen and others asserted the many applicants and the many benefits offered those fortunate enough to be accepted emphasize the need of a permanent and an enlarged camp.

"The camp could not have been conducted at all this summer save for the good work of a few men who are actively interested," Dr. Steinberg pointed out. "This was due to the inability of the Community Chest to accord its customary support this year because of the lack of finances."

Recently a score of men active in civic, business and philanthropic life of Los Angeles were breakfast guests of the youngsters and enjoyed an interesting program of entertainment and good food.

SEASON AT BOWL OPENS LAST HALF

Tomorrow's Concert to be Popular Classics Under Conductor Molinari

Hollywood Bowl will start the second half of its ninth annual season of "Symphonies under the Stars" tomorrow night with Barnardino Molinari, noted Italian conductor, in the third week of his four-week engagement.

This week's program, in addition to the introduction of two featured soloists, includes many of the most popular compositions of world-famous classical musicians. Glenn M. Tindall, business manager of the Bowl, predicts that the high attendance mark for the season established last week with the appearance of Richard Crooks and Miss Antonia Brico will be equaled.

Percy Grainger, Australian pianist-composer, will appear on Friday night's program. He is to play three of his own compositions and, in addition, will accompany the orchestra in the presentation of Caesar-Franck's "Variations Symphonique." Nathan Stewart, second of the winners in the Bowl's annual audition contest, is to be featured Saturday night. He will sing the prologue to Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci."

Following the current program there will be but three more weeks of concerts. Molinari ends his engagement on the 16th inst. He will be followed by Pietro Cimini, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera, who will conduct one concert, and by Enrico Arbos of Madrid, who will finish the season as conductor.

Girl Confesses Theft of Auto

Frances Gaylord, 20 years of age, wanted to go to San Diego and had no money, so she stole an automobile which she saw standing on the street near her hotel at Sixth and Wall streets on July 6, last, for the trip, she admitted in Municipal Judge Ballard's court.

The girl, under advice of her attorney, George Damon, waived preliminary hearing and said she will plead guilty in Superior Court to a charge of driving an automobile without the owner's consent. Judge Ballard ordered her held for trial under $1000 bail. She was arrested, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman disclosed, by Chief of Police Stanton of Tustin when she drove through that town on her return trip to Los Angeles from San Diego on July 17.
